N. H. Sloane, manager of the California Development association, wires:

"Authentic reports indicate this is a local isolated slip with no recurrence probable for many years. Reconstruction has already started and local situation will return to normal promptly."

Intelligent men know that earthquakes, like high winds, floods, outbreaks of disease, may happen anywhere. Owners of the great Equitable building in New York city have put a $2,000,000 policy against earthquakes on their building, and the Woolworth building in New York seeks a $5,000,000 earthquake policy.

Go to California, which is the world's finest summer resort, and don't let earthquakes worry you.

Bolshevist leaders suspect that you can't go upstairs two flights at a time. What Sidney Webb, distinguished British Socialist, calls the "inevitability of gradualness," dawns upon them.

Things must come gradually, and the bigger they are, the more slowly their gradual advance, usually.

The glacier moves, but you hardly see it moving. A great nation like Russia may have a violent explosion, but can't move 120,000,000 peasants, living in their 200,000 little villages suddenly overnight, in the name of Marx, Lenin and Trotsky, from semi-Asiatic medievalism to a communist Utopia.

Russia, talking about paying what she owes France, invites, and even implores American capital to come and make itself at home. She wants people to make money in Russia at her people can have some of the money.

Individual human beings sometimes seem to mount the entire ladder at a jump. The thing doesn't last. Napoleon went up and landed upon St. Helena. Caesar was knifed by his best friends. Trotzky knows how that feels. Alexander the Great conquered the world, but could not conquer Alexander.

He killed his best friend and his dissipations killed him.

"Slow and sure," is old fashioned. But old fashions rule modern men.

Jack Greenwald, stock clerk, only 21, spent the evening reading Nietzsche, then killed himself. Greenwald might still be a useful stock clerk had he read Nietzsche's life, before read-

ATTORNEY RETIRES AS AFTERMATH OF STORMY BOARD MEETING MONDAY

Resignation, Submitted in Form of Note to Clerk, Is Accepted Without Comment by Fellow Members Who Defer Action Upon Selection of Successor for Two Weeks.

LAWYER OPPOSED USE OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS FOR RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION

Superintendent-elect Charles S. McVay of New Philadelphia Appeals for Co-operation and Discusses Plans for Fall Term as F. P. Geiger, His Predecessor, Visits Tuscarawas County.

Resignation of Attorney Jason H. Brookes, president of the board of education for three and one-half years, effective immediately, was presented to the board of education, last night, as an aftermath of Monday's stormy session.

The resignation, submitted in a note through Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer, was accepted without comment. Brookes' successor will be named at the next meeting.

Brookes' retirement is believed to have been prompted by his colleagues' action last Monday in granting the request of the Ministerial association to use the public school buildings during school hours for classes in religious education, beginning with the fall term in September, together with other issues, which developed at the meeting. President Brookes was the only meinber of the board who opposed the pastors' plan, contending the proposal was not for the best interests of the public school system.

Sponsored "Pay-as-You-Go" Plan.

Through the efforts of Brookes, who became a member of the board at a time when the schools were threatened with closing because of the lack of funds, the board adopted a "pay-as-you-go" system. By drastic retrenchment, the schools were kept open for the nine-month term. During the three and one-half years he has served, more than $75,000 worth of school debt has been liquidated.

Brookes' term would have expired on Dec. 31. Several months ago he announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. His successor will fill out the unexpired term.

Superintendent-elect Charles S. McVay of New Philadelphia, who was named to succeeed F. P. Geiger, last Monday, attended the board meeting. He discussed matters in general, particularly pertaining to the vacancies in the faculty which must be filled before the fall term opens. Geiger, who goes to New Philadelphia in McVay's place, was in that city last night attending the school board session.

Board Pledges Co-operation

"I ask for the hearty co-operation of the board of education in my work in East Liverpool," said McVay. "I

Shock Rocks Every Portion of Stricken City.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 3.—A fourth violent earthquake shook Santa Barbara at 10:45 o'clock this morning. Bricks and rocks fell to the ground from buildings partly demolished by previous tremors.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal.—At least 10 persons were injured and considerable property damage was done by a second earthquake which brought new terror and disaster to stricken Santa Barbara today.

HEED TEACHING OF WASHINGTON, COOLIDGE HINT TO OLD WORLD

SCORES CONFLICT

President Draws Object Lesson in Cambridge Speech.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—From the life and teachings of the immortal Washington, President Coolidge today drew an object lesson and directed it to the war-torn, wrangling peoples of Europe—a lesson that the permanent progress of civilization can be predicated only on faith and co-operation, not in conflict.

The financial and economic salvation of the old world, he asserted, lies in recourse to arbitration and acceptance of judicial determination, based upon mutual forbearance and good faith.

Urges Mutual Covenants.

"If the people of the old world are mutually distrustful of each other," President Coolidge said, "let them enter into mutual covenants for their mutual security, and when such covenants have been made let them be solemnly observed, no matter what the sacrifice."

It was from the same spot where, just a century and a half ago, George Washington assumed command of the Continental army that the President spoke. He had come to join in commemorating this epochal event, and fittingly he chose the policies and characteristics of the father of the country—one who "cherished no resentments, harbored no hatred, forgave his enemies'—to drive home his moral.

"On what other basis can there be

There is no question of wages and the sessions, which will continue a week or more, will be taken up with proposed changes in the constitution and matters of organization routine. The biennial wage agreement in the general ware trade was signed last November.

Delegates are still hopeful of resuming relations with the sanitary manufacturers which were abruptly terminated in 1922 by the strike which resulted when the workers refused to accept a 10 per cent reduction in wages.

STEUBENVILLE PAPER IS SOLD

L. H. Brush and Roy Moore Purchase Herald-Star.

STEUBENVILLE, July 3.—It was announced here today that Louis H. Brush and Roy D. Moore, owners of the Marfion Star, East Liverpool Review-Tribune and the Salem News, had purchased the Steubenville Herald-Star from Charles D. Simeral and his associates.

The Herald-Star is one of the two oldest newspapers in Ohio, established in 1806. In 1814 the property was sold to James Wilson, grandfather of the late President Woodrow Wilson, and later to J. J. Gill, who formerly owned the Columbus Dispatch which he sold to the present owners.

The acquisition by Brush and Moore was made known in the Herald-Star today by the following brief announcement over their signatures:

"The Steubenville Herald-Star has been purchased from Charles D. Simeral and his associates. The new owners will endeavor to serve the Herald-Star readers and the Steubenville community as loyally and energetically as sincere efforts can make possible."

WAS DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE SIGNED ON JULY 4? NO, IS ANSWER; "LIBERTY BELL" MYTH INVENTED 50 YEARS AFTER, NOVELIST SAYS

When was the Declaration of Independence adopted and signed? If you answer July 4, 1776 as you will, then you're WRONG.

What is popularly known as the Declaration of Independence was signed August 2, 1776. But the document was headed "In congress, July 4, 1776," and thus we celebrate that day.

A resolution declaring "that these colonies are, and of right out to be, free and independent States, was offered by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia in the Continental Congress on June 7, 1776, and adopted July 2. That was the famous Declaration of Independence.

Nothing was done about it at the time save to note the passage of the resolution in the journal.

On July 2, the same day Lee's resolution was adopted, the preamble was taken up for consideration in committee of the whole. Consideration of it lasted until July 4, when after some pruning, the preamble as drafted by Thomas Jefferson, was adopted. The vote was taken by states as usual, and no record was made of the action of individual members, although it is known that there were adverse votes.

On July 19 a resolution was adopted that the declaration should be engrossed on parchment and signed by every member of congress. This engrossed copy was ready on August 2, and the members then present appended their signatures.

The list of signers includes those who were opposed when it was adopted on July 2, it omits some of those who supported it, and includes some who did not become members of congress until after July 4, 1776. One of the signers did not take his seat until Nov. 4, 1776. In fact, more than a fourth of those who signed the document August 2 did not take part in the proceedings when the declaration was adopted.

Moreover, the list of signers as it now stands was not completed until after Jan. 18, 1777. On that date congress ordered that an authenticated copy be sent to all states, and that copy settled the date of the celebration everywhere as July 4.

The news of the adoption did not become known to the general public until July 9, 1776, and it was then celebrated in Philadelphia. Battalions paraded on the common, and "shot up the town," notwithstanding the scarcity of powder. Speeches were made and wine flowed.

And now we come to something important, in light of present tradition.

"No Liberty Bell."

The "Liberty Bell" probably rang that day, because all of the bells in town did, but "Liberty Bell" did not ring as a particuler signal of the signing, and it was not cracked in doing so. No attention was paid to the bell at the time. It was 50 years before it became famous.

The "Liberty Bell" tradition we owe to one George Lippard, a novelist of the eighteen thirties. The myth surrounding it is effectually punctured by Henry J. Ford, emeritus professor of politics at Princeton, in an article in the American Mercury of November, 1924.

Lippard was no more truthful than Parson Weems, to whose imagination we owe the incomparable story about George Washington and the cherry tree.

"Liberty Bell" did not "peal out notes of liberty" on July 4, 1776, and it was only one of numerous bells that rang at the celeoration on July 9, 1776.

Both, however, are merely symbols of a great occurrence, and it really doesn't matter whether the tradition surrounidng them is entirely true. The fact remains that the Declaration of Independence marked a new chapter in the history of the world.

President Draws Object Lesson in Cambridge Speech.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—From the life and teachings of the immortal Washington, President Coolidge today drew an object lesson and directed it to the war-torn, wrangling peoples of Europe—a lesson that the permanent progress of civilization can be predicated only on faith and co-operation, not in conflict.

The financial and economic salvation of the old world, he asserted, lies in recourse to arbitration and acceptance of judicial determination, based upon mutual forbearance and good faith.

Urges Mutual Covenants.

"If the people of the old world are mutually distrustful of each other," President Coolidge said, "let them enter into mutual covenants for their mutual security, and when such covenants have been made let them be solemnly observed, no matter what the sacrifice."

It was from the same spot where, just a century and a half ago, George Washington assumed command of the Continental army that the President spoke. He had come to join in commemorating this epochal event, and fittingly he chose the policies and characteristics of the father of the country—one who "cherished no resentments, harbored no hatred, forgave his enemies"—to drive home his moral.

FAIRMONT MAN, AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM, DIES IN HOSPITAL

CHEST CRUSHED

Car Plunged Over 20-foot Embankment Near West Point.

Arthur Dechman, 38, Fairmont, W. Va., district sales manager for the Cord Tire corporation of Chester, died in the city hospital at 2 o'clock this morning from injuries sustained yesterday, when his automobile plowed through a fence and plunged over a 20-foot embankment on the Lincoln highway near West Point.

STEUBENVILLE PAPER IS SOLD

L. H. Brush and Roy Moore Purchase Herald-Star.

STEUBENVILLE, July 3.—It was announced here today that Louis H. Brush and Roy D. Moore, owners of the Marfion Star, East Liverpool Review-Tribune and the Salem News, had purchased the Steubenville Herald-Star from Charles D. Simeral and his associates.

The Herald-Star is one of the two oldest newspapers in Ohio, established in 1806. In 1814 the property was sold to James Wilson, grandfather of the late President Woodrow Wilson, and later to J. J. Gill, who formerly owned the Columbus Dispatch which he sold to the present owners.

The acquisition by Brush and Moore was made known in the Herald-Star today by the following brief announcement over their signatures:

"The Steubenville Herald-Star has been purchased from Charles D. Simeral and his associates. The new owners will endeavor to serve the Herald-Star readers and the Steubenville community as loyally and energetically as sincere efforts can make possible."

WAS DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE SIGNED ON JULY 4? NO, IS ANSWER; "LIBERTY BELL" MYTH INVENTED 50 YEARS AFTER, NOVELIST SAYS

When was the Declaration of Independence adopted and signed? If you answer July 4, 1776 as you will, then you're WRONG.

What is popularly known as the Declaration of Independence was signed August 2, 1776. But the document was headed "In congress, July 4, 1776," and thus we celebrate that day.

A resolution declaring "that these colonies are, and of right out to be, free and independent States, was offered by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia in the Continental Congress on June 7, 1776, and adopted July 2. That was the famous Declaration of Independence.

On July 2, the same day Lee's resolution was adopted, the preamble was taken up for consideration in committee of the whole. Consideration of it lasted until July 4, when after some pruning, the preamble as drafted by Thomas Jefferson, was adopted. The vote was taken by states as usual, and no record was made of the action of individual members, although it is known that there were adverse votes.

On July 19 a resolution was adopted that the declaration should be engrossed on parchment and signed by every member of congress. This engrossed copy was ready on August 2, and the members then present appended their signatures.

The list of signers includes those who were opposed when it was adopted on July 2, it omits some of those who supported it, and includes some who did not become members of congress until after July 4, 1776. One of the signers did not take his seat until Nov. 4, 1776. In fact, more than a fourth of those who signed the document August 2 did not take part in the proceedings when the declaration was adopted.

Moreover, the list of signers as it now stands was not completed until after Jan. 18, 1777. On that date congress ordered that an authenticated copy be sent to all states, and that copy settled the date of the celebration everywhere as July 4.

The news of the adoption did not become known to the general public until July 9, 1776, and it was then celebrated in Philadelphia. Battalions paraded on the common, and "shot up the town," notwithstanding the scarcity of powder. Speeches were made and wine flowed.

And now we come to something important, in light of present tradition.

"No Liberty Bell."

The "Liberty Bell" probably rang that day, because all of the bells in town did, but "Liberty Bell" did not ring as a particular signal of the signing, and it was not cracked in doing so. No attention was paid to the bell at the time. It was 50 years before it became famous.

The "Liberty Bell" tradition we owe to one George Lippard, a novelist of the eighteen thirties. The myth surrounding it is effectually punctured by Henry J. Ford, emeritus professor of politics at Princeton, in an article in the American Mercury of November, 1924.

Lippard was no more truthful than Parson Weems, to whose imagination we owe the incomparable story about George Washington and the cherry tree.

"Liberty Bell" did not "peal out notes of liberty" on July 4, 1776, and it was only one of numerous bells that rang at the celeoration on July 9, 1776.

Both, however, are merely symbols of a great occurrence, and it really doesn't matter whether the tradition surrounidng them is entirely true. The fact remains that the Declaration of Independence marked a new chapter in the history of the world.

'SAFE AND SANE' FOURTH URGED BY FIRE CHIEF

LISTS "DON'TS"

Appeals for Co-operation to Prevent Tragedy on Holiday.

An appeal for a "safe and sane" observance of Independence Day was voiced today by Fire Chief Thomas Bryan on the eve of the 149th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Two days in all the year, which every good American would keep unmarred by trouble and accident are the very ones most often selected by the fire demon for his unwelcome visits, according to the fire department head. They are Christmas and the Fourth of July.

For the Fourth—always the day of days for the American youth—is still the day of fires for firemen.

"Due to the growth of the 'safe and sane' movement," Chief Bryan said. "East Liverpool along with the rest of the country has gone some distance on the way to a fireless Fourth.

"Every year shows up a little better than the preceding one, but there is still plenty of room for improvement in the country at large. A report from the National Board of Fire Underwriters shows that fire crackers and fireworks destroyed about three quarters of a million dollars worth of property annually, and last year a number of lives were lots in celebrating the Fourth in various parts of the country. So it will be seen that Independence Day observances are by no means fully sane or fully safe.

"Don't set off fireworks close to any structure. Keep them away from porches.

"Avoid using cheap toy cannons, pistols, etc. in which powder charges or cartridges are used. Much of the Fourth of July loss for a period of years is due to these devices.

"If a fire cracker or other noise making device fails to explode, wait before investigating, otherwise it may explode suddenly and take part of you with it.

"Finally,' the chief concluded, "everybody should know how to treat burns and be equipped to do so. Here is the proper treatment based on American Red Cross recommendations:

"If a burn is severe, summon medical aid, lose no time waiting but remove sufferer from direct draft. Make a strong solution of baking soda and luke warm water. Soak cotton cloth or gauze in this solutio and cover affected parts. Keep them thoroughly drenched with this mixture.

"Better still, if there is available any kind of pure oil, salad, sweet, castor, raw linseed or even cod liver oil, cover affected parts with it.

If your clothing catches on fire, do not run, drop to the floor and wrap a rug around. Try to beat out flames being careful to protect the hands.

"If someone else's clothing catches on fire, wrap or throw woolen rug or blanket around them and smother flames."

Display Old Glory, Is Legion Appeal To Citizens Here

"Display Old Glory tomorrow!"

This was the appeal made today by officers of East Liverpool Post No. 4 American Legion, especially to down town merchants, who have purchased the sidewalk flags and standards, recently distributed by the post.

Because of a delay in the receipt of a second order of flags, the uniform decoration, sponsored by the Legion, could not be completed before the Fourth. However, merchants who were among the first to have their orders filled are urged to observe the day by displaying their flags.

Washington Torch Fired World, Says Nation's Leader

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—"Washington, the youth of 22, the commander whose order proved the torch to set a world on fire."

Thus did President Coolidge describe America's first president here today in commemorating the 150th anniversary of Washington's assumption of command of the Continental army.

The president was speaking of that day in July, 1754, when the young Washington led a band of Virginians to the western frontier to protest against French aggressions. The differences failed of amicable settlement, a skirmish took place and the French commander was killed.

"So came the seven years' war and the establishment of British domination in North America," said the president. "A little later came the American revolution, the French revolution and the Napoleonic wars."

any encouragement for a disposition to attempt to finance a revival of Europe," he asked. "The world has tried war with force and has utterly failed. The only hope of success lies in peace with justice. No other principle conforms to the teaching of Washington; no other standard is worthy of the spirit of America; no other course marks so much promise for the regeneration of the world."

Promises Moral Support.

Although Mr. Coolidge reiterated the determination of the United States to remain aloof from entangling foreign alliances, he promised the governments of Europe the fullest moral support of his administration in backing up all covenants looking to reestablishment of "international faith and credit."

"While our country should refrain from making political commitments where it does not have political interests, such covenants would always have the moral support of our government and could not fail to have the commendation of the public opinion of the world," he said.

Coupled with his "appeal to reason" to Europe, the president delivered an eulogy of Washington. Declaring Washington to be "the first lay citizen of the world of all time," Mr. Coolidge traced the career of Washington with particular attention to the many-sidedness of his character. Statesman and diplomatist, soldier, business genius and humanitarian, he paid tribute to the greatness of Washington in each field of activity.

Four vacancies in the high school faculty and several places in the elementary schools are to be filled prior to September. McVay was instructed to seek a teacher for the proposed classes in vocational training and another for the part time schools which will be conducted during the coming term.

While he will not officially assume his duties here until September 1, McVay probably will move to East Liverpool about August 1, to be in close touch with conditions for a few weeks prior to the opening of the schools. He asked permission of the board to attend their meetings during the summer months to acquaint himself with the work here. This request was granted as the board members pledged their co-operation.

A petition signed by approximately 175 residents of West End was received, asking that Miss Margaret Roach be retained as an elementary teacher next fall. The board which has already filled her place voted to file the petition without acting upon the request.

School Enumerator's Report.

Clerk Gaston reported a bank balance of $42,365.90 on hand June 31. Coal dealers were asked to submit bids for the furnishing of coal for school buildings next fall. The board indicated that the order would be divided among several dealers.

Joseph Hughes, utility man for the board of education, was instructed to have the three furnaces at the Pleasant Heights school relined and install a fourth heating unit in the building. By adding another furnace, the overheating of the three other furnaces in severe weather will be avoided.

Report of W. C. Dickey, school enumerator, showed 5,042 children within the school age to be residents of the district.

The enrollment, by building districts follows: Garfield, 380; Central, 479; Dixonville, 37; Gardendale, 30; Glenmor, 141; Grant, 229; High school, 622; Horace Mann, 372; Klondyke, 186; Lincoln, 339; McKinley, 272; Maplewood, 134; Neville, 338; parochial, 251; Pleasant Heights, 342; Sixth street, 334; Third stret, 78; Trentvale, 68; Walkers, 92; Washington, 219; West End, 99.

TENT SERVICES IN BLOOMFIELD

The tent meetings in Bloomfield, which have been in progress for about two weeks, will close Monday evening.

The campaign has been a success from every standpoint, about 20 conversions being reported. The services are in charge of Evangelist T. L. Terry, of Ludlow, Ky.

Services will be held at 7:45 o'clock tonight. Saturday will be rest day, but on Sunday there will be afternoon and evening meetings. Baptismal services will be conducted Sunday afternoon when the evangelist will preach on the subject "Is The Old Man Yet Alive?" "Repentance" is the topic for the Sunday evening sermon.

THRONG CHEERS U. S. CHIEFTAIN

Between 200,000 and 300,000 at Celebration in Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3—With president and Mrs. Coolidge as guests of honor and under smiling skies, the historic city of Cambridge today celebrated the 150th anniversary of that memorable day when George Washington stood under the great elm tree on Cambridge common, and formally took command of the Continental army.

The university city was ablaze with color and from 200,000 to 300,000 visitors and residents packed the streets as the presidential party left Swampscott by motor to head a long parade, which had formed on Walker Memorial drive, opposite the group of buildings of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

At 1:45 o'clock (daylight time) this afternoon President and Mrs. Coolidge rode into Cambridge.

A salute of 21 guns fired by a battery of field artillery and the applause of thousands greeted the executive and his wife as their motor cavalcade drove up before the M. I. T. buildings from Swampscott.

Crowds along the route from Swampscott, who had recognized the President and his wife, cheered and applauded them.

The honored guest and his wife had been assigned places at the head of the 10,000 marchers. Many floats in line gave a colorful touch to the procession.

Meanwhile, a watch was kept for the navy dirigible Shenandoah, which was reported winging her way from Lakehurst, N. J., enroute to the conference of governors at Bar Harbor, Me.

Massachusetts avenue, famous artery of the north, blazed with color from Harvard bridge, starting point of the big parade, to beyond Harvard university and the site of the Washington elm, where a historical episode, representing Washington taking command of the army and a speech of eulogy by president Coolidge were to take place.

The order of events for the celebration, all on daylight saving time, follows:

10:30 a. m.—Patriotic airs on the chimes of Christ church.

11 a. m.—Bishop Lawrence preaches for fifteen minutes at Christ church, using prayers for the president taken from prayer books of Washington's time.

11:30 a. m. to Noon—Chimes playing at Christ church.

1:50 p. m.—President and Mrs. Coolidge arrive greeted by salute of 21 guns.

1:00 to 2:00 p. m.—Parade forms on Memorial Drive opposite technology.

3:30 p. m.—Pageant and historical features on Cambridge Common, reviewed by president. Historical episode representing Washington taking command of the American army.

4:20 p. m.—Singing by Cambridge school children.

4:30 p. m.—President's address. Will be broadcast by radio stations WEEI, WNAC and WBZ.

6:00 p. m.—Dinner by city of Cambridge to its guests in Memorial hall, Harvard university.

The pageant and president's address follow the parade and will be governed by the time the parade takes in passing over its route.

Free Methodists' Camp Meeting is Formally Opened

With a crowd which nearly filled the large tabernacle tent, the annual Free Methodist camp meeting opened last evening on the camp ground on the Anderson boulevard road, just beyond the city limits.

In the absence of Rev. F. L. Baker of Bay City, Mich., field agent for the missionary board, who will assist in the meetings, the opening service was in charge of District Elder Rev. J. Paul Foy of this city. The speaker briefly discussed plans for this year's ten-day series of meetings.

The opening service today was a holiness prayer service at 6:30 a. m. The morning preaching service was conducted by Rev. R. N. Large, pastor of the Martin's Ferry Free Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Baker is expected to arrive here today and will preach his first sermon tonight. Saturday and Sunday are expected to prove big days for the camp meeting.

Ample parking accommodations are available on the grounds for automobiles.

ing Nietzsche's pessimistic, high-falutin' theories.

Nietzsche went crazy, which was the natural result of such thinking as he did. For a stock clerk of 21 to read Nietzsche is like giving "high" game to a small infant. It takes preliminary thought to enjoy and see the humor in Herr Nietzsche, his serpent, lion, man dancing on the tight rope, and his adoration of the over-man.

It would have been a great thing, perhaps, for the German Kaiser, as well as for that young stock clerk, had Nietzsche never lived.

A great coal strike threatens here as a similar strike threatens England. Mr. Lewis, leader of coal miners, and owners of mines should think it over carefully.

To force a strike when the people are willing to pay a fair price for coal based on fair wages, is folly, and the intelligence of organized money should find a way to prevent it.

To lead thousands of men and their families into a strike, to last, perhaps, through the winter, if any way out can be found, would be cruel folly.

Coal mining work is hard and dangerous. Five hundred miners are killed, more than 20,000 injured every year. Every coal mine worker, within seven years, in the regular course of his work, will be either killed or injured. The richest country in the world should not begrudge generous pay to men that do such work and take such risks.

The man responsible for the success of the coal miners' union knows that this is not the best time for strikes and he will avoid this strike, if in any just way it can be done.

Barney Gibney, dead at 69, lies in a coffin made from the mahogany bar of the saloon he once owned in Alaska. That's what you might call appropriate, for many a man undoubtedly purchased failure and death with one elbow on that bar and one foot on the rail below it—as many a poor creature is now buying death from the bootlegger.

Whatsoever you may think about prohibition, you are glad to know that every elaborate bar in the country can be bought for the price of old lumber.

Wonderful energy in French women; the history of France and men that French women have created, prove it.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen proves it also, although unfortunately she isn't married yet, as she ought to be. In England yesterday she played against Kathleen McKane, and beat that esteemed champion female "Nordic" 6-0 and 6-0.

Those that think that all real energy is monopolized by the Nordic race should devote a moment's thought to that Latin young lady, Suzanne Lenglen, champion of the world.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 3.—The market was unsettled at the outset today by the failure and suspension of an important stock exchange house, for the account of which there was a considerable volume of selling. Stewart Warner dorpped nearly 7 points on the first transaction of 1500 shares at 60, but rallied to 64½ in the first period. American Can, and General Motors sold off a point or more at the opening, and most of the oil and rail road stocks were reactionary at the start.

The market was called on in the early trading to absorb a considerable volume of profit taking, particularly in industrial and specialty stocks which have been advancing in good form in the last week or so. Baldwin, United States Steel, General Motors, Studebaker and other motor stocks sold at concessions of a point or two from yesterday's closing levels, while low priced rails and specialty stocks receded fractionally from former values.

Week-end call loans were made at 4¾ per cent and the money situation appeared easier, despite the fact that the New York Federal Reserve bank's reserves showed a decline of about 5½ per cent as compared with the previous week. Holiday conditions prevailed in the outside markets and price changes were narrow.

Two East Liverpool young people, another from Newell and a fourth from Steubenville are being held for a hearing in morals court in Pittsburgh today, following their arrest in Sawmill Way, near Pittsburgh, yesterday while using a "borrowed" car.

Police arrested them when the driver could not produce an auto owner's card or a driver's license. At the police station the four stated they had "borrowed" the car and went to Pittsburgh for a "joy ride."

Just what the extent of the receivership will be none would venture to say. But Frank Hoolihan, New York attorney, expert on receivership cases representing the creditors, asserted that $30,000,0000 is involved.

Chester R. Davis, of the Chicago Title and Trust Co., was placed in charge of the company's offices, occupying an entire floor of a Loop office building.

Davis barred every one but his immediatet aids from the office, and details concerning the financial difficulties of the company were meagre.

'SAFE AND SANE' FOURTH URGED BY FIRE CHIEF

LISTS "DON'TS"

Appeals for Co-operation to Prevent Tragedy on Holiday.

An appeal for a "safe and sane" observance of Independence Day was voiced today by Fire Chief Thomas Bryan on the eve of the 149th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Two days in all the year, which every good American would keep unmarred by trouble and accident are the very ones most often selected by the fire demon for his unwelcome visits, according to the fire department head. They are Christmas and the Fourth of July.

For the Fourth—always the day of days for the American youth—is still the day of fires for firemen.

"Due to the growth of the 'safe and sane' movement," Chief Bryan said "East Liverpool along with the rest of the country has gone some distance on the way to a fireless Fourth.

"Every year shows up a little better than the preceding one, but there is still plenty of room for improvement in the country at large. A report from the National Board of Fire Underwriters shows that fire crackers and fireworks destroyed about three quarters of a million dollars worth of property annually, and last year a number of lives were lots in celebrating the Fourth in various parts of the country. So it will be seen that Independence Day observances are by no means fully sane or fully safe.

"Avoid using cheap toy cannons, pistols, etc. in which powder charges or cartridges are used. Much of the Fourth of July loss for a period of years is due to these devices.

"If a fire-cracker or other noise making device fails to explode, wait before investigating, otherwise it may explode suddenly and take part of you with it.

"Finally,' the chief concluded, "everybody should know how to treat burns and be equipped to do so. Here is the proper treatment based on American Red Cross recommendations:

"If a burn is severe, summon medical aid, lose no time waiting but remove sufferer from direct draft. Make a strong solution of baking soda and luke warm water. Soak cotton cloth or gauze in this solutio and cover affected parts. Keep them thoroughly drenched with this mixture.

"Better still, it there is available any kind of pure oil, salad, sweet, castor, raw linseed or even cod liver oil, cover affected parts with it.

If your clothing catches on fire, do not run, drop to the floor and wrap a rug around. Try to beat out flames being careful to protect the hands.

"If someone else's clothing catches on fire, wrap or throw woolen rug or blanket around them and smother flames."

Display Old Glory, Is Legion Appeal To Citizens Here

"Display Old Glory tomorrow!"

This was the appeal made today by officers of East Liverpool Post No. 4 American Legion, especially to down town merchants, who have purchased the sidewalk flags and standards, recently distributed by the post.

Because of a delay in the receipt of a second order of flags, the uniform decoration, sponsored by the Legion, could not be completed before the Fourth. However, merchants who were among the first to have their orders filled are urged to observe the day by displaying their flags.

Washington Torch Fired World, Says Nation's Leader

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—"Washington, the youth of 22, the commander whose order proved the torch to set a world on fire."

Thus did President Coolidge describe America's first president here today in commemorating the 150th anniversary of Washington's assumption of command of the Continental army.

The president was speaking of that day in July, 1754, when the young Washington led a band of Virginians to the western frontier to protest against French aggressions. The differences failed of amicable settlement, a skirmish took place and the French commander was killed.

"So came the seven years' war and the establishment of British domination in North America," said the president. "A little later came the American revolution, the French revolution and the Napoleonic wars."

Heed Teaching

any encouragement for a disposition to attempt to finance a revival of Europe," he asked. "The world has tried war with force and has utterly failed. The only hope of success lies in peace with justice. No other principle conforms to the teaching of Washington; no other standard is worthy of the spirit of America; no other course marks so much promise for the regeneration of the world."

Promises Moral Support.

Although Mr. Coolidge reiterated the determination of the United States to remain aloof from entangling foreign alliances, he promised the governments of Europe the fullest moral support of his administration in backing up all covenants looking to reestablishment of "international faith and credit."

"While our country should refrain from making political commitments where it does not have political interests, such covenants would always have the moral support of our government and could not fail to have the commendation of the public opinion of the world," he said.

Coupled with his "appeal to reason" to Europe, the president delivered an eulogy of Washington. Declaring Washington to be "the first lay citizen of the world of all time," Mr. Coolidge traced the career of Washington with particular attention to the many-sidedness of his character. Statesman and diplomatist, soldier, business genius and humanitarian, he paid tribute to the greatness of Washington in each field of activity.

am going to work in the interests of the boys and girls here and with your help I am sure our schools will be a success. I will always have the best interests of the East Liverpool schools at heart in my work."

Four vacancies in the high school faculty and several places in the elementary schools are to be filled prior to September. McVay was instructed to seek a teacher for the proposed classes in vocational training and another for the part time schools which will be conducted during the coming term.

While he will not officially assume his duties here until September 1, McVay probably will move to East Liverpool about August 1, to be in close touch with conditions for a few weeks prior to the opening of the schools. He asked permission of the board to attend their meetings during the summer months to acquaint himself with the work here. This request was granted as the board members pledged their co-operation.

A petition signed by approximately 175 residents of West End was received, asking that Miss Margaret Roach be retained as an elementary teacher next fall. The board which has already filled her place voted to file the petition without acting upon the request.

School Enumerator's Report.

Clerk Gaston reported a bank balance of $42,365.90 on hand June 31. Coal dealers were asked to submit bids for the furnishing of coal for school buildings next fall. The board indicated that the order would be divided among several dealers.

Joseph Hughes, utility man for the board of education, was instructed to have the three furnaces at the Pleasant Heights school relined and install a fourth heating unit in the building. By adding another furnace, the overheating of the three other furnaces in severe weather will be avoided.

Report of W. C. Dickey, school enumerator, showed 5,042 children within the school age to be residents of the district.

The enrollment, by building districts follows: Garfield, 386; Central, 479; Dixonville, 37; Gardendale, 30; Glenmor, 141; Grant, 229; High school, 622; Horace Mann, 372; Klondyke, 186; Lincoln, 339; McKinley, 272; Maplewood, 134; Neville, 338; parochial, 251; Pleasant Heights, 342; Sixth street, 334; Third stret, 78; Trentvale, 68; Walkers, 92; Washington, 219; West End, 99.

TENT SERVICES IN BLOOMFIELD

The tent meetings in Bloomfield, which have been in progress for about two weeks, will close Monday evening.

The campaign has been a success from every standpoint, about 20 conversions being reported. The services are in charge of Evangelist T. L. Terry, of Ludlow, Ky.

Services will be held at 7:45 o'clock tonight. Saturday will be rest day, but on Sunday there will be afternoon and evening meetings. Baptismal services will be conducted Sunday afternoon when the evangelist will preach on the subject "Is The Old Man Yet Alive?" "Repentance" is the topic for the Sunday evening sermon.

THRONG CHEERS U. S. CHIEFTAIN

Between 200,000 and 300,000 at Celebration in Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3—With president and Mrs. Coolidge as guests of honor and under smiling skies, the historic city of Cambridge today celebrated the 150th anniversary of that memorable day when George Washington stood under the great elm tree on Cambridge common, and formally took command of the Continental army.

The university city was ablaze with color and from 200,000 to 300,000 visitors and residents packed the streets as the presidential party left Swampscott by motor to head a long parade, which had formed on Walker Memorial drive, opposite the group of buildings of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

At 1:45 o'clock (daylight time) this afternoon President and Mrs. Coolidge rode into Cambridge.

A salute of 21 guns fired by a battery of field artillery and the applause of thousands greeted the executive and his wife as their motor cavalcade drove up before the M. I. T. buildings from Swampscott.

Crowds along the route from Swampscott, who had recognized the President and his wife, cheered and applauded them.

The honored guest and his wife had been assigned places at the head of the 10,000 marchers. Many floats in line gave a colorful touch to the procession.

Meanwhile, a watch was kept for the navy dirigible Shenandoah, which was reported winging her way from Lakehurst, N. J., enroute to the conference of governors at Bar Harbor, Me.

Massachusetts avenue, famous artery of the north, blazed with color from Harvard bridge, starting point of the big parade, to beyond Harvard university and the site of the Washington elm, where a historical episode representing Washington taking command of the army and a speech of eulogy by president Coolidge were to take place.

The order of events for the celebration, all on daylight saving time, follows:

10:30 a. m.—Patriotic airs on the chimes of Christ church.

11 a. m.—Bishop Lawrence preaches for fifteen minutes at Christ church, using prayers for the president taken from prayer books of Washington's time.

11:30 a. m. to Noon—Chimes playing at Christ church.

1:50 p. m.—President and Mrs. Coolidge arrive greeted by salute of 21 guns.

1:00 to 2:00 p. m.—Parade forms on Memorial Drive opposite technology.

3:30 p. m.—Pageant and historical features on Cambridge Common, reviewed by president. Historical episode representing Washington taking command of the American army.

4:20 p. m.—Singing by Cambridge school children.

4:30 p. m.—President's address. Will be broadcast by radio stations WEEI, WNAC and WBZ.

6:00 p. m.—Dinner by city of Cambridge to its guests in Memorial hall, Harvard university.

The pageant and president's address follow the parade and will be governed by the time the parade takes in passing over its route.

Free Methodists' Camp Meeting is Formally Opened

With a crowd which nearly filled the large tabernacle tent, the annual Free Methodist camp meeting opened last evening on the camp ground on the Anderson boulevard road, just beyond the city limits.

In the absence of Rev. F. L. Baker of Bay City, Mich., field agent for the missionary board, who will assist in the meetings, the opening service was in charge of District Elder Rev. J. Paul Foy of this city. The speaker briefly discussed plans for this year's ten day series of meetings.

The opening service today was a holiness prayer service at 6:30 a. m. The morning preaching service was conducted by Rev. R. N. Large, pastor of the Martin's Ferry Free Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Baker is expected to arrive here today and will preach his first sermon tonight. Saturday and Sunday are expected to prove big days for the camp meeting.

Campers are present from all parts of the Rochester district.

Ample parking accommodations are available on the grounds for automobiles.

ing Nietzsche's pessimistic, high-falutin' theories.

Nietzsche went crazy, which was the natural result of such thinking as he did. For a stock clerk of 21 to read Nietzsche is like giving "high" game to a small infant. It takes preliminary thought to enjoy and see the humor in Herr Nietzsche, his serpent, lion, man dancing on the tight rope, and his adoration of the over-man.

It would have been a great thing, perhaps, for the German kaiser, as well as for that young stock clerk, had Nietzsche never lived.

A great coal strike threatens here as a similar strike threatens England. Mr. Lewis, leader of coal miners, and owners of mines should think it over carefully.

To force a strike when the people are willing to pay a fair price for coal based on fair wages, is folly, and the intelligence of organized money should find a way to prevent it.

To lead thousands of men and their families into a strike, to last, perhaps, through the winter, if any way out can be found, would be cruel folly.

Coal mining work is hard and dangerous. Five hundred miners are killed, more than 20,000 injured every year. Every coal mine worker, within seven years, in the regular course of his work, will be either killed or injured. The richest country in the world should not begrudge generous pay to men that do such work and take such risks.

The man responsible for the success of the coal miners' union knows that this is not the best time for strikes and he will avoid this strike, if in any just way it can be done.

Barney Gibney, dead at 69, lies in a coffin made from the mahogany bar of the saloon he once owned in Alaska. That's what you might call appropriate, for many a man undoubtedly purchased failure and death with one elbow on that bar and one foot on the rail below it—as many a poor creature is now buying death from the bootlegger.

Whatsoever you may think about prohibition, you are glad to know that every elaborate bar in the country can be bought for the price of old lumber.

Wonderful energy in French women; the history of France and men that French women have created, prove it.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen proves it also, although unfortunately she isn't married yet, as she ought to be. In England yesterday she played against Kathleen McKane, and beat that esteemed champion female "Nordic" 6-0 and 6-0.

Those that think that all real energy is monopolized by the Nordic race should devote a moment's thought to that Latin young lady, Suzanne Lenglen, champion of the world.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 3.—The market was unsettled at the outset today by the failure and suspension of an important stock exchange house, for the account of which there was a considerable volume of selling. Stewart Warner dorpped nearly 7 points on the first transaction of 1500 shares at 60, but rallied to 64½ in the first period. American Can, and General Motors sold off a point or more at the opening, and most of the oil and railroad stocks were reactionary at the start.

The market was called on in the early trading to absorb a considerable volume of profit taking, particularly in industrial and specialty stocks which have been advancing in good form in the last week or so. Baldwin, United States Steel, General Motors, Studebaker and other motor stocks sold at concessions of a point or two from yesterday's closing levels, while low priced rails and specialty stocks receded fractionally from former values.

Week-end call loans were made at 4¾ per cent and the money situation appeared easier, despite the fact that the New York Federal Reserve bank's reserves showed a decline of about 5½ per cent as compared with the previous week. Holiday conditions prevailed in the outside markets and price changes were narrow.

Two East Liverpool young people, another from Newell and a fourth from Steubenville, are being held for a hearing in morals court in Pittsburgh today, following their arrest in Sawmill Way, near Pittsburgh, yesterday while using a "borrowed" car.

Police arrested them when the driver could not produce an auto owner's card or a driver's license. At the police station the four stated they had "borrowed" the car and went to Pittsburgh for a "joy ride."

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Has baseball always been a nine-inning game? C. M.

A. At first it was a game of points, the victory going to the side first scoring 21 counts or aces. An equal number of "hands" were necessary however. These rules were adopted in 1846. In 1857 the rules were changed, providing for a nine-inning game, but allowing a victory to the club leading at the end of five innings.

Q. What does "Tacoma" mean? T. W.

A. It is an Indian word and means "the highest" or "near heaven."

Q. How many kinds of airplanes are used in the army and navy? S. H.

A. In the navy there are nine types, designated by different letters. In the army there are 23.

Q. Are there wild boars in this country? G. D.

A. The National Zoological Park says that there are no native wild boars in either the United States or Canada living in the wild state. However, specimens of these animals were brought to this country and placed in a game preserve in New Hampshire for exhibition purposes. From Texas southward there is found a type of wild swine.

Q. Is the North Star exactly at the north pole? E. H.

A. The North Star, or Polaris, is not exactly at the north pole of the heavens and consequently travels around it in a small circle. While this motion is not perceptible to the unaided eye, it can be readily noticed by observing it through the telescope of an engineer's transit.

Q. Has a bat eyes? T. J. A.

A. The brain and nervous system of bats are comparatively low in organization, but their sensory faculties are remarkably developed in adaptation to their crepuscular and nocturnal habits. "As blind as a bat" is a mistaken simile. All have efficient eyes, those of the Oriental fruit-eating sorts being of a size natural to their foxlike countenances. In our more familiar insect-eating species they are likely to be small, bead-like and nearly hidden in the very soft fur with which these animals are clothed; and old English and German names, "flitting mice," were not bad ones.

Q. What is the largest summer resort hotel in the United States. C. A.

A. The Traymore at Atlantic City is said to be the largest.

Q. How many men have been poets-laureate of England? P. S.

Q. What is gumbo file? W. T. G.

A. It is a powder made by drying sassafras and bay leaves, then grinding them.

Q. When was the Welland Ship Canal started? M. P.

A. Construction was commenced in 1913. Of the $100,000,000 estimated total cost, over $5,000,000 has been used up to March, 1925.

Q. Are the clothes moths we see about the house at times the insects that destroy fabrics and furs? E. S. C.

A. These moth millers have imperfectly developed mouth parts and sired. Their purpose in life is merely could not feed upon fabrics if they do to lay eggs that develop into the worms or larvae which alone can cause destruction.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1925.

Resignation of J. H. Brookes

The resignation of Attorney J. H. Brookes as a member and president of the board of education of the East Liverpool school district, which was submitted at last night's session, came as a surprise to the public, although intimate friends of the retiring board chieftain had been advised during the past few days that he contemplated the action.

Announcement of his retirement was conveyed in a note to the clerk of the board, who, in turn, referred it to the other members for consideration. The resignation was accepted without comment.

Although no reference was made to it, the presumption is that Mr. Brookes' resignation is an aftermath of the stormy session last Monday night over the adoption of the Ministerial association's proposal to use the public school buildings during school hours next fall for religious instruction, and other issues. M. Brookes, lone handed, opposed the pastors' plan.

Few men have taken a deeper interest in school affairs than Mr. Brookes. Qualified in every respect for the important duties of a board of education member, he played no small part in placing the district schools upon a stable basis. He gave serious attention to the problems responsible for the rather chaotic conditions prevailing when he was chosen. And by reason of his efforts and the co-operation of his fellow members, economy has been the keynote of the administration since he assumed the reins more than three years ago. Through economical reforms and the approval of an additional tax levy by the electorate, for which he and his co-workers appealed, there has been a noticeable improvement in the financial status of the schools. In fact, during the period in which he has served, the school board has liquidated a bonded indebtedness of approximately $75,000, while the old hand-to-mouth existence methods are but a memory.

Mr. Brookes, while not infallible, is sincere. His sole interest in seeking school board membership, in which he was supported by the rank and file of the community who long have recognized his professional ability as well as his thorough knowledge of municipal, district, county and state problems, was to further the cause of education. All his efforts have been directed toward more educational advantages for the sons and daughters of East Liverpool parents without additional burdens upon the taxpayers. And he was prompted by unselfishness in every action.

East Liverpool is indeed fortunate in having a citizen of the sterling character and splendid ability of J. H. Brookes. His resignation is a loss to the board of education and the people of the school district.

The Fourth In 1800

National observance of the Fourth of July certainly has degenerated. An "Independence Day Ode" published in 1800 in the Farmers' Museum in Massachusetts gives a vivid picture of the celebrations of those times.

"Squeak the fife and beat the drum,
Independence Day is come!
Let the roasting pig be bled,
Quick twist off the rooster's head,
Quickly rub the pewter platter,
Heap the nut cakes fried in butter,
Set the cups and beaker glass,
The pumpkin and the apple sauce.
Sal, put on your russel skirt,
Jotham, get your boughten shirt,
Today we dance to tiddle-tiddle——
Thus we dance and thus we play,
On glorious Independence Day."

Perhaps the golf and parades and picnics and public speeches and dances and crowds in swimming and toy balloons and ice cream cones and fireworks of our current celebrations wouldn't sound time if they were set forth in such glowing verse.

Liberian Rubber

Rubber is to be grown in Liberia. Harvey Firestone, the American tire manufacturer, has been experimenting with a plantation there and finds that the soil and climate are favorable to the rubber plant, so plans are bing made for its cultivation on a big scale.

This is one of the many moves taken by the American rubber and tire industries to overcome the handicap caused by British monopoly of rubber production in the East Indies. The cost of crude rubber lately has been five times as high as it was a couple of years ago, chiefly because of artificial control of production and prices by British interests. There are doubtless many other parts of the world where rubber can be produced, and many sources of rubber other than the plants hitherto used for that purpose.

In the long run, this temporary corner in rubber, said to cost the American people something like $300,000,000 a year, will be a good thing, through its forced broadening of the area of supply and its stimulation of new output. It will be a good thing for Liberia, too, if that country, hitherto a political and economic failure, can develop into a thriving center of rubber production, thereby justifying its name and proving itself of some use to the world.

Russia, says a Soviet representative, is the only power that is not in debt. Meaning, no doubt, the only power that has repudiated its debts.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 3.—Thoughts and sights while strolling around New York: What's become of the Panama hat? And the hoof-and-mouth disease? Or do you care for them? There's a gentleman — pardon our pointing—who owes me a tenner. And he's trying to discover something interesting in a window. The Columbus complex. A sweltering day.

Sidney Howard, who won the Pulitzer play prize. A coffee colored auto with a snare drum warning signal. The gray haired carriage starter at Tiffany's. Who bows like a court chamberlain. A pony and cart. But advertising something.

Pie at soda fountains. The brushing of luxury and poverty. A Japanese dental parlor. A famous stable now a tea room—where patrons eat in stalls. Old men making toys. I like to walk down hill. Makes me feel spry. An orthopedic home with a row of inmates out front. Staring glassily.

Wonder if I'll ever land here? A weary horse with its head across its mate's neck. Desolate warehouses. Every time I come over here I get the creeps but I can't stay away. Children swarming around ice wagons like flies around a molasses barrel.

Back to the flair of Park Avenue. Tubbed dwarf trees. Cool elegance of marbled halls and court fountains. News photographers clicking fashion's parade. Strolling Brummels. One in sandals and pink socks. Pish! Another pish. Making two pishes in all.

Eighteen mamas, according to an inspired p. a., gather at a certain stage door nightly for their twinkling toed daughters of the footlights to escort them home and thus avoid the dangerous pitfalls of a big city. I dropped around to behold this display of motherly devotion. You guessed it. I didn't see them. I saw four young men waiting in stunty roadsters.

On Second Avenue is perhaps the last of the tattoo parlors that used to thrive so successfully on the Bowery. It is two flights up and is presided over by a Chinese whose face is shriveled like an apricot. He offered to tattoo a bird or clasped hands for a dollar. A small butterfly for 50 cents. He said most of his customers were sailors or young men who worked on river craft. He had a white wife who peeked from behind curtains like a frightened bird.

A former Chinatown detective, by the way, tells me he never knew but one white woman among the many to cast their lot with Chinese who ever returned to her race. He says that opium addiction almost invariably claims them. They dress in Oriental fashion and talk pidgeon English after a few years. In a time they are willing to live in the underground warrens of squalor. Their skin becomes dry and leathery and their hands prehensile and like bird's claws. After a raid once one was brought into the sunlight of Mott Street and she screamed with pain. She had lived so long in the dark that light caused her excruciating agony. He says the only thing of which they may be certain is the fidelity of their companions. He did not know of a single case where a Chinese had ever deserted a white woman but in return for this loyalty she must remain a shuttered prisoner—the only freedom from bondage being a daily supply of poppy.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Huck and Tom in Bronze.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.—Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are to be immortalized in bronze. Their lives so far as their brilliant creator has seen fit to record them, may be said to have impressed themselves upon the world.

With an idea of honoring these child characters of literature, three citizens of Hannibal, Missouri, the home of Mark Twain, have donated funds necessary for the erection of a monument to them on the spot where so many of their adventures began. The donors are Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mahan and their son Dulany.

The monument is to be erected at the foot of Cardiff hill, famed spot in American literature. This hill rises above Hannibal at the north end of Second street. It is now known as Holliday's hill—so-called because of a family of that name once lived there—or Main Street Heights. The latter appellation is more popular.

It is high and precipitous and from its summit one may survey the town beneath and miles of surrounding country. This prospect includes the Mississippi on one side, with the Illinois flats and hills in the distance, and on the other the Missouri hills which roll away to the horizon and disappear in a blue line.

It was on the Cardiff hill that Tom and Huck, to say nothing of Joe Harper and all the rest of the gang, planned to become robbers, pirates, Indians, treasure hunters and all manner of thrilling persons. Also it was on this hill that much of the action of the book, Tom Sawyer, took place.

One block from the foot of the hill is the home of Mark Twain. This is a two-story frame dwelling and many tourists annually sign their names in a register now kept there. The wooded heights of the hill must have proven especially inviting to the boy who was destined to become the world's greatest humorist. It must have been a fitting setting for his dreams because he well might imagine, when gazing out on the country beneath, that he was overlooking the whole world.

Its fascination is reflected in Mark Twain's Autobiography, recently published, when he says, "I can remember the drowsy and inviting summer sounds that used to float in through the open windows from that distant boy paradise, Cardiff hill, and mingle with the murmurs of the studying pupils and make them more dreary by contrast."

Where the Gang Met.

It was on this miniature mountain that the Widow Douglas lived. It was here that the haunted house stood, where the graveyard lay, in which the murder of Dr. Robinson by Injun Joe took place, and where Tom and his gang played at Robin Hood. It was here that Huck overheard the plot of Indian Joe and his confederate to mutilate the Widow Douglas, and where Tom and Huck always repaired when anything was up.

The jail in which Huck's "pap" often languished, and Muff Potter was thrown for the murder he did not commit, once stood at the foot of this hill. This structure, a low, squatty stone building, was formerly one of the landmarks of the picturesque old town, but it has been destroyed to make for the safety of a corner which with the advent of the automobile became the scene of accidents and narrow escapes. The character, Tom Sawyer, as explained in the preface to the book, is a composite personality. He is the combination of three boys, two of whom were Mark Twain's playmates, and the other obviously, the humorist himself. The descendants of the other two are still in Hannibal.

Huck Finn, on the other hand, is an actual character, drawn from one of the urchins of the little village of the nineteenth century. He, as Twain describes him, was absolutely free, the only really independent person in the village and hence the envy of all the boys. His father was the village drunkard, which, as is told in the Autobiography of Mark Twain, was an exceedingly well-defined station. Huck is believed to have gone to some town in Montana where he became a well respected citizen and justice of the peace.

Mrs. Laura Frazier the prototype of Becky Thatcher, lives in Hannibal, and will attend the unveiling of the monument.

The Road to Cave Hollow.

The monument will add another bit of color to Hannibal. If one follows the street at the foot of the hill, and then the river road beyond it, he eventually comes to Cave Hollow, just as the scenes in Tom Sawyer often shifted from Cardiff hill to Cave hollow and McDougal's Cave, now Mark Twain's Cave. This is illustrated in the transfer of the treasure from Cardiff hill to the cave by Injun Joe, and Tom's and Huck's journey from the hill to the cave in quest of it.

The cave is owned by another man who appreciates the sentimental value of Hannibal's surroundings. This man, E. T. Cameron has endeavored to make the cave an objective for tourists. Thousands of people annually visit this famous cavern. While on his strenuous campaign trip in 1924, Vice President Dawes thought enough of it to order his special train stopped so that he could take a trip through it.

Of late years the hill has been cleared of much of its natural timber and small houses dot its sides. The street that runs into it, according to the plan of the town, is supposed to run to the summit, but the only way a vehicle could negotiate the ascent would be through the use of a block and tackle. In place of the wild flowers, trees, and shrubs that once abounded, there is now but a collection of weeds, with here and there a surviving tree. It is planned to restore much of the natural beauty of the hill in order to make an appropriate setting for the monument.

The memorial will depict Tom and Huck in their ragged costumes, barefoot and smiling, taking leave of one another. The inference here is that Tom is going out into the world to seek his fortune, leaving Huck behind. The images will be placed about forty or fifty feet up the hill from the street, that one may glance beneath and see some of the scenes that Mark Twain gazed upon.

The building of the monument immortalizes Cardiff hill and the two famous boy companions. It gives the world something that is rarely found—a memorial to characters of fiction.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1925.

Resignation of J. H. Brookes

The resignation of Attorney J. H. Brookes as a member and president of the board of education of the East Liverpool school district, which was submitted at last night's session, came as a surprise to the public, although intimate friends of the retiring board chieftain had been advised during the past few days that he contemplated the action.

Announcement of his retirement was conveyed in a note to the clerk of the board, who, in turn, referred it to the other members for consideration. The resignation was accepted without comment.

Although no reference was made to it, the presumption is that Mr. Brookes' resignation is an aftermath of the stormy session last Monday night over the adoption of the Ministerial association's proposal to use the public school buildings during school hours next fall for religious instruction, and other issues. M. Brookes, lone handed, opposed the pastors' plan.

Few men have taken a deeper interest in school affairs than Mr. Brookes. Qualified in every respect for the important duties of a board of education member, he played no small part in placing the district schools upon a stable basis. He gave serious attention to the problems responsible for the rather chaotic conditions prevailing when he was chosen. And by reason of his efforts and the co-operation of his fellow members, economy has been the keynote of the administration since he assumed the reins more than three years ago. Through economical reforms and the approval of an additional tax levy by the electorate, for which he and his co-workers appealed, there has been a noticeable improvement in the financial status of the schools. In fact, during the period in which he has served, the school board has liquidated a bonded indebtedness of approximately $75,000, while the old hand-to-mouth existence methods are but a memory.

Mr. Brookes, while not infallible, is sincere. His sole interest in seeking school board membership, in which he was supported by the rank and file of the community who long have recognized his professional ability as well as his thorough knowledge of municipal, district, county and state problems, was to further the cause of education. All his efforts have been directed toward more educational advantages for the sons and daughters of East Liverpool parents without additional burdens upon the taxpayers. And he was prompted by unselfishness in every action.

East Liverpool is indeed fortunate in having a citizen of the sterling character and splendid ability of J. H. Brookes. His resignation is a loss to the board of education and the people of the school district.

The Fourth In 1800

National observance of the Fourth of July certainly has degenerated. An "Independence Day Ode" published in 1800 in the Farmers' Museum in Massachusetts gives a vivid picture of the celebrations of those times.

"Squeak the fife and beat the drum,
Independence Day is come!
Let the roasting pig be bled,
Quick twist off the rooster's head,
Quickly rub the pewter platter,
Heap the nut cakes fried in butter,
Set the cups and beaker glass,
The pumpkin and the apple sauce.
Sal, put on your russel skirt,
Jotham, get your boughten shirt,
Today we dance to tiddle-tiddle——
Thus we dance and thus we play,
On glorious Independence Day."

Perhaps the golf and parades and picnics and public speeches and dances and crowds in swimming and toy balloons and ice cream cones and fireworks of our current celebrations wouldn't sound time if they were set forth in such glowing verse.

Liberian Rubber

Rubber is to be grown in Liberia. Harvey Firestone, the American tire manufacturer, has been experimenting with a plantation there and finds that the soil and climate are favorable to the rubber plant, so plans are bing made for its cultivation on a big scale.

This is one of the many moves taken by the American rubber and tire industries to overcome the handicap caused by British monopoly of rubber production in the East Indies. The cost of crude rubber lately has been five times as high as it was a couple of years ago, chiefly because of artificial control of production and prices by British interests. There are doubtless many other parts of the world where rubber can be produced, and many sources of rubber other than the plants hitherto used for that purpose.

In the long run, this temporary corner in rubber, said to cost the American people something like $300,000,000 a year, will be a good thing, through its forced broadening of the area of supply and its stimulation of new output. It will be a good thing for Liberia, too, if that country, hitherto a political and economic failure, can develop into a thriving center of rubber production, thereby justifying its name and proving itself of some use to the world.

Russia, says a Soviet representative, is the only power that is not in debt. Meaning, no doubt, the only power that has repudiated its debts.

Be Sure to Kill Them All! Black Flag Gets Every Single Fly And Mosquito

BLACK FLAG is the most thorough killer of flies, mosquitoes and roaches ever made. Not one escapes alive. For BLACK FLAG contains a secret vegetable ingredient which is the surest death to insects ever discovered. Bugs breathe it and die. But it is absolutely harmless to humans and animals.

Ordinary insecticides kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 pests. The four which get away breed hundreds which return. But BLACK FLAG doesn't let one get away. It kills them all—10 out of every 10.

BLACK FLAG is made in powder and liquid. Both are equally effective, equally deadly, with these three exceptions—never use any liquid on furs; use the powder to make them mothproof. Use the powder, also, to kill dog fleas and lice.

Every roach, too, dies, when you use this greatest of insect killers.

Many prefer the liquid to kill flies, mosquitoes and moths—the powder to kill roaches, ants, bedbugs, dog fleas, plant lice and chicken lice. Many people use both powder and liquid.

The Health of a Nation

Depends largely upon its food supply. In many sections of this country lack of Iodine in the water or plant life is responsible for an alarming prevalence of Goiter. This malady attacks children between 10 and 16 years of age. It makes them nervous, fidgety, handicaps them in their studies. Then serious developments often require surgical treatment in later years. Thousand of babies are born with Goiter.

This is why health authorities so strongly urge the use of iodine salt for the Prevention of Goiter

Through getting iodine in their food, thus making it more healthful, the whole family benefits, and the young ones are absolutely safeguarded against Goiter.

Ask your grocer for MULKEY'S—because it is the original iodine salt distributed through the grocery trade—and because MULKEY'S carries an official certificate of approval. It is pure, safe, effective—just as we were requested by celebrated medical men to prepare Iodine Salt as a public health measure.

Stillwell and his singing symphony orchestra will furnish the music afternoon and evening.

The afternoon dancing will continue from 2:30 until 5:30, and the evening hours will be from 8:30 until 12 o'clock.

A chicken dinner will be served between 6 and 8 o'clock in the restaurant adjoining the pavilion by L. G. Linger. Parking space, well lighted, is provided for the patrons, and free bathing may be enjoyed, as the beach has been improved.

Be Sure to Kill Them All! Black Flag Gets Every Single Fly And Mosquito

BLACK FLAG is the most thorough killer of flies, mosquitoes and roaches ever made. Not one escapes alive. For BLACK FLAG contains a secret vegetable ingredient which is the surest death to insects ever discovered. Bugs breathe it and die. But it is absolutely harmless to humans and animals.

Ordinary insecticides kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 pests. The four which get away breed hundreds which return. But BLACK FLAG doesn't let one get away. It kills them all—10 out of every 10.

BLACK FLAG is made in powder and liquid. Both are equally effective, equally deadly, with these three exceptions—never use any liquid on furs; use the powder to make them mothproof. Use the powder, also, to kill dog fleas and lice.

Many prefer the liquid to kill flies, mosquitoes and moths—the powder to kill roaches, ants, bedbugs, dog fleas, plant lice and chicken lice. Many people use both powder and liquid.

BLACK FLAG costs less. Powder, 15c up. Powder Gun, 10c. Liquid, 25c up. Sprayer, 45c. Special introductory package containing can of liquid BLACK FLAG and sprayer for only 65c. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Buy BLACK FLAG today.

The Health of a Nation

Depends largely upon its food supply. In many sections of this country lack of Iodine in the water or plant life is responsible for an alarming prevalence of Goiter. This malady attacks children between 10 and 16 years of age. It makes them nervous, fidgety, handicaps them in their studies. Then serious developments often require surgical treatment in later years. Thousand of babies are born with Goiter.

This is why health authorities so strongly urge the use of iodine salt for the Prevention of Goiter

Through getting iodine in their food, thus making it more healthful, the whole family benefits, and the young ones are absolutely safeguarded against Goiter.

Ask your grocer for MULKEY'S—because it is the original iodine salt distributed through the grocery trade—and because MULKEY'S carries an official certificate of approval. It is pure, safe, effective—just as we were requested by celebrated medical men to prepare Iodine Salt as a public health measure.

GASOLINE LICENSE TAXES EXTENDED

Due to delay in printing the application forms, the time for the payment of gasoline license taxes to the state has been extended until July 15. The penalties provided for failure to take out licenses and for failure to display them will not be enforced until July 31, explained Walter S. Buxton, of the gasoline tax bureau of the state tax commissioners department. A leeway of 15 days is given.

Under the new law every distributor of gasoline shall pay an annual license fee of $25 "for each distributing station or place of business or agency located in this state at or from which gasoline is sold for resale distribution or at which gasoline is produced, refined or compounded, and an annual license tax of $5 for each filling station or place of business in this state from which gasoline is sold at retail."

Every person intending to engage in the gasoline business must apply to the tax commissioner for a license. This application shall be accompanied by the amount of the license tax and shall state whether the applicant intends to engage in business as a distributor or retailer, and shall designate the intended place or places of business. A license issued after Jan. 1 for the half year calls for but half of the annual fee.

He is Carl K. Wollam, aide on the Goodyear balloon the American entry in the international balloon race held from Brussels, Belgium, in June.

Wollam and W. T. Orman, of Akron, pilot of the Goodyear, are shown in the International News Reel, which is featured in connection with the laugh-producer "Conductor 1492," in which Johnny Hines is the star.

The picture shows Wollam and Van Orman before the start of the balloon, in which they traveled the greatest distance but were disqualified because their craft landed on a ship at sea.

"Conductor 1492" starring Johnny Hines is the new Warner brothers classic which opened yesterday. There could be no better index pointing to its huge success than the smiling faces of the audences, men, women and children, as they filed out of the theatre.

Johnny Hines once more outdid himself in going one better than any of his previous pictures; he produced more laughs per foot than we have seen in a long time. The fits of laughter which burst forth from time to time were loud and contagious, for no one could help but get into the spirit of the fast, rapid-fire humor which Johnny let loose in this picture.

Not only has Johnny Hines proved himself the best comedian of his class, which is the clean-cut, snappy comedy that combines a humorous situation with fast work requiring a quick mind and alert body, but he has written the story and scenario of "Conductor 1492", so that this production is purely his own product.

His facial expression is an art in itself, and there are some ideas that only Johnny himself can express by twisting his features, and that means more than many subtitles could imply.

As Terry O'Toole, a young Irishman freshly arrived to this country, Johnny Hines has a role fitting him to perfection and to which he takes like a duck to water.

Young Terry, with his ambition set on becoming a conductor, finds his way to Loteda, Ohio, and is successful in attaining his hopes when he is hired as conductor and motorman by the Loteda Traction Co.

The pranks and humorous quibs which Terry indulges in to make the time pass in a pleasant manner, furnish the audience with enough mirth to last for many days. School boys and after-dinner speakers can benefit equally from the wealth of jokes and practical tricks that are brought into play in "Conductor 1492."

Much credit is due the admirable supporting cast, which includes such favorites as Doris May, Dorothy Burns, Michael Dark, Robert Cain, Dan Mason, Fred Esmelton and Byron Sage. Direction is under Charles Hines, Johnny's brother, and Frank Griffen.

Australia has adopted the American plan of separate banks for women which are staffed entirely by women.

Had skin trouble so bad was ashamed to appear in public
Resinol completely healed it

Entriken, Pa., March 4:—"Last summer I had a skin affection on my face, hands and arms. It kept spreading until I could not shave and hated to be seen in public. The itching was very annoying and nothing I tried gave me any relief. A friend recommended your Resinol Ointment and I bought some at once. The first application gave me relief, but I continued using it freely and in a very short time the itching disappeared and the trouble was completely cured. Needless to say, I have great faith in "Resinol" for skin disorders." (Signed) J. H. Ketterman.

GASOLINE LICENSE TAXES EXTENDED

Due to delay in printing the application forms, the time for the payment of gasoline license taxes to the state has been extended until July 15. The penalties provided for failure to take out licenses and for failure to display them will not be enforced until July 31, explained Walter S. Buxton, of the gasoline tax bureau of the state tax commissioners department. A leeway of 15 days is given.

Under the new law every distributor of gasoline shall pay an annual license fee of $25 "for each distributing station or place of business or agency located in this state at or from which gasoline is sold for resale distribution or at which gasoline is produced, refined or compounded, and an annual license tax of $5 for each filling station or place of business in this state from which gasoline is sold at retail."

Every person intending to engage in the gasoline business must apply to the tax commissioner for a license. This application shall be accompanied by the amount of the license tax and shall state whether the applicant intends to engage in business as a distributor or retailer, and shall designate the intended place or places of business. A license issued after Jan. 1 for the half year calls for but half of the annual fee.

Hen Mothers Kittens

Yankton, S. D.—Six small kittens on the farm of A. W. Jones of Cedar county, Nebraska, across the Missouri river from Yankton, are being mothered by a hen. Biddy, large and brown, patiently sits on her strange brood, apparently quite contented, giving way periodically to the mother cat when the latter comes to feed her family. The mother cat also seems satisfied with the arrangement.

He is Carl K. Wollam, aide on the Goodyear balloon the American entry in the international balloon race held from Brussels, Belgium, in June.

Wollam and W. T. Orman, of Akron, pilot of the Goodyear, are shown in the International News Reel, which is featured in connection with the laugh-producer "Conductor 1492," in which Johnny Hines is the star.

The picture shows Wollam and Van Orman before the start of the balloon, in which they traveled the greatest distance but were disqualified because their craft landed on a ship at sea.

"Conductor 1492" starring Johnny Hines is the new Warner brothers classic which opened yesterday. There could be no better index pointing to its huge success than the smiling faces of the audences, men, women and children, as they filed out of the theatre.

Johnny Hines once more outdid himself in going one better than any of his previous pictures; he produced more laughs per foot than we have seen in a long time. The fits of laughter which burst forth from time to time were loud and contagious, for no one could help but get into the spirit of the fast, rapid-fire humor which Johnny let loose in this picture.

Not only has Johnny Hines proved himself the best comedian of his class, which is the clean-cut, snappy comedy that combines a humorous situation with fast work requiring a quick mind and alert body, but he has written the story and scenario of "Conductor 1492", so that this production is purely his own product.

His facial expression is an art in itself, and there are some ideas that only Johnny himself can express by twisting his features, and that means more than many subtitles could imply.

As Terry O'Toole, a young Irishman freshly arrived to this country, Johnny Hines has a role fitting him to perfection and to which he takes like a duck to water.

Young Terry, with his ambition set on becoming a conductor, finds his way to Loteda, Ohio, and is successful in attaining his hopes when he is hired as conductor and motorman by the Loteda Traction Co.

The pranks and humorous quibs which Terry indulges in to make the time pass in a pleasant manner, furnish the audience with enough mirth to last for many days. School boys and after-dinner speakers can benefit equally from the wealth of jokes and practical tricks that are brought into play in "Conductor 1492."

Much credit is due the admirable supporting cast, which includes such favorites as Doris May, Dorothy Burns, Michael Dark, Robert Cain, Dan Mason, Fred Esmelton and Byron Sage. Direction is under Charles Hines, Johnny's brother, and Frank Griffen.

Had skin trouble so bad was ashamed to appear in public
Resinol completely healed it

Entriken, Pa., March 4:—"Last summer I had a skin affection on my face, hands and arms. It kept spreading until I could not shave and hated to be seen in public. The itching was very annoying and nothing I tried gave me any relief. A friend recommended your Resinol Ointment and I bought some at once. The first application gave me relief, but I continued using it freely and in a very short time the itching disappeared and the trouble was completely cured. Needless to say, I have great faith in "Resinol" for skin disorders." (Signed) J. H. Ketterman.

Better to Care Than to Cure

Caring for the feet is better than curing them. Question ten people and you'll find at least five of them have foot trouble of some sort. Wouldn't you rather wear comfortable and healthful shoes, and keep your feet well, then to discover some day you had a real case of foot trouble?

The Resurrection of the Dead Near

X X X

X X X

Instinctively mankind seems to feel that in some way deliverance will result in release from the throes of evil, injustice, inequality, and death.

Has not the persistent failure of plans and schemes for life and happiness blasted hope of deliverance among men?

The Bible's Plan now stands forth with great promise.

What Bible hope is there for the dead?

When, according to the Bible, will there be no more death on earth?

It is not apparent to all that man's efforts to overcome death are futile?

What is the divine plan for the restoration of man to perfection as enjoyed by Adam in the garden of Eden?

Begin National Drive to Save Children's Eyes

New York—A nation-wide attempt to eliminate from the schoolroom conditions which are having a harmful effect on the eyes of children has been started by the national committee for the prevention of blindness.

Copies of a code of lighting school buildings, prepared by the Illuminating Engineering society and the American Institute of Architects, will be distributed among school superintendents of every city with a population of more than 25,000.

This bulletin gives the principles of correct lighting, arrangement of seats and desks, coloring of walls, use of window shades, construction of blackboards and the proper position of the teacher in the classrooms.

Quarrymen to Picnic.

AMHERST, July.—Amherst quarrymen, for the 25th consecutive year, will hold their annual picnic at Cedar Point, on August 1. A special train has been chartered on the New York Central.

Aged Woman Dead.

ATHENS, July—Mrs. Mary Mourne, 85, widow of two Civil war soldiers, is dead at her home here. Among her descendants are 24 greatgrandchildren. "millions now living will never die."

X X X

Instinctively mankind seems to feel that in some way deliverance will result in release from the throes of evil, injustice, inequality, and death.

Has not the persistent failure of plans and schemes for life and happiness blasted hope of deliverance among men?

The Bible's Plan now stands forth with great promise.

What Bible hope is there for the dead?

When, according to the Bible, will there be no more death on earth?

It is not apparent to all that man's efforts to overcome death are futile?

What is the divine plan for the restoration of man to perfection as enjoyed by Adam in the garden of Eden?

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

MANY MEN PERISH IN MISSING SHIPS

Mystery Regarding Craft That Have Disappeared.

Washington.—More than 1,000 American naval men have gone down to watery graves in a score of vessels that have disappeared in the seven seas without a trace. From the brig Reprisal, lost in September, 1777, to the tug Conestoga, that disappeared in the Pacific in 1921, there is a chapter of naval history on which the Navy department is able to throw but little light.

Outstanding among the unaccounted-for craft in modern days is the naval collier Cyclops, concerning which there is a maze of fanciful theory, but no official fact.

During a wide stretch of years, from the Civil war period to nearly the World way era, naval annals are devoid of entries concerning lost ships.

Many Lost Near West Indies.

Three have vanished since the beginning of the present century, however, in spite of the much-vaunted safety to be found in modern apparatus of communication. Many of the lost ships were last heard of in the vicity of the West Indies.

The department has listed the following vessels as missing without a trace, and abandoned hope for their recovery.

Reprisal, lost September, 1777; General Gates, 1777; Saratoga, 1781; Insurgent, 1800; Pickering, 1800; Hamilton, 1913; Wasp III, 1814; Epervier, 1815; Lynx, 1821; Wildcat, 1829; Hornet, 1829; Sylph II, 1839; Sea Gull, 1839; Grampus, 1843; Jefferson, 1850; Albany I, with 210 men, 1854; Levant, II, with 210 men, 1860; tug Nina, sailed from Norfolk and never heard from, 1910; collier Cyclops, with 293 persons, comprising 15 officers, 221 men and 57 passengers, sailed March 4, 1919, from Barbadoes, West Indies, and tug Conestoga, with four officers and 52 men, from Mare Island, Calif., for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, 1921.

Search Proves Fruitless.

Naval vessels have searched the seas for tidings of these missing craft, but their fate remains a mystery.

Naval officers consider the case of the Cyclops unusually puzzling, for she was equipped with radio and apparently encountered no storms, her captain last reporting all well and fair weather. She was 542 feet long, 65 feet beam, and of 19,000 tons.

Theories exist that the Cyclops was improperly loaded and split in two; that her machinery was disabled and her radio put out of commission and that she was scuttled, and that an enemy submarine destroyed her, but official information regarding her is wholly lacking.

OSTEOPATHS MEET IN TORONTO FOR INTERNATIONAL CONCLAVE

CHICAGO, Jl. 2.—Chicago will be in the path of several special trainloads of osteopathic physicians when they gather in Toronto, Canada, from all parts of the world for an international convention July 5 to 11.

The program of the convention, which has just been announced here, in additional to the general meetings in the morning hours and the sectional roundtables which come in the afternoon hours, includes the activities of several special societies of those interested in particular branches of the osteopathic science, which meet either just before or just after the main convention.

Speakers on the main program will talk on health examination, the X-ray in heart diagnosis, pneumonia, the doctor's investments, cancer, syphilis, appendicitis, asthma and kindred subjects.

The profession is boing outside the states for the first time this year, which, according to Dr. Ray G. Hulburt, at the offices of the American Osteopathic association here, indicates the remarkable geographic and numerical growth of the science.

"The osteopathic physician," Dr. Hulbert said, "believe in the two fundamentals which Dr. A. T. Still announced fifty-one years ago. The first is the theory of the body's own natural chemical immunity, which the whole scientific world of today believes. The second is that the body's own machinery can provide this immunity only when the machine is adjusted properely."

A large group of osteopathic physicians will spend several weeks in England, Scotland and France after the Toronto convention.

Lighthouse Keepers In Service 53 Years Goes Into Retirement

WASHINGTON, July — Among the most remarkable records for service among government employes is that of Charles Kimball, keeper of the Marquette Lighthouse, Michigan, who retired from active duty recently at the age of 71 years.

Entering the lighthouse service in September, 1872, Kimball served continuously, concluding nearly 53 years' active duty at his retirement.

The longest continuous paved road in the United States is the Pacific highway from British Columbia to Mexico, the only break in the hard-surfacing being a short distance in Northern California.

PESKY BED BUGS

Doctors declare that bedbugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bedbugs in your home, because that can't be avoided, but it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P. D. Q., which actually puts an end to these pesky devils.

A MILLION BEDBUGS

A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of a mixture that is so deadly to bedbugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. If they were as big as your hand it would swat them just as well. And not only the live ones, but the future generation as well, because once it hits the eggs they are gone.

CUT THIS OUT

Your druggist has P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils Quietus) and will be glad to furnish it for 35-cents. One 35-cent package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned bug-killer. Some druggists may try to sell you something else. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P. D. Q., send us your name and 35-cents and we will send you a package postpage prepaid to your address.

WILL NOT DAMAGE GOODS

P. D. Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS

If you have a pet dog who is infested with fleas take a little P. D. Q. mixture in your hand and rub into the fur. Then watch the fleas loop the loop. They will be deader than King Solomon before they hit the floor.

MOTHS

Very simple to rid these pests from furs or clothing is to follow the directions on each package, impossible for moths to exist with the proper use of P. D. Q. A treatment on garments will prevent moths for two years.

FOR ANTS AND COCKROACHES

The ants and cockroaches stand just as good a chance of surviving a treatment of P. D. Q. as a snowball in a justly famed Heat Resort. It swats them and their eggs with a wallop that puts their whole generation out of business.

P.D.Q. IN LIQUID FORM

P. D. Q. can be purchased in sealed bottles double strength liquid form, with patent spout free. P. D. Q. Liquid can be diluted to make a quart or it can be used pure.

P. D. Q. is marketed in two style packages, Liquid form 50c, ready for use and P. D. Q. Dry form, 35c. Each package makes one quart.

JUNE WEATHER REPORT ISSUED

Temperature for Month Above Normal; Drouth Afflicts Crops.

While there were 15 rainy days during June, 1924, there were but six days rain during June, 1925, according to the June weather report just issued by Official Weather Observer Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport.

The temperature for last month was above normal, and the rain that fell June 16 was the first in 24 days. With the high temperature that prevailed during the month, a severe drouth resulted, and this in turn had a bad effect upon oats and hay, the crop in this county being pronounced light.

Corn is in very favorable promise, providing the present character of weather continues for the rest of the season.

The wheat harvest will soon be in full swing, although the yield is expected to be under that of a year ago. The harvest as a whole, however, will be about 10 days earlier this year than formerly.

The mean maximum temperature for the month of June was 82.4 and the mean minimum was 54.8, with a mean temperature of 68.6. The maximum temperature was 94 on June 5 and the minimum was 37 on June 11.

The greatest daily range in temperature during June was 43 degrees, which was recorded on June 12.

Total percipitation in June totaled 2.07 inches, the greatest in 24 hours being on June 25 when there was a fall of .58 inches. There were six days during June when the precipitation was .01 inches or more.

During June there were 10 clear days, 19 partly cloudy days and one cloudy day.

The warmest June in recent years was that in 1919 when there was an average of 71 degrees, and the coolest was in 1916 when 60.8 degrees was registered. June, 1924, was the wettest June in many years with a rainfall of 8.25 inches, and June, 1913, was the dryest with only .72 inches of rain.

THREE DIVORCE DECREES ISSUED

Judge James G. Moore has granted a decree of divorce to Jake Jenkins in the case filed against his wife, Mary Jenkins, by Attorney E. L. Lyon of East Palestine on the grounds of fraudulent contract on the part of the defendant.

In the case of Matilda Ruth Schaeffer against her husband, Harry S. Schaeffer, the plaintiff was granted a divorce on the grounds of three years willful absence. In this case the plaintiff was restored to her maiden name, Matilda Ruth Sturni.

Helen McLean of East Liverpool claimed that her husband, Allen McLean had been absent from his home for more than three years last past, and she has been granted a decree of divorce. In this cause, the court has restored the plaintiff to her maiden name, that of Helen Dunlap.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

LOCALS BOOK DOUBLE HEADER

New Brighton, Pa., Club at Columbian Park.

The East Liverpool Merchants, formerly the Uniques, have booked a double header with the New Brighton Independents for Saturday at Columbian park.

The teams will play in the morning at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 3.

Tagging The Bases

The Pirates slid back into the National league lead, edging out a 2 to 1 victory over the Reds while the Giants lay idle, Carey's walk, Cuyler's triple and Barnhart's sacrifice furnishing the victory.

Playing errorless ball, the Senators took two games from the Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 11 to 4, and increased their slight lead in the American league race. The first game went ten innings and was decided by a home run by First Baseman Joe Harris.

The portly Garland Buckeye, Cleveland pitcher, won his first game for the Indians when Speaker's men pounded Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher, for an easy victory, 11 to 3.

St. Louis plugged the ball over the lot and carried off a lopsided victory over the White Sox, 18 to 5.

Home runs by Ruth and Ward failed to disturb Eddie Rommel and the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 6 to 3.

The Cubs and Cardinals went fifty-fifty on a double-header, the Cubs winning the first, 11 to 6, and the Cards the second, 6 to 5. Hartnett smacked two homers to bring his total for the season to 19.

The Dodgers got ten hits and as many runs in the opening chapter and in the end defeated the Braves, quite easily, 20 to 7.

SLATTERY K. O. SHOCKS FANS

SHADE WINNER IN THIRD ROUND

Harry Wills Drops Weinert in Second; Greb Victor.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 3.—A new chapter in pugilistic history, fairly reeking of drama, was sent to the composing room last night to be set in bold face caps in a series of typographical shrieks.

While upward of 60,00 looked on the names of Harry Greb, Harry Wills and Dave Shade were engraved upon the pages of the prize ring's blue book by winning respectively from Mickey Walker, Charley Weinert and Jimmy Slattery in the feature bouts of the Italian hospital fund at the Polo grounds.

Greb, defending his middleweight title against Walker, the welterweight champion, got a unanimous decision at the end of fifteen rounds and had Walker almost out in the fourteenth. The latter proved that a good little man can beat a good big man only on the thirty-second day of the month.

Wills, so-called logical contender for the heavyweight championship, stopped Weinert with a right to the jaw in the second round. The result left Wills as a logical as a prosecuting attorney and proved that Weinert's supposed comeback was aught but a snare and a delusion. The writer expected him to "come back" into his, the writer's lap, at any given moment and he almost did.

The great Slattery, with a half million in front of him, was knocked out by Shade in the third round for something in the neighborhood of $5,000. The crowd still is reeling from the shock of this one and it must go down on the books as a tactical triumph for Leo P. Flynn, who sent Shade in against Slattery bent almost double.

The Buffalo entry was pleased to stand with his hands at his sides, as always, and bring up his punches. But one cannot bring up punches on a man who is half way down, can one? Obviously, one can not.

Slatterly hardly laid a glove on the weaving and bobbing Shade, who carried the fight to his man for the first two rounds and, in the third, fairly leaped from the floor with a right that dropped Slattery for the first time in his career. He forsook the perpendicular twice more from rights to the jaw and then the towel, mute token of surrender, fluttered out from his corner.

Slattery was a 4 to 1 shot and some of the boys were carefully masticating a single, individual and lone cup of coffee this morning.

It was estimated that as much as $275,000 was in the house but, of course, the fund will be benefited to no such preposterous extent. It was strictly a charity preformance, and with gentlemen of the profession, charity begins at the dear, old homestead.

But whatever they got, they earned. For once, the young men went in there worked with the ambitious idea of starting at the top and working down. Only the Dempsey-Firpo frolic, of happy memory, was productive of more action than was uncovered last night.

When it was all over, Dave Shade, of California, had come into overnight prominence as a contender for two titles, the welterweight and middleweight, Harry Wills still was something of a dark mystery, speaking largerly and in the abstract, and Greb had proved that a gendarme is an excellent companion for road work.

Barring the first two rounds, when he ran into a series of left hooks to the body, Greb was generally on the winning end of the exchanges and, making expeditious use of his superior weight and strength, mauled Walker like an irate house wife. It was a great fight, heightened in effect by a sensational second round in which both quite forgot they were gentlemen and slugged a la pier 19, and a fourteenth round, in which Greb caught Walker on the jaw with a terrific right, drove him into his own corner and swung himself weary on a man who wouldn't go down.

Greb changed his style for the occasion, and except in the later rounds, abandoned his slap-stick tactics almost altogether. Perhaps as great a surprise as Slattery's knockout was that fact that Harry Greb showed he could punch, an asset of which he was hitherto unsuspected. It took a Walker to last the limit against him.

He made the mistake of rushing Walker in the early rounds but, after taking a shellacking about the body, mended his ways without loss of time and from the third round to the tenth simply beat Mickey by the simple expedient of landing two punches to Walker's one.

They mixed in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any.

They mixed it in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any. Mickey also carried the twelfth by a slight margin, one of his sporadic rallies finding Greb's speed in neutral. The rest of the rounds, with the possible exception of the fifteenth, went to Greb, who was unmarked at the end but disinclined to sleep on his stomach last night. Walker's face looked like an over ripe tomato at the end.

The Weinert-Wills affair proved nothing, except that Harris Wills can beat Charley Weinert now and forever henceforth. The white man simply was outclassed and Wills, fighting at long range for a change, was not as palpably guilty of barroom tactics as on former occasions.

He held and hit a bit in the first round, being warned by the referee, Eddie Purdy, but Weinert held and did nothing. He was lucky to last the round and knew the end was near. Wills was out to finish his man in the second and manhandled him so thoroughly in close that Weinert fell through the ropes from weakness when the referee broke them.

A moment later, he dropped his hands to step back from a clinch and Wills crossed his right to the jaw, an obvious infraction of the rules. Weinert was badly hurt and fell into a devoted embrace. The referee broke them again and Wills came to his prey, hooking a left to the body that brought down Weinert's guard and a right to the jaw that brought down everything, Weinert included. It was hardly necessary to go through the formality of a count but they did.

PANTHER'S CLAWS STILL SHARP

FLAG TOURNEY GOLFERS SEEK BOUGH TROPHY

Between 50 and 60 Entered in Country Club Event.

Between 50 and 60 local golfers, according to estimates of the East Liverpool Country club sports committee, will tee off tomorrow in the annual flag tounament, customary July 4th feature.

Interest in the event and good weather should make the flag play one of the outstanding events of the season. C. A. Bough is providing the trophy for which Ceramic City followers of the royal and ancient game will put forth their best drivers.

Walter Ashbaugh last year played a brand of golf that had the entire field licked by a sound margin and consequently walked off with the honors. The successor to Ashbaugh will be known sometime tomorrow afternoon about 6 o'clock.

Tournament rivals will add their full handicap figures to par 72. Distance will count.

LOCALS BOOK DOUBLE HEADER

New Brighton, Pa., Club at Columbian Park.

The East Liverpool Merchants, formerly the Uniques, have booked a double header with the New Brighton Independents for Saturday at Columbian park.

The teams will play in the morning at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 3.

Rose, Jester and Baker have been lined up for mound duty for the local aggregation. Rose is certain to pitch one of the games.

Tagging The Bases

The Pirates slid back into the National league lead, edging out a 2 to 1 victory over the Reds while the Giants lay idle, Carey's walk, Cuyler's triple and Barnhart's sacrifice furnishing the victory.

Playing errorless ball, the Senators took two games from the Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 11 to 4, and increased their slight lead in the American league race. The first game went ten innings and was decided by a home run by First Baseman Joe Harris.

The portly Garland Buckeye, Cleveland pitcher, won his first game for the Indians when Speaker's men pounded Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher, for an easy victory, 11 to 3.

St. Louis plugged the ball over the lot and carried off a lopsided victory over the White Sox, 18 to 5.

Home runs by Ruth and Ward failed to disturb Eddie Rommel and the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 6 to 3.

The Cubs and Cardinals went fifty-fifty on a double-header, the Cubs winning the first, 11 to 6, and the Cards the second, 6 to 5. Hartnett smacked two homers to bring his total for the season to 19.

The Dodgers got ten hits and as many runs in the opening chapter and in the end defeated the Braves, quite easily, 20 to 7.

Pipp Improving.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Attending physicians at St. Vincent's hospital today reported a slight improvement in the condition of Wally Pipp, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, who was taken to the institution yesterday after being hit by a pitched ball in batting practice. Pipp was said to be suffering from a slight brain concussion but that his chances of a rapid recovery were excellent.

League Leaders Toppled In Clash With C. & P. Nine

Chester Club's Long Winning Streak Cracked as Wellsville Tossers go on Batting Rampage.

Hitting the apple hard and given good southpaw hurling, the Wellsville C. & P. club of the City Industrial league broke the long winning streak of the Chester nine last evening at Smith Field, running up a score of 9 to 8 on the Riley crew before more than 1,000 fans who turned out for the final league clash of the first half of the schedule.

The proceeds will go to Fielders Manning, of Wellsville, and Moore, of Chester, who were injured early in the season.

With darkness impending, Chester faced its final batting opportunity with two runs needed to tie the count and three to win, the score standing 9 to 7. Pebula opened with a single over second and the fans, sensing a rally, began to release their own famous West Virginia yell that has heretofore accompanied repeated victories of the Riley clan. F. Marshall cut loose with at which Runyan bagged. The burly Potts, who had already lined out a single, triple and double, stepped to the platter and swung a vicious piece of timber. He lined to Wyant who threw wildly to third to stop P. Cebula and the latter scored. W. McMath, running for Potts, was on the paths with the tying tally. Jackson, next batter soared to D. Manning in middle Manager Riley then sent in M. Cebula, Tuesday's hero, to try to duplicate his thrilling finish of that day, but he too flew out to Manning and the game was over.

Five triples and three doubles featured the swatting end of the contest. Potts had one of each, P. Cebula and Morgan crashed out doubles and Cochrane, D. Manning and Runyan three-baggers.

The contest was marred by the injury of Infielder D. Morgan, of Wellsville, in the fourth, when, attempting to catch a pop fly from L. McMath's bat, he ran behind Pitcher Wyant, who, turning, jumped and collided with the C. & P. third sacker and all but knocked him out. His nose was damaged in the spill but he remained gamely in action. In the fifth C. Marshall was unorthodox enough to stop a fast inshoot with his head. He tried to keep going but had to retire in favor of P. Bennett.

Runyon had a big day. He banged out two one-basers and connected for two triples in four times up. In the field he took four chances. He apparently had found a four-leaf clover or an errant horseshoe somewhere out in the garden before starting the contest.

Shipley, Powell and P. Cebula batted at a .500 clip for the day; L. McMath .667, Potts .750 and Runyon, Wyant and C. Marshall 1.000. C. Marshall earned the mark without tapping a ball. He walked twice and was hit once.

Wyant, twirling his initial league game, had a world of speed in his southpaw delivery, but was wild, his five walks and the hitting of a batter attesting to the fact. He fanned three and allowed nine hits.

Powell was found for 10 safe bingles. He struck out five and passed on.

How the Runs Were Made.

Runyan, singling in the first, stole second and scored as F. Marshall dropped Dustman's fly.

Potts, doubling to right in the second, scored on Jackson's single. C. Marshall walked. Cochrane tripled to right, sending both runners in.

With one out in the third Wyant lined safety to right. Runyan singled over second. D. Morgan walked, filling the bases. D. Manning ran for D. Morgan, Dustman drove to P. Cebula, who booted the ball, Wyant and Runyon counting. Cebula tried to nip Manning as he essayed to reach third on the play and threw wildly to the crowd, enabling the runner to score.

Potts tripled to middle in the third and scored as D. Morgan threw wildly to first on Jackson's drive.

D. Manning tripled to middle in the fourth. Wyant walked. Both scored on Runyon's triple to right. The latter scored as F. Marshall threw widly to P. Cebula trying to head off the runner.

Powell and L. McMath singled in the fourth. Dustman threw wildly to second to stop Powell who reached third on the play, from where he scored on a passed ball following M. Marshall's walk.

J. Morgan doubled to middle in the sixth and scored on Runyon's triple to left. Shipley's single over second scored Runyan.

Red Wingo Newcomer Among Stick Leaders

A perusal of the American League batting records reveals an interesting situation in the younger circuit. Leading the pack of batters are Wingo, Cobb and Heilmann of the Tigers and Simmons and Lamar of the Athletics.

Now the names of Cobb and Heilmann among the leading hitters draw no surprise. But "Red" Wingo is a newcomer. And the presence of two members of the once modest and retiring Athletics among the leaders is something to ponder over.

Connie has at last got the batting strength he needed of recent years to carry along what has been a brilliant pitching staff at times at least.

The far-famed ball murderers of the Yankees have dropped. The St. Louis Browns find little in the batting averages to cheer them—outside of George Sisler's work.

Truly the batting warm has turned a bit.

Harris Setting Good Example of Team Play

Stanley Harris, manager of the world's champion Senators, leads his team in sacrifice hitting. The young pilot's ability to lay 'em down gives him plenty of opportunities to teach his men the value of team play above desire for individual glory.

Harris is an effective and timely hitter. He has the natural desire of a ball player to "pickle one." But he has learned the value of playing the game. He sets the example for his teammates day in and day out, which may be one of the reasons why the Senators ambled along to the championship last year and are making a bid for the flag this season. The New York Yankees have several times given striking evidence of what a team of stars can do when the members seek personal glory above team success.

CHESTER-NEWELL TILT CALLED OFF

Manager Barney Bricelin, of Laughlin City Industrial league club today announced that the proposed clash between the Chester and Newell teams, scheduled for tomorrow, had been called off, by agreement of the managers.

Players of both clubs will be out of the city over the week-end.

RACES, BASEBALL AT FAIRGROUNDS

Races, baseball and dancing are the chief features of the July 4 card at the Lisbon fair ground tomorrow.

Three race events, under auspices of the Lisbon Driving club, will be run off in the afternoon. There will be a morning baseball game at 10 o'clock and another in the afternoon at 3. The East Liverpool Cardinals will play the Lisbon Independents in the double bill.

Dancing is scheduled for the afternoon hours between 2:30 and 5, and in the evening from 8:30 until 11:30. The Harmony Players of Salem and Lisbon will furnish the music.

SEMI-FINALS ON IN NET TOURNEY

COLUMBUS, O., July 3—Semi-finals were scheduled today in the Ohio State tennis championships on the courts of the East End Tennis club here. Finals will be played off Saturday afternoon.

George Lott, Jr., Chicago champion, was slated to meet Ralph Oster, Cleveland, in the first semi-final in the mens' singles event this afternoon. Julius Sagalowsky, Indianapolis, Ind., was carded against Walter Wirthwein, Columbus.

In the women's singles, Miss Marion Leighton, Chicago, was scheduled to meet Mrs. Thornton Emmons, Columbus, and Miss Clara Zincke, Cincinnati, to meet Miss Virginia Thompson, Columbus.

Four teams will fight to enter the finals in the men's doubles: Lott and Tom McGlynn, Columbus; Walter and Herman Wirthwein, Columbus; Sagalowsky and George Amhyrst, Columbus; and Oster and Bud Tracy, Columbus.

The semi-finalists in the women's doubles will be: Miss Leighton and Mrs. Emmons; Miss Wilson and Miss Thompson; Miss Zincke and Mrs. Fulton, and Mrs. Fressy and Mrs. Slattmeyer.

PACE FEATURES CIRCUIT CARD

NORTH RANDAL, O., July 3.—The Times 2:06 pace, in which a purse of $3,000 has been hung up, was the feature race of the Grand circuit card here today. Other events included the 2:14 and the 2:18 trot.

Robert Direct was favored to win the feature.

Woodrew L. in winning the first heat of 2:10 trot yesterday established a new world's record for the three-quarter mile, trotting it in 1:33. However, the next two heats went to Clara Dillon. The 2:12 class trot was won by Crawford, and the 2:14 pace went to Miss Ellen W.

Pick on Yanks.

The other day the Boston Red Sox decided to break a losing streak after going through nine games without tasting victory. And who do you think they picked on. The Yankees!

Which is as it should be, after all in the minds of the Red Sox fans. While Harry Frazee owned the Hub team and was under obligation to the Yankee pilots, the Boston outfit served as a farm for what New York couldn't use in the way of ball players.

League Leaders Toppled In Clash With C. & P. Nine

Chester Club's Long Winning Streak Cracked as Wellsville Tossers go on Batting Rampage.

Hitting the apple hard and given good southpaw hurling, the Wellsville C. & P. club of the City Industrial league broke the long winning streak of the Chester nine last evening at Smith Field, running up a score of 9 to 8 on the Riley crew before more than 1,000 fans who turned out for the final league clash of the first half of the schedule.

The proceeds will go to Fielders Manning, of Wellsville, and Moore, of Chester, who were injured early in the season.

With darkness impending, Chester faced its final batting opportunity with two runs needed to tie the count and three to win, the score standing 9 to 7. Pebula opened with a single over second and the fans, sensing a rally, began to release their own famous West Virginia yell that has heretofore accompanied repeated victories of the Riley clan. F. Marshall cut loose with at which Runyan bagged. The burly Potts, who had already lined out a single, triple and double, stepped to the platter and swung a vicious piece of timber. He lined to Wyant who threw wildly to third to stop P. Cebula and the latter scored. W. McMath, running for Potts, was on the paths with the tying tally. Jackson, next batter soared to D. Manning in middle Manager Riley then sent in M. Cebula, Tuesday's hero, to try to duplicate his thrilling finish of that day, but he too flew out to Manning and the game was over.

Five triples and three doubles featured the swatting end of the contest. Potts had one of each. P. Cebula and Morgan crashed out doubles and Cochrane, D. Manning and Runyan three-baggers.

The contest was marred by the injury of Infielder D. Morgan, of Wellsville, in the fourth, when, attempting to catch a pop fly from L. McMath's bat, he ran behind Pitcher Wyant, who, turning, jumped and collided with the C. & P. third sacker and all but knocked him out. His nose was damaged in the spill but he remained gamely in action. In the fifth C. Marshall was unorthodox enough to stop a fast inshoot with his head. He tried to keep going but had to retire in favor of P. Bennett.

Runyon had a big day. He banged out two one-basers and connected for two triples in four times up. In the field he took four chances. He apparently had found a four-leaf clover or an errant horseshoe somewhere out in the garden before starting the contest.

Shipley, Powell and P. Cebula batted at a .500 clip for the day; L. McMath .667, Potts .750 and Runyon, Wyant and C. Marshall 1.000. C. Marshall earned the mark without tapping a ball. He walked twice and was hit once.

Wyant, twirling his initial league game, had a world of speed in his southpaw delivery, but was wild, his five walks and the hitting of a batter attesting to the fact. He fanned three and allowed nine hits.

Powell was found for 10 safe bingles. He struck out five and passed on.

How the Runs Were Made.

Runyan, singling in the first, stole second and scored as F. Marshall dropped Dustman's fly.

Potts, doubling to right in the second, scored on Jackson's single. C. Marshall walked. Cochrane tripled to right, sending both runners in.

With one out in the third Wyant lined safety to right. Runyan singled over second. D. Morgan walked, filling the bases. D. Manning ran for D. Morgan, Dustman drove to P. Cebula, who booted the ball, Wyant and Runyon counting. Cebula tried to nip Manning as he essayed to reach third on the play and threw wildly to the crowd, enabling the runner to score.

Potts tripled to middle in the third and scored as D. Morgan threw wildly to first on Jackson's drive.

D. Manning tripled to middle in the fourth. Wyant walked. Both scored on Runyon's triple to right. The latter scored as F. Marshall threw wildly to P. Cebula trying to head off the runner.

Powell and L. McMath singled in the fourth. Dustman threw wildly to second to stop Powell who reached third on the play, from where he scored on a passed ball following M. Marshall's walk.

J. Morgan doubled to middle in the sixth and scored on Runyon's triple to left. Shipley's single over second scored Runyan.

Red Wingo Newcomer Among Stick Leaders

A perusal of the American League batting records reveals an interesting situation in the younger circuit. Leading the pack of batters are Wingo, Cobb and Heilmann of the Tigers and Simmons and Lamar of the Athletics.

Now the names of Cobb and Heilmann among the leading hitters draw no surprise. But "Red" Wingo is a newcomer. And the presence of two members of the once modest and retiring Athletics among the leaders is something to ponder over.

Connie has at last got the batting strength he needed of recent years to carry along what has been a brilliant pitching staff at times at least.

The far-famed ball murderers of the Yankees have dropped. The St. Louis Browns find little in the batting averages to cheer them—outside of George Sisler's work.

Truly the batting worm has turned a bit.

Harris Setting Good Example of Team Play

Stanley Harris, manager of the world's champion Senators, leads his team in sacrifice hitting. The young pilot's ability to lay 'em down gives him plenty of opportunities to teach his men the value of team play above desire for individual glory.

Harris is an effective and timely hitter. He has the natural desire of a ball player to "pickle one." But he has learned the value of playing the game. He sets the example for his teammates day in and day out, which may be one of the reasons why the Senators ambled along to the championship last year and are making a bid for the flag this season. The New York Yankees have several times given striking evidence of what a team of stars can do when the members seek personal glory above team success.

CHESTER-NEWELL TILT CALLED OFF

Manager Barney Bricelin, of Laughlin City Industrial league club today announced that the proposed clash between the Chester and Newell teams, scheduled for tomorrow, had been called off, by agreement of the managers.

Players of both clubs will be out of the city over the week-end.

RACES, BASEBALL AT FAIRGROUNDS

Three race events, under auspices of the Lisbon Driving club, will be run off in the afternoon. There will be a morning baseball game at 10 o'clock and another in the afternoon at 3. The East Liverpool Cardinals will play the Lisbon Independents in the double bill.

Dancing is scheduled for the afternoon hours between 2:30 and 5, and in the evening from 8:30 until 11:30. The Harmony Players of Salem and Lisbon will furnish the music.

SEMI-FINALS ON IN NET TOURNEY

COLUMBUS, O., July 3—Semi-finals were scheduled today in the Ohio State tennis championships on the courts of the East End Tennis club here. Finals will be played off Saturday afternoon.

George Lott, Jr., Chicago champion, was slated to meet Ralph Oster, Cleveland, in the first semi-final in the mens' singles event this afternoon. Julius Sagalowsky, Indianoplis, Ind., was carded against Walter Wirthwein, Columbus.

In the women's singles, Miss Marion Leighton, Chicago, was scheduled to meet Mrs. Thornton Emmons, Columbus, and Miss Clara Zincke, Cincinnati, to meet Miss Virginia Thompson, Columbus.

Four teams will fight to enter the finals in the men's doubles: Lott and Tom McGlynn, Columbus; Walter and Herman Wirthwein, Columbus; Sagalowsky and George Amhyrst, Columbus; and Oster and Bud Tracy, Columbus.

The semi-finalists in the women's doubles will be: Miss Leighton and Mrs. Emmons; Miss Wilson and Miss Thompson; Miss Zincke and Mrs. Fulton, and Mrs. Fressy and Mrs. Slatmeyer.

PACE FEATURES CIRCUIT CARD

NORTH RANDAL, O., July 3.—The Times 2:06 pace, in which a purse of $3,000 has been hung up, was the feature race of the Grand circuit card here today. Other events included the 2:14 and the 2:18 trot.

Robert Direct was favored to win the feature.

Woodrow L. in winning the first heat of 2:10 trot yesterday established a new world's record for the three-quarter mile, trotting it in 1:33. However, the next two heats went to Clara Dillon. The 2:12 class trot was won by Crawford, and the 2:14 pace went to Miss Ellen W.

Pick on Yanks.

The other day the Boston Red Sox decided to break a losing streak after going through nine games without tasting victory. And who do you think they picked on. The Yankees!

Which is as it should be, after all in the minds of the Red Sox fans. While Harry Frazee owned the Hub team and was under obligation to the Yankee pilots, the Boston outfit served as a farm for what New York couldn't use in the way of ball players.

LOCALS BOOK DOUBLE HEADER

New Brighton, Pa., Club at Columbian Park.

The East Liverpool Merchants, formerly the Uniques, have booked a double header with the New Brighton Independents for Saturday at Columbian park.

The teams will play in the morning at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 3.

Rose, Jester and Baker have been lined up for mound duty for the local aggregation. Rose is certain to pitch one of the games.

Tagging The Bases

The Pirates slid back into the National league lead, edging out a 2 to 1 victory over the Reds while the Giants lay idle, Carey's walk, Cuyler's triple and Barnhart's sacrifice furnishing the victory.

Playing errorless ball, the Senators took two games from the Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 11 to 4, and increased their slight lead in the American league race. The first game went ten innings and was decided by a home run by First Baseman Joe Harris.

The portly Garland Buckeye, Cleveland pitcher, won his first game for the Indians when Speaker's men pounded Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher, for an easy victory, 11 to 3.

St. Louis plugged the ball over the lot and carried off a lopsided victory over the White Sox, 18 to 5.

Home runs by Ruth and Ward failed to disturb Eddie Rommel and the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 6 to 3.

The Cubs and Cardinals went fifty-fifty on a double-header, the Cubs winning the first, 11 to 6, and the Cards the second, 6 to 5. Hartnett smacked two homers to bring his total for the season to 19.

The Dodgers got ten hits and as many runs in the opening chapter and in the end defeated the Braves, quite easily, 20 to 7.

CARDINALS PLAY AT FAIRGROUNDS

The East Liverpool Cardinals baseball club will figure in the sport program being arranged for July 4 at the county fair grounds, Lisbon.

The Cardinals are scheduled to clash with the Lisbon Independents in two games, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The morning tilt will start at 10 o'clock and the afternoon engagement at 3 o'clock.

FORFEITS CLASH TO B. & W. CLUB

Because the K. T. K., City Industrial league tossers, failed to appear at Klondyke on Thursday to meet the Babcock & Wilcox nine, the scheduled clash was declared forfeited to the firebrick aggregation by Umpire Alcock.

LENGLEN BAGS TENNIS TITLE

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 3.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, unofficial world's champion of lawn tennis, again added the Wimbledon all-comers singles to her bag of trophies today by winning from Miss Joan Fry, England's nineteen-year-old prodigy, in the final round. JIM THORPE AS HE LOOKS TODAY

Here's Jim Thorpe, America's greatest all around athlete in his day and probably the foremost candidate for all-time honors in that respect, in the uniform of the Zanesville Grevs. Thorpe is helping them in their fight to retain the championship of the Eastern Ohio league.

SLATTERY K. O. SHOCKS FANS

SHADE WINNER IN THIRD ROUND

Harry Wills Drops Weinert in Second; Greb Victor.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 3—A new chapter in pugilistic history, fairly reeking of drama, was sent to the composing room last night to be set in bold face caps in a series of typographical shrieks.

While upward of 60,00 looked on the names of Harry Greb, Harry Wills and Dave Shade were engraved upon the pages of the prize ring's blue book by winning respectively from Mickey Walker, Charley Weinert and Jimmy Slattery in the feature bouts of the Italian hospital fund at the Polo grounds.

Greb, defending his middleweight title against Walker, the welterweight champion, got a unanimous decision at the end of fifteen rounds and had Walker almost out in the fourteenth. The latter proved that a good little man can beat a good big man only on the thirty-second day of the month.

Wills, so-called logical contender for the heavyweight championship, stopped Weinert with a right to the jaw in the second round. The result left Wills as a logical as a prosecuting attorney and proved that Weinert's supposed comeback was aught but a snare and a delusion. The writer expected him to "come back" into his, the writer's lap, at any given moment and he almost did.

The great Slattery, with a half million in front of him, was knocked out by Shade in the third round for something in the neighborhood of $5,000. The crowd still is reeling from the shock of this one and it must go down on the books as a tactical triumph for Leo P. Flynn, who sent Shade in against Slattery bent almost double.

The Buffalo entry was pleased to stand with his hands at his sides, as always, and bring up his punches. But one cannot bring up punches on a man who is half way down, can one? Obviously, one can not.

Slatterly hardly laid a glove on the weaving and bobbing Shade, who carried the fight to his man for the first two rounds and, in the third, fairly leaped from the floor with a right that dropped Slattery for the first time in his career. He forsook the perpendicular twice more from rights to the jaw and then the towel, mute token of surrender, fluttered out from his corner.

Slattery was a 4 to 1 shot and some of the boys were carefully masticating a single, individual and lone cup of coffee this morning.

It was estimated that as much as $375,000 was in the house but, of course, the fund will be benefited to no such preposterous extent. It was strictly a charity preformance, and with gentlemen of the profession, charity begins at the dear, old homestead.

But whatever they got, they earned. For once, the young men went in there worked with the ambitious idea of starting at the top and working down. Only the Dempsey-Firpo frolic, of happy memory, was productive of more action than was uncovered last night.

When it was all over, Dave Shade, of California, had come into overnight prominence as a contender for two titles, the welterweight and middleweight, Harry Wills still was something of a dark mystery, speaking largerly and in the abstract, and Greb had proved that a gendarme is an excellent companion for road work.

Barring the first two rounds, when he ran into a series of left hooks to the body, Greb was generally on the winning end of the exchanges and, making expeditious use of his superior weight and strength, mauled Walker like an irate house wife. It was a great fight, heightened in effect by a sensational second round in which both quite forgot they were gentlemen and slugged a la pier 19, and a fourteenth round, in which Greb caught Walker on the jaw with a terrific right, drove him into his own corner and swung himself weary on a man who wouldn't go down.

Greb changed his style for the occasion, and except in the later rounds, abandoned his slap-stick tactics almost altogether. Perhaps as great a surprise as Slattery's knockout was that fact that Harry Greb showed he could punch, an asset of which he was hitherto unsuspected. It took a Walker to last the limit against him.

He made the mistake of rushing Walker in the early rounds but, after taking a shellacking about the body, mended his ways without loss of time and from the third round to the tenth simply beat Mickey by the simple expedient of landing two punches to Walker's one.

They mixed in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any.

They mixed it in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any. Mickey also carried the twelfth by a slight margin, one of his sporadic rallies finding Greb's speed in neutral. The rest of the rounds, with the possible exception of the fifteenth, went to Greb, who was unmarked at the end but disinclined to sleep on his stomach last night. Walker's face looked like an over ripe tomato at the end.

The Weinert-Wills affair proved nothing, except that Harris Wills can beat Charley Weinert now and forever henceforth. The white man simply was outclassed and Wills, fighting at long range for a change, was not as palpably guilty of barroom tactics as on former occasions.

He held and hit a bit in the first round, being warned by the referee, Eddie Purdy, but Weinert held and did nothing. He was lucky to last the round and knew the end was near. Wills was out to finish his man in the second and manhandled him so thoroughly in close that Weinert fell through the ropes from weakness when the referee broke them.

A moment later, he dropped his hands to step back from a clinch and Wills crossed his right to the jaw, an obvious infraction of the rules. Weinert was badly hurt and fell into a devoted embrace. The referee broke them again and Wills came to his prey, hooking a left to the body that brought down Weinert's guard and a right to the jaw that brought down everything, Weinert included. It was hardly necessary to go through the formality of a count but they did.

PANTHER'S CLAWS STILL SHARP

FLAG TOURNEY GOLFERS SEEK BOUGH TROPHY

Between 50 and 60 Entered in Country Club Event.

Between 50 and 60 local golfers, according to estimates of the East Liverpool Country club sports committee, will tee off tomorrow in the annual flag tounament, customary July 4th feature.

Interest in the event and good weather should make the flag play one of the oustanding events of the season. C. A. Bough is providing the trophy for which Ceramic City followers of the royal and ancient game will put forth their best drivers.

Walter Ashbaugh last year played a brand of golf that had the entire field licked by a sound margin and consequently walked off with the honors. The successor to Ashbaugh will be known sometime tomorrow afternoon about 6 o'clock.

Tournament rivals will add their full handicap figures to par 72. Distance will count.

Last Night's Fights

NEW YORK—Harry Greb, Pittsburgh, retained his middleweight title by getting the decision over Mickey Walker, Elizabeth, N. J., fifteen rounds Harry Wills, Newark, knocked out Charley Weinert, Newark, N. J., second round Dave Shade, concord, Cal., stopped Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo, third round.

Pipp Improving.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Attending physicians at St. Vincent's hospital today reported a slight improvement in the condition of Wally Pipp, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, who was taken to the institution yesterday after being hit by a pitched ball in batting practice. Pipp was said to be suffering from a slight brain concussion but that his chances of a rapid recovery were excellent.

LOCALS BOOK DOUBLE HEADER

New Brighton, Pa., Club at Columbian Park.

The East Liverpool Merchants, formerly the Uniques, have booked a double header with the New Brighton Independents for Saturday at Columbian park.

The teams will play in the morning at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 3.

Tagging The Bases

The Pirates slid back into the National league lead, edging out a 2 to 1 victory over the Reds while the Giants lay idle, Carey's walk, Cuyler's triple and Barnhart's sacrifice furnishing the victory.

Playing errorless ball, the Senators took two games from the Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 11 to 4, and increased their slight lead in the American league race. The first game went ten innings and was decided by a home run by First Baseman Joe Harris.

The portly Garland Buckeye, Cleveland pitcher, won his first game for the Indians when Speaker's men pounded Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher, for an easy victory, 11 to 3.

St. Louis plugged the ball over the lot and carried off a lopsided victory over the White Sox, 18 to 5.

Home runs by Ruth and Ward failed to disturb Eddie Rommel and the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 6 to 3.

The Cubs and Cardinals went fifty-fifty on a double-header, the Cubs winning the first, 11 to 6, and the Cards the second, 6 to 5. Hartnett smacked two homers to bring his total for the season to 19.

The Dodgers got ten hits and as many runs in the opening chapter and in the end defeated the Braves, quite easily, 29 to 7.

SLATTERY K. O. SHOCKS FANS

SHADE WINNER IN THIRD ROUND

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 3.—A new chapter in pugilistic history, fairly reeking of drama, was sent to the composing room last night to be set in bold face caps in a series of typographical shrieks.

While upward of 60,00 looked on the names of Harry Greb, Harry Wills and Dave Shade were engraved upon the pages of the prize ring's blue book by winning respectively from Mickey Walker, Charley Weinert and Jimmy Slattery in the feature bouts of the Italian hospital fund at the Polo grounds.

Greb, defending his middleweight title against Walker, the welterweight champion, got a unanimous decision at the end of fifteen rounds and had Walker almost out in the fourteenth. The latter proved that a good little man can beat a good big man only on the thirty-second day of the month.

Wills, so-called logical contender for the heavyweight championship, stopped Weinert with a right to the jaw in the second round. The result left Wills as a logical as a prosecuting attorney and proved that Weinert's supposed comeback was aught but a snare and a delusion. The writer expected him to "come back" into his, the writer's lap, at any given moment and he almost did.

The great Slattery, with a half million in front of him, was knocked out by Shade in the third round for something in the neighborhood of $5,000. The crowd still is reeling from the shock of this one and it must go down on the books as a tactical triumph for Leo P. Flynn, who sent Shade in against Slattery bent almost double.

The Buffalo entry was pleased to stand with his hands at his sides, as always, and bring up his punches. But one cannot bring up punches on a man who is half way down, can one? Obviously, one can not.

Slatterly hardly laid a glove on the weaving and bobbing Shade, who carried the fight to his man for the first two rounds and, in the third, fairly leaped from the floor with a right that dropped Slattery for the first time in his career. He forsook the perpendicular twice more from rights to the jaw and then the towel, mute token of surrender, fluttered out from his corner.

Slattery was a 4 to 1 shot and some of the boys were carefully masticating a single, individual and lone cup of coffee this morning.

It was estimated that as much as $375,000 was in the house but, of course, the fund will be benefited to no such preposterous extent. It was strictly a charity preformance, and with gentlemen of the profession, charity begins at the dear, old homestead.

But whatever they got, they earned. For once, the young men went in there worked with the ambitious idea of starting at the top and working down. Only the Dempsey-Firpo frolic, of happy memory, was productive of more action than was uncovered last night.

When it was all over, Dave Shade, of California, had come into overnight prominence as a contender for two titles, the welterweight and middleweight. Harry Wills still was something of a dark mystery, speaking largerly and in the abstract, and Greb had proved that a gendarme is an excellent companion for road work.

Barring the first two rounds, when he ran into a series of left hooks to the body, Greb was generally on the winning end of the exchanges and, making expeditious use of his superior weight and strength, mauled Walker like an irate house wife. It was a great fight, heightened in effect by a sensational second round in which both quite forgot they were gentlemen and slugged a la pier 19, and a fourteenth round, in which Greb caught Walker on the jaw with a terrific right, drove him into his own corner and swung himself weary on a man who wouldn't go down.

Greb changed his style for the occasion, and except in the later rounds, abandoned his slap-stick tactics almost altogether. Perhaps as great a surprise as Slattery's knockout was that fact that Harry Greb showed he could punch, an asset of which he was hitherto unsuspected. It took a Walker to last the limit against him.

He made the mistake of rushing Walker in the early rounds but, after taking a shellacking about the body, mended his ways without loss of time and from the third round to the tenth simply beat Mickey by the simple expedient of landing two punches to Walker's one.

They mixed in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any.

They mixed it in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any. Mickey also carried the twelfth by a slight margin, one of his sporadic rallies finding Greb's speed in neutral. The rest of the rounds, with the possible exception of the fifteenth, went to Greb, who was unmarked at the end but disinclined to sleep on his stomach last night. Walker's face looked like an over ripe tomato at the end.

The Weinert-Wills affair proved nothing, except that Harris Wills can beat Charley Weinert now and forever henceforth. The white man simply was outclassed and Wills, fighting at long range for a change, was not as palpably guilty of barroom tactics as on former occasions.

He held and hit a bit in the first round, being warned by the referee, Eddie Purdy, but Weinert held and did nothing. He was lucky to last the round and knew the end was near. Wills was out to finish his man in the second and manhandled him so thoroughly in close that Weinert fell through the ropes from weakness when the referee broke them.

A moment later, he dropped his hands to step back from a clinch and Wills crossed his right to the jaw, an obvious infraction of the rules. Weinert was badly hurt and fell into a devoted embrace. The referee broke them again and Wills came to his prey, hooking a left to the body that brought down Weinert's guard and a right to the jaw that brought down everything, Weinert included. It was hardly necessary to go through the formality of a count but they did.

PANTHER'S CLAWS STILL SHARP

FLAG TOURNEY GOLFERS SEEK BOUGH TROPHY

Between 50 and 60 Entered in Country Club Event.

Between 50 and 60 local golfers, according to estimates of the East Liverpool Country club sports committee, will tee off tomorrow in the annual flag tounament, customary July 4th feature.

Interest in the event and good weather should make the flag play one of the oustanding events of the season. C. A. Bough is providing the trophy for which Ceramic City followers of the royal and ancient game will put forth their best drivers.

Walter Ashbaugh last year played a brand of golf that had the entire field licked by a sound margin and consequently walked off with the honors. The successor to Ashbaugh will be known sometime tomorrow afternoon about 6 o'clock.

Tournament rivals will add their full handicap figures to par 72. Distance will count.

Last Night's Fights

NEW YORK—Harry Greb, Pittsburgh, retained his middleweight title by getting the decision over Mickey Walker, Elizabeth, N. J., fifteen rounds. Harry Wills, Newark, knocked out Charley Weinert, Newark, N. J., second round. Dave Shade, concord, Cal., stopped Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo, third round.

Pipp Improving.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Attending physicians at St. Vincent's hospital today reported a slight improvement in the condition of Wally Pipp, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, who was taken to the institution yesterday after being hit by a pitched ball in batting practice. Pipp was said to be suffering from a slight brain concussion but that his chances of a rapid recovery were excellent.

League Leaders Toppled In Clash With C. & P. Nine

Hitting the apple hard and given good southpaw hurling, the Wellsville C. & P. club of the City Industrial league broke the long winning streak of the Chester nine last evening at Smith Field, running up a score of 9 to 8 on the Riley crew before more than 1,000 fans who turned out for the final league clash of the first half of the schedule.

The proceeds will go to Fielders Manning, of Wellsville, and Moore, of Chester, who were injured early in the season.

With darkness impending, Chester faced its final batting opportunity with two runs needed to tie the count and three to win, the score standing 9 to 7. Pebula opened with a single over second and the fans, sensing a rally, began to release their own famous West Virginia yell that has heretofore accompanied repeated victories of the Riley clan. F. Marshall out loose with at which Runyan bagged. The burly Potts, who had already lined out a single, triple and double, stepped to the platter and swung a vicious piece of timber. He lined to Wyant who threw wildly to third to stop P. Cebula and the latter scored. W. McMath, running for Potts, was on the paths with the tying tally. Jackson, next batter soared to D. Manning in middle Manager Riley then sent in M. Cebula, Tuesday's hero, to try to duplicate his thrilling finish of that day, but he too flew out to Manning and the game was over.

Five triples and three doubles featured the swatting end of the contest. Potts had one of each. P. Cebula and Morgan crashed out doubles and Cochrane, D. Manning and Runyan three-baggers.

The contest was marred by the injury of Infielder D. Morgan, of Wellsville, in the fourth, when, attempting to catch a pop fly from L. McMath's bat, he ran behind Pitcher Wyant, who, turning, jumped and collided with the C. & P. third sacker and all but knocked him out. His nose was damaged in the spill but he remained gamely in action. In the fifth C. Marshall was unorthodox enough to stop a fast inshoot with his head. He tried to keep going but had to retire in favor of P. Bennett.

Runyon had a big day. He banged out two one-basers and connected for two triples in four times up. In the field he took four chances. He apparently had found a four-leaf clover or an errant horseshoe somewhere out in the garden before starting the contest.

Shipley, Powell and P. Cebula batted at a .500 clip for the day; L. McMath .667, Potts .750 and Runyon, Wyant and C. Marshall 1.000. C. Marshall earned the mark without tapping a ball. He walked twice and was hit once.

Wyant, twirling his initial league game, had a world of speed in his southpaw delivery, but was wild, his five walks and the hitting of a batter attesting to the fact. He fanned three and allowed nine hits.

Powell was found for 10 safe bingles. He struck out five and passed on.

How the Runs Were Made.

Runyan, singling in the first, stole second and scored as F. Marshall dropped Dustman's fly.

Potts, doubling to right in the second, scored on Jackson's single. C. Marshall walked. Cochrane tripled to right, sending both runners in.

With one out in the third Wyant lined safely to right. Runyan singled over second. D. Morgan walked, filling the bases. D. Manning ran for D. Morgan, Dustman drove to P. Cebula, who booted the ball, Wyant and Runyon counting. Cebula tried to nip Manning as he essayed to reach third on the play and threw wildly to the crowd, enabling the runner to score.

Potts tripled to middle in the third and scored as D. Morgan threw wildly to first on Jackson's drive.

D. Manning tripled to middle in the fourth. Wyant walked. Both scored on Runyon's triple to right. The latter scored as F. Marshall threw wildly to P. Cebula trying to head off the runner.

Powell and L. McMath singled in the fourth. Dustman threw wildly to second to stop Powell who reached third on the play, from where he scored on a passed ball following M. Marshall's walk.

J. Morgan doubled to middle in the sixth and scored on Runyon's triple to left. Shipley's single over second scored Runyan.

Red Wingo Newcomer Among Stick Leaders

A perusal of the American League batting records reveals an interesting situation in the younger circuit. Leading the pack of batters are Wingo, Cobb and Heilmann of the Tigers and Simmons and Lamar of the Athletics.

Now the names of Cobb and Heilmann among the leading hitters draw no surprise. But "Red" Wingo is a newcomer. And the presence of two members of the once modest and retiring Athletics among the leaders is something to ponder over.

Connie has at last got the batting strength he needed of recent years to carry along what has been a brilliant pitching staff at times at least.

The far-famed ball murderers of the Yankees have dropped. The St. Louis Browns find little in the batting averages to cheer them—outside of George Sisler's work.

Truly the batting worm has turned a bit.

Harris Setting Good Example of Team Play

Stanley Harris, manager of the world's champion Senators, leads his team in sacrifice hitting. The young pilot's ability to lay 'em down gives him plenty of opportunities to teach his men the value of team play above desire for individual glory.

Harris is an effective and timely hitter. He has the natural desire of a ball player to "pickle one." But he has learned the value of playing the game. He sets the example for his teammates day in and day out, which may be one of the reasons why the Senators ambled along to the championship last year and are making a bid for the flag this season. The New York Yankees have several times given striking evidence of what a team of stars can do when the members seek personal glory above team success.

CHESTER-NEWELL TILT CALLED OFF

Manager Barney Bricelin, of Laughlin City Industrial league club today announced that the proposed clash between the Chester and Newell teams, scheduled for tomorrow, had been called off, by agreement of the managers.

Players of both clubs will be out of the city over the week-end.

RACES, BASEBALL AT FAIRGROUNDS

Three race events, under auspices of the Lisbon Driving club, will be run off in the afternoon. There will be a morning baseball game at 10 o'clock and another in the afternoon at 3. The East Liverpool Cardinals will play the Lisbon Independents in the double bill.

Dancing is scheduled for the afternoon hours between 2:30 and 5, and in the evening from 8:30 until 11:30. The Harmony Players of Salem and Lisbon will furnish the music.

COLUMBUS, O., July 3—Semi-finals were scheduled today in the Ohio State tennis championships on the courts of the East End Tennis club here. Finals will be played off Saturday afternoon.

PACE FEATURES CIRCUIT CARD

NORTH RANDAL, O., July 3.—The Times 2:06 pace, in which a purse of $3,000 has been hung up, was the feature race of the Grand circuit card here today. Other events included the 2:14 and the 2:18 trot.

Robert Direct was favored to win the feature.

Woodrow L. in winning the first heat of 2:10 trot yesterday established a new world's record for the three-quarter mile, trotting it in 1:33. However, the next two heats went to Clara Dillon. The 2:12 class trot was won by Crawford, and the 2:14 pace went to Miss Ellen W.

Pick on Yanks.

The other day the Boston Red Sox decided to break a losing streak after going through nine games without tasting victory. And who do you think they picked on. The Yankees!

Which is as it should be, after all in the minds of the Red Sox fans. While Harry Frazee owned the Hub team and was under obligation to the Yankee pilots, the Boston outfit served as a farm for what New York couldn't use in the way of ball players.

Hitting the apple hard and given good southpaw hurling, the Wellsville C. & P. club of the City Industrial league broke the long winning streak of the Chester nine last evening at Smith Field, running up a score of 9 to 8 on the Riley crew before more than 1,000 fans who turned out for the final league clash of the first half of the schedule.

The proceeds will go to Fielders Manning, of Wellsville, and Moore, of Chester, who were injured early in the season.

With darkness impending, Chester faced its final batting opportunity with two runs needed to tie the count and three to win, the score standing 9 to 7. Pebula opened with a single over second and the fans, sensing a rally, began to release their own famous West Virginia yell that has heretofore accompanied repeated victories of the Riley clan. F. Marshall cut loose with at which Runyan bagged. The burly Potts, who had already lined out a single, triple and double, stepped to the platter and swung a vicious piece of timber. He lined to Wyant who threw wildly to third to stop P. Cebula and the latter scored. W. McMath, running for Potts, was on the paths with the tying tally. Jackson, next batter soared to D. Manning in middle Manager Riley then sent in M. Cebula, Tuesday's hero, to try to duplicate his thrilling finish of that day, but he too flew out to Manning and the game was over.

Five triples and three doubles featured the swatting end of the contest. Potts had one of each, P. Cebula and Morgan crashed out doubles and Cochrane, D. Manning and Runyan three-baggers.

The contest was marred by the injury of Infielder D. Morgan, of Wellsville, in the fourth, when, attempting to catch a pop fly from L. McMath's bat, he ran behind Pitcher Wyant, who, turning, jumped and collided with the C. & P. third sacker and all but knocked him out. His nose was damaged in the spill but he remained gamely in action. In the fifth C. Marshall was unorthodox enough to stop a fast inshoot with his head. He tried to keep going but had to retire in favor of P. Bennett.

Runyon had a big day. He banged out two one-basers and connected for two triples in four times up. In the field he took four chances. He apparently had found a four-leaf clover or an errant horseshoe somewhere out in the garden before starting the contest.

Shipley, Powell and P. Cebula batted at a .500 clip for the day; L. McMath .667, Potts .750 and Runyon, Wyant and C. Marshall 1.000. C. Marshall earned the mark without tapping a ball. He walked twice and was hit once.

Wyant, twirling his initial league game, had a world of speed in his southpaw delivery, but was wild, his five walks and the hitting of a batter attesting to the fact. He fanned three and allowed nine hits.

Powell was found for 10 safe bingles. He struck out five and passed on.

How the Runs Were Made.

Runyan, singling in the first, stole second and scored as F. Marshall dropped Dustman's fly.

Potts, doubling to right in the second, scored on Jackson's single. C. Marshall walked. Cochrane tripled to right, sending both runners in.

With one out in the third Wyant lined safety to right. Runyan singled over second. D. Morgan walked, filling the bases. D. Manning ran for D. Morgan, Dustman drove to P. Cebula, who booted the ball, Wyant and Runyon counting. Cebula tried to nip Manning as he essayed to reach third on the play and threw wildly to the crowd, enabling the runner to score.

Potts tripled to middle in the third and scored as D. Morgan threw wildly to first on Jackson's drive.

D. Manning tripled to middle in the fourth. Wyant walked. Both scored on Runyon's triple to right. The latter scored as F. Marshall threw wildly to P. Cebula trying to head off the runner.

Powell and L. McMath singled in the fourth. Dustman threw wildly to second to stop Powell who reached third on the play, from where he scored on a passed ball following M. Marshall's walk.

J. Morgan doubled to middle in the sixth and scored on Runyon's triple to left. Shipley's single over second scored Runyan.

Red Wingo Newcomer Among Stick Leaders

A perusal of the American League batting records reveals an interesting situation in the younger circuit. Leading the pack of batters are Wingo, Cobb and Heilmann of the Tigers and Simmons and Lamar of the Athletics.

Now the names of Cobb and Heilmann among the leading hitters draw no surprise. But "Red" Wingo is a newcomer. And the presence of two members of the once modest and retiring Athletics among the leaders is something to ponder over.

Connie has at last got the batting strength he needed of recent years to carry along what has been a brilliant piching staff at times at least.

The far-famed ball murderers of the Yankees have dropped. The St. Louis Browns find little in the batting averages to cheer them—outside of George Sisler's work.

Truly the batting worm has turned a bit.

Harris Setting Good Example of Team Play

Stanley Harris, manager of the world's champion Senators, leads his team in sacrifice hitting. The young pilot's ability to lay 'em down gives him plenty of opportunities to teach his men the value of team play above desire for individual glory.

Harris is an effective and timely hitter. He has the natural desire of a ball player to "pickle one." But he has learned the value of playing the game. He sets the example for his teammates day in and day out, which may be one of the reasons why the Senators ambled along to the championship last year and are making a bid for the flag this season. The New York Yankees have several times given striking evidence of what a team of stars can do when the members seek personal glory above team success.

CHESTER-NEWELL TILT CALLED OFF

Manager Barney Bricelin, of Laughlin City Industrial league club today announced that the proposed clash between the Chester and Newell teams, scheduled for tomorrow, had been called off, by agreement of the managers.

Players of both clubs will be out of the city over the week-end.

RACES, BASEBALL AT FAIRGROUNDS

Three race events, under auspices of the Lisbon Driving club, will be run off in the afternoon. There will be a morning baseball game at 10 o'clock and another in the afternoon at 3. The East Liverpool Cardinals will play the Lisbon Independents in the double bill.

Dancing is scheduled for the afternoon hours between 2:30 and 5, and in the evening from 8:30 until 11:30. The Harmony Players of Salem and Lisbon will furnish the music.

SEMI-FINALS ON IN NET TOURNEY

COLUMBUS, O., July 3—Semi-finals were scheduled today in the Ohio State tennis championships on the courts of the East End Tennis club here. Finals will be played off Saturday afternoon.

George Lott, Jr., Chicago champion, was slated to meet Ralph Oster, Cleveland, in the first semi-final in the mens' singles event this afternoon. Julius Sagalowsky, Indianoplis, Ind., was carded against Walter Wirthwein, Columbus.

In the women's singles, Miss Marion Leighton, Chicago, was scheduled to meet Mrs. Thornton Emmons, Columbus, and Miss Clara Zincke, Cincinnati, to meet Miss Virginia Thompson, Columbus.

Four teams will fight to enter the finals in the men's doubles: Lott and Tom McGlynn, Columbus; Walter and Herman Wirthwein, Columbus; Sagalowsky and George Amhyrst, Columbus; and Oster and Bud Tracy, Columbus.

The semi-finalists in the women's doubles will be: Miss Leighton and Mrs. Emmons; Miss Wilson and Miss Thompson; Miss Zincke and Mrs. Fulton, and Mrs. Fressy and Mrs. Slattmeyer.

PACE FEATURES CIRCUIT CARD

NORTH RANDAL, O., July 3.—The Times 2:06 pace, in which a purse of $3,000 has been hung up, was the feature race of the Grand circuit card here today. Other events included the 2:14 and the 2:18 trot.

Robert Direct was favored to win the feature.

Woodrow L. in winning the first heat of 2:10 trot yesterday established a new world's record for the three quarter mile, trotting it in 1:33. However, the next two heats went to Clara Dillon. The 2:12 class trot was won by Crawford, and the 2:14 pace went to Miss Ellen W.

Pick on Yanks.

The other day the Boston Red Sox decided to break a losing streak after going through nine games without tasting victory. And who do you think they picked on. The Yankees!

Which is as it should be, after all in the minds of the Red Sox fans. While Harry Frazee owned the Hub team and was under obligation to the Yankee pilots, the Boston outfit served as a farm for what New York couldn't use in the way of ball players.

SHOW YOUR COLORS JULY 4; RIGHT AND WRONG WAYS OF DISPLAYING FLAG

The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by proper authority. It should be displayed on national and state holidays and on historic and special occasions. The flag should always be raised briskly and lowered ceremoniously.

When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the flag of the United States should be either on the marching right, i. e., the flag's own right, or when there is a line of other flags the flag of the United States may be in front of the center of that line.

When displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, the flag of the United States should be on the right, the flag's own right, and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

When a number of flags are grouped and displayed from staffs, the flag of the United States should be in the center or at the highest point of the group.

Always at the Peak.

When flags of states or cities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the flag of the United States, the national flag should be always at the peak. When flown from adjacent staffs the flag of the United States should be hoisted first. No flag or pennant should be placed above or to the right of the flag of the United States.

When flags of two or more nations are displayed they should be flown from separate staffs of the same height and the flags should be of approximately equal size. (International usage forbids the display of the flag of one nation above that of another in time of peace).

When the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony or front of building, the union of the flag should go clear to the head of the staff unless the flag is at half mast.

Suspend it Vertically.

When the flag of the United States is displayed in a manner other than being flown from a staff it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right; i. e., to the observer's left. When displayed in a window it should be displayed the same way; that it, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street. When festoons, rosettes or drappings of blue, white and red are desired, bunting should be used, but never the flag.

When displayed over the middle of the street, as between buildings, the flag of the United States should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

When used on a speaker's platform, the flag should be displayed above and behind the speaker. It should never be used to cover the speaker's desk nor to drape over the front of the platform. If flown from a staff it should be on the speaker's right.

Its Place in Church.

When used in unveiling a statue or monument, the flag should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but should be carried aloft to wave out, forming a distinctive feature during the remainder of the ceremony.

When the flag is displayed in church it should be from a staff placed at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman. The service flag, the state flag, or other flags should be at the left of the congregation. If in the chancel the flag of the United States should be placed on the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation and other flags on his left.

When the flag is in such condition it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, it should not be cast aside or used in any way that might be viewed as disrespectful to the national colors, but should be destroyed as a whole preferably by burning or by some other method in harmony with the reverence and respect we owe the emblem representing our country.

149 YEARS AGO

In 1776 our forefathers by means of brave sacrifices and patient thrift, gloriously achieved Independence for themselves and for future generations of Americans.

After 149 years, the need for these virtues, especially thrift, is just as pressing as it ever was. An there is no more fitting day than that on which we celebrate American Liberty, to emphasize the necessity to save.

Make this "4th" a glorious one by resolving to save regularly and systematically for the purpose of achieving financial independence for yourself and for your family.

New York Fight Promoters Face Loss As Rain Pours Down

Postponement Would Make Total Expense Nearly Half-Million

Demands of Such Stars as Wills, Greb, Walker, and Slattery, as Well as Others on Card, Make Italian Hospital Benefit Card Most Expensive in Years; Tomorrow Night Only Available Date to Carry Over if Pluvius Doesn't Let up.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Rain may be God-given to the man wandering in the trackless wastes of the Sahara with a long time between drinks, as the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina apropos of nothing in particular. Rain was as welcome as sand in the salad to Humbert J. Fugazy, promoter of the Italian hospital fund boxing show.

It was raining this morning twelve hours before the scheduled start of the Polo grounds extravaganza, featuring Harry Wills and Charley Weinert and Harry Greb and Mickey Walker, among others. Rain, in this case, meant near-ruin.

In the parlance of Broadway, the "nut," meaning the total expenses of the occasion, was nothing short of scandalous. Wills and Weinert, among the leading contenders for the heavyweight title, were due to be paid important money. So were Walker and Greb, respective holders of the welterweight and middleweight championships, with honors in the latter division at stake.

Tomorrow Night Open.

Jimmy Slattery and Dave Shade and Joe Lynch and Jack Sharkey, rounding out one of the finest attractions ever offered the great American public, also were lined up to throw Fugazy behind his own goal line.

But rain was his greatest menace. It meant that a postponement would leave only tomorrow night open for the show, with thousands of dollars in added expenses necessary in order to clear the field of seats before the New York Giants returned to the Stadium for a ball game on Sunday. It meant day and night shifts of workmen, paid at fabulous rates for night and holiday labor.

It meant that the gate would have to run over a half million for Fugazy to get in the clear, provided Charley Stoneham agreed to the postponement in the first place. Stoneham was dead against the original shift from June 19 when Walker sustained a flat tire or something.

Given any reasonable kind of weather however, it was certain that New York planned to respond to the demands of the occasion, at from two to twenty dollars to the individual response. The advance sale today was well over $200,000 and indications pointed to a crowd in excess of 60,000.

Card Carries Promise.

The boys knew "pay dirt" when they saw it.

They knew that Wills, chronic heavyweight challenger, would be in there faced with the necessity of knocking Weinert bowlegged or forever holding his peace. They knew that Walker, shooting at double championship, would carry Greb along at a pace that even this human catamount has seldom known. They knew that Slattery and Shade would uncover a dazzling exhibition for their scheduled six rounds or less.

Wills, Greb and Slattery were the favored entries, the brunette specimen being a unanimous choice over Weinert. The latter may have come back to the professional satisfaction of the megaphone men but he was passe two years ago and cannot be figured to improve with age. He is clever but quite punchless and if he remains, as is, at the end of fifteen rounds with the stronger and heavier Wills, it can mean only one of two things, either Wills is a bust or his fragile hands have played him false.

There was more of a divergence of opinion on Walker and Greb, but the latter got the bigger play, although even money prevailed. Those who liked Greb were influenced by his superior weight and speed; the Walker element based their claims on the belief that 160 pounds ten hours before the fight would weaken Greb, who is alleged to have done some of his road work in front of pursuing gendarmes.

Weigh in at 2 O'clock.

Whatever happens, they formed a more attractive duet than the heavyweights and there was a movement on foot to have this bout go on as the finale, in order that Wills and Weinert might not look, by comparison, worse than they really are.

The chances against a knockout in either fight were so heavy as to be almost ponderous.

Some, however, looked for the sensational Slattery to stop Shade inside of six rounds. In my opinion, he will do very well to win on points.

All of the principals indulged in light exercise this morning, preparatory to the weighing in ceremonies at the commission offices at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Except in the case of Greb, this is a mere formality, the others coming in at catchweights.

The stadium gates will be opened to the cut-rate customers at 6 o'clock and the "welcome" on the doormat was a most sincere invitation to every one with more than $1.99 in the wallet and the inclination to part company with it.

CHURCH TEAMS CONCLUDE HALF

Business Meet Friday in Lutheran Church.

OFFICERS of the Sunday School baseball circuit today announced the completion of the first half schedule.

All clubs will be idle until the middle of the month, when the second half of the schedule will get under way. The second half opening date has been tentatively decided as July 13.

A business meeting of the league will be held on Friday evening in the Lutheran church. Team managers and various other league representatives will attend.

There will be no contests this week.

C. & P. Tossers Take Forfeit

The Wellsville-Trotter City Industrial league clash billed last evening at Central park, Wellsville, was forfeited to the Wellsville nine.

The Trotters failed to put in an appearance for the contest, and the C. & P. tossers were awarded a forfeit victory.

BUCS SET HITTING RECORD

John Fowler's Club Idle; Proposed Trip Is Dropped

Barnstorming Tour of West Virginia Towns Is Called Off at Last Moment.

Difficulties in arranging paying guarantees getting suitable dates, and other troubles have put the skids under a week's baseball tour by John Fowler's East Liverpool club that several weeks ago gave every promise of being one of the best barnstorming trips scheduled this season by the local road team.

As a result, two games scheduled with Parkersburg, one on Saturday, July 4, and the other on July 5, have been called off, contests with Moundsville and Gallipolis have been stricken from the bill, and engagements at St. Mary's on July 11 and 12 have gone by the boards.

Parkersburg first punctured the prospective baseball tourists' tires by cancelling the July 4 and 5 games, asserting that the team has been disorganized and that it had become necessary to rebuild. As a result, the West Virginians stated, not only the games with the locals, but all games up until the middle of July and been cancelled.

And then the St. Mary's club tried to shrink the gurantee originally promised Manager Fowler. These contests were given the go-by with due alacrity. With the Parkersburg and St. Mary's games dropped, the major part of the prospective week's trip was cracked wide open and consequently Fowler called off engagements promised at Gallipolis and Moundsville.

The locals' schedule now is quite blank, the only definite clash in view being that with Charleroi on August 1. No effort had been made to schedule game prior to this week inasmuch as the team was considering the down-river tour. With this out of sight, Fowler's players will be given an enforced rest.

BILL BENEFIT CLASH TODAY

Chester and Wellsville Teams Play at Smith Field.

Frank Riley's Chester Industrial league leaders will clash with the Wellsville C. & P. club this evening at Smith Field, Chester, in the first benefit engagement of the year.

The contest will be played for Infielders Moore and Manning, the former a member of the Chester nine and the latter a C. & P. player. Both were injured in the early part of the season and neither has been able to play since.

All the proceeds of the game will go to the two players.

June Wood In Lisbon Meet

One of the horses that will be featured in the matinee races at the county fair grounds next Saturday afternoon will be June Wood, seven years old, owned and driven by E. O. Cramer, of Canton. June Wood is declared by horsemen to have been one of the best horses entered in the 2:24 pace at the recent meeting at Canton, and it took a share of the money in all the races in which it was entered.

Entries for this meet continue to be received, and it is very likely that about 60 entries will be received before Friday night.

DAYS OF "80'S" CAN'T COMPARE

NEW YORK, July 2.—Making due allowance for the "Rabbit ball" and the fact that modern pitching is not what it might be, there nevertheless seems to be no way of going behind the fact that the Pittsburgh Pirates, taken at the face value of their record to date, are the greatest hitting outfit of several generations, if not of all time. How many points have pitching restrictions and the lively ball added to the average player's hitting? Not more than 50.

Therefore, even the die-hards who still live in "the good old eighties" must concede that a ball club hitting for a team average of .329 on June 24 must have something all others have lacked. The figures quoted just about represent a world's record for this more or less advanced period of the campaign.

Eight Above .335.

All one has to do is cut 50 points off each Pirate's average and then compare the result with those obtained by the great hitting combinations of other years—the old Giants, the old and new Tigers, the old Athletics, etc. The Pirates will continue to show a margin of profit.

A ball club with eight men hitting above .335 could hardly do otherwise. A glance down the lineup tells the story. On June 24 it showed Barnhart hitting .382; Grantham, .369; Earl Smith, .368; Carey, .366; Cuyler, .348; Wright, .348; Traynor, .345, and Moore, .340.

In brief, every regular was getting close to two hits in every five attempts.

Break All Records.

The result was inevitable. The Pirates broke all records for modern scoring during the month of June and in one wild spree of seven days scored the colossal total of 85 runs in seven games—46 of them on successive playing days.

Laughlin Outslugs K. T. K. to Win, 10-9

Collect 14 Bingles Off Sainor; Have Three Big Innings.

Laughlin defeated K. T. K. at Columbian park last evening in a City Industrial league battle marked by activity of the heavy artillery on both sides. The final count was 10 to 9.

Both clubs made three runs in the second inning. The Katies forged to the front with another in the third. Laughlin made four in the fifth and three in the sixth and took the front, and K. T. K., though shoving five over in the seventh, failed to again knot the tally.

Finley tripled in the fifth to the street and a car held up his drive. Quick fielding by Werkheiser caught the runner at the plate. Had the player not been compelled to make all he got this blow, because of its being momentarily out of sight, might have equalized the standing of the teams.

Werkheiser singled in the second and stole second. Reese walked. V. Bailey doubled to left, scoring both runners. Riser singled over second, sending V. Bailey in.

Rariden and C. Coleman were hit by Riser in the second. Shaw ran for Rariden. C. Strobel singled between first and second. N. Canavan lined to Watson who threw low to the plate and Shaw and C. Strobel counted. McShane struck at a wild pitch, his third one, and landed at second as C. Coleman registered, tying the count.

Finley walked in the third. Rariden sacrificed Riser to Reese. C. Strobel singled to middle and Finley counted.

Watson and Tisher opened the fifth with singles. McConnell was safe as Shaw, handling his drive, threw wildly to first. Babb singled, scoring Watson and Tisher. Werkheiser singled, sending in McConnell. Babb came in on Reese's single.

Watson singled in the sixth, Sainor and Tisher's fly. McConnell scored with a triple to left. DeLong scoring McConnell.

Sainor, singling in the seventh, was forced at second by McShane. Shaw doubled. Both scored on Finley's single. Rariden singled. C. Stroble drove to Watson, who threw Finley out at the plate. C. Coleman doubled, scoring Rariden and C. Strobel. N. Canavan lined to Watson, who threw wildly to first and C. Coleman counted.

Never Before a Value Like This

The Super-Six principle, exclusive to Hudson and Essex, is responsible for the largest selling 6-cylinder cars in the world, because it gives results in smooth, brilliant action, reliability and economy never attained by any other type.

This Essex, in all ways, is the finest ever built.

Easier riding and driving, more flexible in performance, handsomer in line and finish, it is also lower in price than ever before. Its success is simply the belief of buyers that it represents the utmost automobile value and satisfaction within hundreds of dollars of the price; and it proceeds entirely from what owners themselves say of Essex.

Hot Campaign Issue

ST. CLAIRSVILLE—A hot dispute over the advisibility of installing traffic lights on Main street—the National road gives promise of becoming the chief issue in the forthcoming campaign here. Autoists oppose the lights. Pedestrians demand them and declare that with out them crossing the street was a hazardous task. Autoists say they are unnecessary as there is virtually no cross-town traffic.

COERCED BY MOTHER-IN-LAW, HE GIVES BRIDE TO BROTHER

LONDON—An extraordinary story by a petitioner for divorce that he was coerced, within a week of marriage, into signing his wife away to his brother, has been the sensation of the present divorce hearings.

The husband, Harold William Beaver, was granted the divorce by Lord Merivale on the ground of his wife's misconduct with his brother, Alfred John Beaver. The chief point of his story was that his mother-in-law was the principal agent in his losing his wife.

Beaver told the court that he was married at the end of December, 1923, when he was 23, and his bride, Phyllis, 19.

Four days after the wedding Beaver found his wife and his brother together in a room.

His brother ordered him out of the room, but some of the other guests came along and turned the brother out of the house.

Beaver said that later Mrs. Mucklow, the mother-in-law, insisted he sign a paper freeing his wife so that she could marry his brother.

The document ran:

"I free my wife on condition that she marries my brother."

"I was quite ignorant," continued Harold Beaver, "that I was doing any wrong. I thought that as my wife seemed to hate me and loved my brother, she would be happier with him."

Spain's total wealth is estimated at $31,000,000,000, of which agriculture accounts for one-third.

ATHENS—The Athens county motorists' organization is sponsoring a movement to open up a new state highway through western Athens county and into Hocking county by way of Laureiville. The territory the proposed road would traverse is one of the wildest and most picturesque in this part of Ohio and much of it is being surveyed for state park purposes.

Today And Tomorrow

"How Big is my baby?" Selina would demand.
"How Big is my man?"

Then little Dirk would stretch his arms wide and squeal, "So-o-o-o Big!"

When he grew to be one of the most correct young men in fashionable society, he returned to his apartment from visiting his mother and questioned himself:

"How Big?"

Mother Love

Chrysler Four Demand So Great That We Must Sell Our Used Cars

CHRYSLER'S latest achievement—the Chrysler Four—The outstanding feature of the automobile world — as a result of the formal showing this past week, we have been literally swamped with cars offered in trade. This is only one way we can successfully keep going—we must sell our used cars — we can only do this by pricing them right.

ROAD BUILDING ON LARGE SCALE

West Virginia's road building program will be launched late this month with the announcement yesterday that $6,000,000 highway bonds had been sold to the Harriman company of New York city. This money will be used for improvements in all sections of the state including the extension of the state road through Hancock county.

Governor Howard M. Gore who recently completed an inspection tour of the state during which he visited every main road will be consulted by the commission in the make up of the program which is one of the most extensive ever planned in the state.

Picnic Plans Progressing.

Plans are being perfected for the annual outing of the employes of the Homer Laughlin China company to be held at Cascade park, New Castle, Pa., Friday, August 7. Special train has been engaged by the committee in charge of the event.

HOLIDAY HOURS AT POSTOFFICE

Holiday hours will be observed Saturday, Independence day, at the Newell post office. Stores and business houses will be closed the greater part of the day while operations will be suspended in all industrial plants.

VACATION TRIPS PLANNED HERE

Number of local people will leave tomorrow for the annual vacation at various places. Some will attend the Atlantic City convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters while others have arranged for a fishing trip to Canada. Number of family outings will be held on July 4 at nearby resorts.

Locals Close Season.

Homer Laughlin China team of the Industrial league closed the first half of the season last evening with the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles squad. The team got off to a bad start and supporters are confident of better results in the second campaign for league honors.

Class Meeting Tonight.

Members of the night school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church met last evening in the parsonage. The lesson was in charge of Rev. J. W. Schrader.

Wool Crop Pooled.

WHEELING — Approximately 250,000 pounds of wool, pooled by eastern Ohio wool growers, have been received at the Wheeling warehouse of the Ohio Wool Growers' Co-Operative association this year, it was announced here today. The same organization, selling through Horkheimer Bros., of this city, has 2,750,000 pounds of wool in storage at the Columbus warehouse.

Imports Increase as Fur Vogue Grows in Popular Favor Here

WASHINGTON, July —Use of furs in women's wearing apparel was chiefly responsible for the $80,000,000 importation of this commodity into the United States last year, according to the Department of Commerce.

Fur trimmings for many articles of feminine dress, as well as the use of furs for the manufacture of top coats, is increasing rapidly in popularity among the modistes of this country, according to officials.

Plea Denied.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE—Judicial notice has been taken here of the hitherto reported fact that wives almost daily ask their husbands for money. Ruling in an action for divorce brought by Mrs. Balbena Roskowski against John Roskowski, of Neffs, Judge W. W. Cowen held that the mere fact that a husband or wife asked the other for money did not constitute grounds for divorce. Mrs. Roskowski had contended that Roskowski liked her money and real estate far better than he did her. The plea was denied.

To Vote on Franchise.

CHILLICOTHE—Voters here are to be asked to decide next autumn whether the franchise recently granted E. F. Bearce for supplying light and power in this city shall be approved. Bearce obtained the franchise against opposition of the Ohio Power company and the Scioto Valley Railway and Power company, on a guarantee of lower rates.

A WORD FOR BEGINNERS.

The best way to solve a cross-word puzzle is to run quickly over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms and compare them to the spaces in the puzzle extending crosswise or downward from the number of the synonym. Some word which will just fit in the number of space available will quickly occur to you in some instances, giving you a foundation from which to solve the more difficult words. The words must interlock perfectly.

Seven Classes Barred From Membership in Russ Labor Unions

PRAGUE, July—The Central committee of the Russian Labor Unions has published a list of the people who are forbidden to belong to any labor union. This deprivation is a very serious thing in Russi, because membership in a union carries with it many privileges.

The holder of a union card is favored in such matters as payment of rent and taxes, social insurance and out-of-work doles. The list of forbidden categories includes the following classes: Concesionaries, executives in capitalistic enterprises who have the right to hire and discharge labor, independent artisans, monks and priests of all denominations, former officers in the White Army, persons formerly employed in the Tsarist Police department, persons convicted of capital crimes and deprived of civil rights.

Held for Grand Jury.

NELSONVILLE, July.—Charles and Sherman Ball, who, it is charged, set off a charge of dynamite in the mouth of an old coal mine just as dry law enforcing officers were entering the mine, were held for the grand jury. The raiders said they were almost sealed up in the mine by the explosion. They reported they found four stills in the shaft.

Spanish coal mining is prospering under tariff protection.

This is No. 3 of a series of advertisements by the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) designed to tell Ohioans about their interesting State and encourage them to see more of it.

Where Perry Fought

Spend the "Fourth" along Sandusky Bay

The spirit of the "Glorious Fourth" suggests a visit to the scene of the Battle of Lake Erie, victoriously waged by Oliver Hazard Perry to make secure the independence we celebrate. Patriotic Ohio motorists will enjoy Put-in-Bay—easily reached by ferries from Sandusky—and the classic memorial to the doughty Commodore who sent forth the famous message "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

Along the breeze-swept shores of Sandusky Bay stand other monuments marking ancient forts and stirring deeds that swayed our nation's destiny. The rocks of Kelley's Island, a few miles off-shore, bear some of the world's most remarkable glacial grooves.

Newby, also, are two of Ohio's most popular vacation spots. Cedar Point provides wonderful fresh water bathing and countless added attractions that beckon the tourist to its mammoth hotels. And Lakeside, a famous religious encampment known as the "Chautauqua of the Great Lakes."

In most of the towns along your way you will find familiar Standard Oil Service Stations where helpful road information is as easily available as are the reliable products of this Ohio corporation. Those in Sandusky and Port Clinton will supply local directions for reaching the interesting places mentioned above.

Man Hunt Postponed.

ELYRIA, July.—Man hunters cannot conduct a man hunt when there is nothing to hunt, Sheriff Fred Underhill has decided. As a result he called off the two deputies who had been sent to search woods near South Lorain for an alien who, it was reported, had carried off a young girl. No child was missing, it developed.

TWO DRINKS that celebrate one day

Clicquot Club Ginger Ale, Regular, is the dashing, full-flavored, martial beverage that is celebrating its fortieth glorious Fourth. Clicquot Club Pale Dry gives you the subtle exhilaration of a milder, drier drink, with a delicacy of flavor that is still real ginger ale. ¶ Each is blended with that just right quantity and quality of pure water and pure fruit flavors that properly sets off the tingling refreshment of real ginger ale. ¶ It takes time to make as good a ginger ale as Clicquot Club. It takes that subtle, artful skill in blending that has produced the drink that first taught America what real ginger ale tastes like. ¶ Here it is—Clicquot Club Ginger Ale, in two flavors, with two full glasses in every pint bottle, with the one ingredient that no one else can put into bottles—the forty years of knowing how to make good drinks the Clicquot Club way. Inevitable Gradualness.
He Read Nietzsche. Bang?
Must the Strike Come?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

N. H. Sloane, manager of the California Development association, wires:

"Authentic reports indicate this is a local isolated slip with no recurrence probable for many years. Reconstruction has already started and local situation will return to normal promptly."

Intelligent men know that earthquakes, like high winds, floods, outbreaks of disease, may happen anywhere. Owners of the great Equitable building in New York city have put a $2,000,000 policy against earthquakes on their building, and the Woolworth building in New York seeks a $5,000,000 earthquake policy.

Go to California, which is the world's finest summer resort, and don't let earthquakes worry you.

Bolshevist leaders suspect that you can't go upstairs two flights at a time. What Sidney Webb, distinguished British Socialist, calls the "inevitability of gradualness," dawns upon them.

Things must come gradually, and the bigger they are, the more slowly their gradual advance, usually.

The glacier moves, but you hardly see it moving. A great nation like Russia may have a violent explosion, but can't move 120,000,000 peasants, living in their 200,000 little villages suddenly overnight, in the name of Marx, Lenin and Trotsky, from semi-Asiatic medievalism to a communist Utopia.

Russia, talking about paying what she owes France, invites, and even implores American capital to come and make itself at home. She wants people to make money in Russia and her people can have some of the money.

Individual human beings sometimes seem to mount the entire ladder at a jump. The thing doesn't last. Napoleon went up and landed upon St. Helena. Caesar was knifed by his best friends. Trotzky knows how that feels. Alexander the Great conquered the world, but could not conquer Alexander.

He killed his best friend and his dissipations killed him.

"Slow and sure," is old fashioned. But old fashions rule modern men.

Jack Greenwald, stock clerk, only 21, spent the evening reading Nietzsche, then killed himself. Greenwald might still be a useful stock clerk had he read Nietzsche's life, before read-

ATTORNEY RETIRES AS AFTERMATH OF STORMY BOARD MEETING MONDAY

Resignation, Submitted in Form of Note to Clerk, Is Accepted Without Comment by Fellow Members Who Defer Action Upon Selection of Successor for Two Weeks.

Superintendent-elect Charles S. McVay of New Philadelphia Appeals for Co-operation and Discusses Plans for Fall Term as F. P. Geiger, His Predecessor, Visits Tuscarawas County.

Resignation of Attorney Jason H. Brookes, president of the board of education for three and one-half years, effective immediately, was presented to the board of education, last night, as an aftermath of Monday's stormy session.

The resignation, submitted in a note through Emmett J. Gaston, clerk-treasurer, was accepted without comment. Brookes' successor will be named at the next meeting.

Brookes' retirement is believed to have been prompted by his colleagues' action last Monday in granting the request of the Ministerial association to use the public school buildings during school hours for classes in religious education, beginning with the fall term in September, together with other issues, which developed at the meeting. President Brookes was the only member of the board who opposed the pastors' plan, contending the proposal was not for the best interests of the public school system.

Sponsored "Pay-as-You-Go" Plan.

Through the efforts of Brookes, who became a member of the board at a time when the schools were threatened with closing because of the lack of funds, the board adopted a "pay-as-you-go" system. By drastic retrenchment, the schools were kept open for the nine-month term. During the three and one-half years he has served, more than $75,000 worth of school debt has been liquidated.

Brookes' term would have expired on Dec. 31. Several months ago he announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election. His successor will fill out the unexpired term.

Superintendent-elect Charles S. McVay of New Philadelphia, who was named to succeed F. P. Geiger, last Monday, attended the board meeting. He discussed matters in general, particularly pertaining to the vacancies in the faculty which must be filled before the fall term opens. Geiger, who goes to New Philadelphia in McVay's place, was in that city last night attending the school board session.

Board Pledges Co-operation

"I ask for the hearty co-operation of the board of education in my work in East Liverpool," said McVay. "I

LIQUOR SLEUTH BADLY BEATEN

Four Warrants Issued After Attack on Benjamin James.

Charges of assault with intent to kill have been filed against four East Liverpool men by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott, as the result of a brutal attack, alleged to have been made upon Benjamin James, 48, a detective, recently employed by the police in seeking evidence against liquor violators.

Upon evidence, alleged to have been obtained by James and another private operative, the police, over the last week-end, arrested nine alleged prohibition law violators upon charges of selling intoxicating liquors. James and another man were walking along the railroad track near the Golding & Sons flint mill at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when they were accosted by eight men, four of whom he recognized. His companion fled and hid in the weeds along the river front when James was attacked.

The assailants are alleged to have kicked and beaten James into insensibility after which they fled. He was taken to his home where he received medical attention.

10 INJURED AS NEW QUAKE HITS SANTA BARBARA

Considerable Property Damage Done by Second Tremor.

ADDS TO TERROR

Shock Rocks Every Portion of Stricken City.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 3.—A fourth violent earthquake shook Santa Barbara at 10:45 o'clock this morning. Bricks and rocks fell to the ground from buildings partly demolished by previous tremors.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal.—At least 10 persons were injured and considerable property damage was done by a second earthquake which brought new terror and disaster to stricken Santa Barbara today.

The shock, coming at 8:38 o'clock, rocked every portion of the city. Whether persons in the residential districts and outlaying sections have been killed or injured is unknown.

The shock appeared to have centered near the Carrillo hotel and that structure and a fire station across the street were violently shaken.

The walls rocked forward and backward in huge waves but did not completely fall.

White-faced men and women poured into the streets as the tremor shook the city, but a few seconds after the earth movements had stopped, comparative quiet prevailed and the work of caring for the injured was started.

SCORES CONFLICT

President Draws Object Lesson in Cambridge Speech.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—From the life and teachings of the immortal Washington, President Coolidge today drew an object lesson and directed it to the war-torn, wrangling peoples of Europe—a lesson that the permanent progress of civilization can be predicated only on faith and co-operation, not in conflict.

The financial and economic salvation of the old world, he asserted, lies in recourse to arbitration and acceptance of judicial determination, based upon mutual forbearance and good faith.

Urges Mutual Covenants.

"If the people of the old world are mutually distrustful of each other," President Coolidge said, "let them enter into mutual covenants for their mutual security, and when such covenants have been made let them be solemnly observed, no matter what the sacrifice."

It was from the same spot where, just a century and a half ago, George Washington assumed command of the Continental army that the President spoke. He had come to join in commemorating this epochal event, and fittingly he chose the policies and characteristics of the father of the country—one who "cherished no resentments, harbored no hatred, forgave his enemies"—to drive home his moral.

STEUBENVILLE PAPER IS SOLD

L. H. Brush and Roy Moore Purchase Herald-Star.

STEUBENVILLE, July 3.—It was announced here today that Louis H. Brush and Roy D. Moore, owners of the Marfion Star, East Liverpool Review-Tribune and the Salem News, had purchased the Steubenville Herald-Star from Charles D. Simeral and his associates.

The Herald-Star is one of the two oldest newspapers in Ohio, established in 1806. In 1814 the property was sold to James Wilson, grandfather of the late President Woodrow Wilson, and later to J. J. Gill, who formerly owned the Columbus Dispatch which he sold to the present owners.

The acquisition by Brush and Moore was made known in the Herald-Star today by the following brief announcement over their signatures:

"The Steubenville Herald-Star has been purchased from Charles D. Simeral and his associates. The new owners will endeavor to serve the Herald-Star readers and the Steubenville community as loyally and energetically as sincere efforts can make possible."

WAS DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE SIGNED ON JULY 4? NO, IS ANSWER; "LIBERTY BELL" MYTH INVENTED 50 YEARS AFTER, NOVELIST SAYS

When was the Declaration of Independence adopted and signed? If you answer July 4, 1776 as you will, then you're WRONG.

What is popularly known as the Declaration of Independence was signed August 2, 1776. But the document was headed "In congress, July 4, 1776," and thus we celebrate that day.

A resolution declaring "that these colonies are, and of right out to be, free and independent States, was offered by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia in the Continental Congress on June 7, 1776, and adopted July 2. That was the famous Declaration of Independence.

On July 2, the same day Lee's resolution was adopted, the preamble was taken up for consideration in committee of the whole. Consideration of it lasted until July 4, when after some pruning, the preamble as drafted by Thomas Jefferson, was adopted. The vote was taken by states as usual, and no record was made of the action of individual members,, although it is known that there were adverse votes.

On July 19 a resolution was adopted that the declaration should be engrossed on parchment and signed by every member of congress. This engrossed copy was ready on August 2, and the members then present appended their signatures.

The list of signers includes those who were opposed when it was adopted on July 2, it omits some of those who supported it, and includes some who did not become members of congress until after July 4, 1776. One of the signers did not take his seat until Nov. 4, 1776. In fact, more than a fourth of those who signed the document August 2 did not take part in the proceedings when the declaration was adopted.

Moreover, the list of signers as it now stands was not completed until after Jan. 18, 1777. On that date congress ordered that an authenticated copy be sent to all states, and that copy settled the date of the celebration everywhere as July 4.

The news of the adoption did not become known to the general public until July 9, 1776, and it was then celebrated in Philadelphia. Battalions paraded on the common, and "shot up the town," notwithstanding the scarcity of powder. Speeches were made and wine flowed.

And now we come to something important, in light of present tradition.

"No Liberty Bell."

The "Liberty Bell" probably rang that day, because all of the bells in town did, but "Liberty Bell" did not ring as a particular signal of the signing, and it was not cracked in doing so. No attention was paid to the bell at the time. It was 50 years before it became famous.

The "Liberty Bell" tradition we owe to one George Lippard, a novelist of the eighteen thirties. The myth surrounding it is effectually punctured by Henry J. Ford, emeritus professor of politics at Princeton, in an article in the American Mercury of November, 1924.

Lippard was no more truthful than Parson Weems, to whose imagination we owe the incomparable story about George Washington and the cherry tree.

"Liberty Bell" did not "peal out notes of liberty" on July 4, 1776, and it was only one of numerous bells that rang at the celeoration on July 9, 1776.

Both, however, are merely symbols of a great occurrence, and it really doesn't matter whether the tradition surrounidng them is entirely true. The fact remains that the Declaration of Independence marked a new chapter in the history of the world.

'SAFE AND SANE' FOURTH URGED BY FIRE CHIEF

LISTS "DON'TS"

An appeal for a "safe and sane" observance of Independence Day was voiced today by Fire Chief Thomas Bryan on the eve of the 149th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Two days in all the year, which every good American would keep unmarred by trouble and accident are the very ones most often selected by the fire demon for his unwelcome visits, according to the fire department head. They are Christmas and the Fourth of July.

For the Fourth—always the day of days for the American youth—is still the day of fires for firemen.

"Due to the growth of the 'safe and sane' movement," Chief Bryan said, "East Liverpool along with the rest of the country has gone some distance on the way to a fireless Fourth.

"Every year shows up a little better than the preceding one, but there is still plenty of room for improvement in the country at large. A report from the National Board of Fire Underwriters shows that fire crackers and fireworks destroyed about three quarters of a million dollars worth of property annually, and last year a number of lives were lots in celebrating the Fourth in various parts of the country. So it will be seen that Independence Day observances are by no means fully sane or fully safe.

"Avoid using cheap toy cannons, pistols, etc., in which powder charges or cartridges are used. Much of the Fourth of July loss for a period of years is due to these devices.

"If a fire-cracker or other noise making device fails to explode, wait before investigating, otherwise it may explode suddenly and take part of you with it.

"Finally,' the chief concluded, "everybody should know how to treat burns and be equipped to do so. Here is the proper treatment based on American Red Cross recommendations:

"If a burn is severe, summon medical aid, lose no time waiting but remove sufferer from direct draft. Make a strong solution of baking soda and luke warm water. Soak cotton cloth or gauze in this solutio and cover affected parts. Keep them thoroughly drenched with this mixture.

"Better still, if there is available any kind of pure oil, salad, sweet, castor, raw linseed or even cod liver oil, cover affected parts with it.

If your clothing catches on fire, do not run, drop to the floor and wrap a rug around. Try to beat out flames being careful to protect the hands.

"If someone else's clothing catches on fire, wrap or throw woolen rug or blanket around them and smother flames."

Display Old Glory, Is Legion Appeal To Citizens Here

"Display Old Glory tomorrow!"

This was the appeal made today by officers of East Liverpool Post No. 4 American Legion, especially to down town merchants, who have purchased the sidewalk flags and standards, recently distributed by the post.

Because of a delay in the receipt of a second order of flags, the uniform decoration, sponsored by the Legion, could not be completed before the Fourth. However, merchants who were among the first to have their orders filled are urged to observe the day by displaying their flags.

Washington Torch Fired World, Says Nation's Leader

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—"Washington, the youth of 22, the commander whose order proved the torch to set a world on fire."

The president was speaking of that day in July, 1754, when the young Washington led a band of Virginians to the western frontier to protest against French aggressions. The differences failed of amicable settlement, a skirmish took place and the French commander was killed.

"So came the seven years' war and the establishment of British domination in North America," said the president. "A little later came the American revolution, the French revolution and the Napoleonic wars."

any encouragement for a disposition to attempt to finance a revival of Europe," he asked. "The world has tried war with force and has utterly failed. The only hope of success lies in peace with justice. No other principle conforms to the teaching of Washington; no other standard is worthy of the spirit of America; no other course marks so much promise for the regeneration of the world."

Promises Moral Support.

Although Mr. Coolidge reiterated the determination of the United States to remain aloof from entangling foreign alliances, he promised the governments of Europe the fullest moral support of his administration in backing up all covenants looking to reestablishment of "international faith and credit."

"While our country should refrain from making political commitments where it does not have political interests, such covenants would always have the moral support of our government and could not fail to have the commendation of the public opinion of the world," he said.

Coupled with his "appeal to reason" to Europe, the president delivered an eulogy of Washington. Declaring Washington to be "the first lay citizen of the world of all time," Mr. Coolidge traced the career of Washington with particular attention to the many-sidedness of his character. Statesman and diplomatist, soldier, business genius and humanitarian, he paid tribute to the greatness of Washington in each field of activity.

am going to work in the interests of the boys and girls here and with your help I am sure our schools will be a success. I will always have the best interests of the East Liverpool schools at heart in my work."

Four vacancies in the high school faculty and several places in the elementary schools are to be filled prior to September. McVay was instructed to seek a teacher for the proposed classes in vocational training and another for the part time schools which will be conducted during the coming term.

While he will not officially assume his duties here until September 1, McVay probably will move to East Liverpool about August 1, to be in close touch with conditions for a few weeks prior to the opening of the schools. He asked permission of the board to attend their meetings during the summer months to acquaint himself with the work here. This request was granted as the board members pledged their co-operation.

A petition signed by approximately 175 residents of West End was received, asking that Miss Margaret Roach be retained as an elementary teacher next fall. The board which has already filled her place voted to file the petition without acting upon the request.

School Enumerator's Report.

Clerk Gaston reported a bank balance of $42,365.90 on hand June 31. Coal dealers were asked to submit bids for the furnishing of coal for school buildings next fall. The board indicated that the order would be divided among several dealers.

Joseph Hughes, utility man for the board of education, was instructed to have the three furnaces at the Pleasant Heights school relined and install a fourth heating unit in the building. By adding another furnace, the overheating of the three other furnaces in severe weather will be avoided.

Report of W. C. Dickey, school enumerator, showed 5,042 children within the school age to be residents of the district.

The enrollment, by building districts follows: Garfield, 380; Central, 479; Dixonville, 37; Gardendale, 30; Glenmor, 141; Grant, 229; High school, 622; Horace Mann, 372; Klondyke, 186; Lincoln, 339; McKinley, 272; Maplewood, 134; Neville, 338; parochial, 251; Pleasant Heights, 342; Sixth street, 334; Third stret, 78; Trentvale, 68; Walkers, 92; Washington, 219; West End, 99.

THRONG CHEERS U. S. CHIEFTAIN

Between 200,000 and 300,000 at Celebration in Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3—With president and Mrs. Coolidge as guests of honor and under smiling skies, the historic city of Cambridge today celebrated the 150th anniversary of that memorable day when George Washington stood under the great elm tree on Cambridge common, and formally took command of the Continental army.

The university city was ablaze with color and from 200,000 to 300,000 visitors and residents packed the streets as the presidential party left Swampscott by motor to head a long parade, which had formed on Walker Memorial drive, opposite the group of buildings of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

At 1:45 o'clock (daylight time) this afternoon President and Mrs. Coolidge rode into Cambridge.

A salute of 21 guns fired by a battery of field artillery and the applause of thousands greeted the executive and his wife as their motor cavalcade drove up before the M. I. T. buildings from Swampscott.

Crowds along the route from Swampscott, who had recognized the President and his wife, cheered and applauded them.

The honored guest and his wife had been assigned places at the head of the 10,000 marchers. Many floats in line gave a colorful touch to the procession.

Meanwhile, a watch was kept for the navy dirigible Shenandoah, which was reported winging her way from Lakehurst, N. J., enroute to the conference of governors at Bar Harbor, Me.

Massachusetts avenue, famous artery of the north, blazed with color from Harvard bridge, starting point of the big parade, to beyond Harvard university and the site of the Washington elm, where a historical episode, representing Washington taking command of the army and a speech of eulogy by president Coolidge were to take place.

The order of events for the celebration, all on daylight saving time, follows:

10:30 a. m.—Patriotic airs on the chimes of Christ church.

11 a. m.—Bishop Lawrence preaches for fifteen minutes at Christ church, using prayers for the president taken from prayer books of Washington's time.

11:30 a. m. to Noon—Chimes playing at Christ church

1:50 p. m. — President and Mrs. Coolidge arrive greeted by salute of 21 guns.

1:00 to 2:00 p. m.—Parade forms on Memorial Drive opposite technology.

3:30 p. m.—Pageant and historical features on Cambridge Common, reviewed by president. Historical episode representing Washington taking command of the American army.

4:20 p. m.—Singing by Cambridge school children.

4:30 p. m. — President's address. Will be broadcast by radio stations WEEI, WNAC and WBZ.

6:00 p. m.—Dinner by city of Cambridge to its guests in Memorial hall, Harvard university

The pageant and president's address follow the parade and will be governed by the time the parade takes in passing over its route

Free Methodists' Camp Meeting is Formally Opened

With a crowd which nearly filled the large tabernacle tent, the annual Free Methodist camp meeting opened last evening on the camp ground on the Anderson boulevard road, just beyond the city limits.

In the absence of Rev. F. L. Baker of Bay City, Mich., field agent for the missionary board, who will assist in the meetings, the opening service was in charge of District Elder Rev. J. Paul Foy of this city. The speaker briefly discussed plans for this year's ten-day series of meetings.

The opening service today was a holiness prayer service at 6:30 a. m. The morning preaching service was conducted by Rev. R. N. Large, pastor of the Martin's Ferry Free Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Baker is expected to arrive here today and will preach his first sermon tonight. Saturday and Sunday are expected to prove big days for the camp meeting.

Campers are present from all parts of the Rochester district.

Ample parking accommodations are available on the grounds for automobiles.

ing Nietzsche's pessimistic, high-falutin' theories.

Nietzsche went crazy, which was the natural result of such thinking as he did. For a stock clerk of 21 to read Nietzsche is like giving "high" game to a small infant. It takes preliminary thought to enjoy and see the humor in Herr Nietzsche, his serpent, lion, man dancing on the tight rope, and his adoration of the over-man.

It would have been a great thing, perhaps, for the German kaiser, as well as for that young stock clerk, had Nietzsche never lived.

A great coal strike threatens here as a similar strike threatens England. Mr. Lewis, leader of coal miners, and owners of mines should think it over carefully.

To force a strike when the people are willing to pay a fair price for coal based on fair wages, is folly, and the intelligence of organized money should find a way to prevent it.

To lead thousands of men and their families into a strike, to last, perhaps, through the winter, if any way out can be found, would be cruel folly.

Coal mining work is hard and dangerous. Five hundred miners are killed, more than 20,000 injured every year. Every coal mine worker, within seven years, in the regular course of his work, will be either killed or injured. The richest country in the world should not begrudge generous pay to men that do such work and take such risks.

The man responsible for the success of the coal miners' union knows that this is not the best time for strikes, and he will avoid this strike, if in any just way it can be done.

Barney Gibney, dead at 69, lies in a coffin made from the mahogany bar of the saloon he once owned in Alaska. That's what you might call appropriate, for many a man undoubtedly purchased failure and death with one elbow on that bar and one foot on the rail below it—as many a poor creature is now buying death from the bootlegger.

Whatsoever you may think about prohibition, you are glad to know that every elaborate bar in the country can be bought for the price of old lumber.

Wonderful energy in French women; the history of France and men that French women have created, prove it.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen proves it also, although unfortunately she isn't married yet, as she ought to be. In England yesterday she played against Kathleen McKane, and beat that esteemed champion female "Nordic" 6-0 and 6-0.

Those that think that all real energy is monopolized by the Nordic race should devote a moment's thought to that Latin young lady, Suzanne Lenglen, champion of the world.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 3.—The market was unsettled at the outset today by the failure and suspension of an important stock exchange house, for the account of which there was a considerable volume of selling. Stewart Warner dorpped nearly 7 points on the first transaction of 1500 shares at 60, but rallied to 64½ in the first period. American Can, and General Motors sold off a point or more at the opening, and most of the oil and railroad stocks were reactionary at the start.

The market was called on in the early trading to absorb a considerable volume of profit taking, particularly in industrial and specialty stocks which have been advancing in good form in the last week or so. Baldwin, United States Steel, General Motors, Studebaker and other motor stocks sold at concessions of a point or two from yesterday's closing levels, while low priced rails and specialty stocks receded fractionally from former values.

Week-end call loans were made at 4¾ per cent and the money situation appeared easier, despite the fact that the New York Federal Reserve bank's reserves showed a decline of about 5½ per cent as compared with the previous week. Holiday conditions prevailed in the outside markets and price changes were narrow.

Q. Has baseball always been a nine-inning game? C. M.

A. At first it was a game of points, the victory going to the side first scoring 21 counts or aces. An equal number of "hands" were necessary however. These rules were adopted in 1846. In 1857 the rules were changed, providing for a nine-inning game, but allowing a victory to the club leading at the end of five innings.

Q. What does "Tacoma" mean? T. W.

A. It is an Indian word and means "the highest" or "near heaven."

Q. How many kinds of airplanes are used in the army and navy? S. H.

A. In the navy there are nine types, designated by different letters. In the army there are 23.

Q. Are there wild boars in this country? G. D.

A. The National Zoological Park says that there are no native wild boars in either the United States or Canada living in the wild state. However, specimens of these animals were brought to this country and placed in a game preserve in New Hampshire for exhibition purposes. From Texas southward there is found a type of wild swine.

A. The North Star, or Polaris, is not exactly at the north pole of the heavens and consequently travels around it in a small circle. While this motion is not perceptible to the unaided eye, it can be readily noticed by observing it through the telescope of an engineer's transit.

Q. Has a bat eyes? T. J. A.

A. The brain and nervous system of bats are comparatively low in organization, but their sensory faculties are remarkably developed in adaptation to their crepuscular and nocturnal habits. "As blind as a bat" is a mistaken simile. All have efficient eyes, those of the Oriental fruit-eating sorts being of a size natural to their foxlike countenances. In our more familiar insect-eating species they are likely to be small, bead-like and nearly hidden in the very soft fur with which these animals are clothed; and old English and German names, "flitting mice," were not bad ones.

Q. What is the largest summer resort hotel in the United States. C. A.

A. The Traymore at Atlantic City is said to be the largest.

Q. How many men have been poets-laureate of England? P. S.

Q. What is gumbo file? W. T. G.

A. It is a powder made by drying sassafras and bay leaves, then grinding them.

Q. Where does Moira O'Neil, the poet, live? D. D.

A. She lives in County Wexford, Ireland.

Q. When was the Welland Ship Canal started? M. P.

A. Construction was commenced in 1913. Of the $100,000,000 estimated total cost, over $5,000,000 has been used up to March, 1925.

Q. Are the clothes moths we see about the house at times the insects that destroy fabrics and furs? E. S. C.

A. These moth millers have imperfectly developed mouth parts and sired. Their purpose in life is merely could not feed upon fabrics if they do to lay eggs that develop into the worms or larvae which alone can cause destruction.

Q. What is the strongest structural material known, per pound? D. H.

A. The bureau of standards says that duralumin is.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1925.

Resignation of J. H. Brookes

The resignation of Attorney J. H. Brookes as a member and president of the board of education of the East Liverpool school district, which was submitted at last night's session, came as a surprise to the public, although intimate friends of the retiring board chieftain had been advised during the past few days that he contemplated the action.

Announcement of his retirement was conveyed in a note to the clerk of the board, who, in turn, referred it to the other members for consideration. The resignation was accepted without comment.

Although no reference was made to it, the presumption is that Mr. Brookes' resignation is an aftermath of the stormy session last Monday night over the adoption of the Ministerial association's proposal to use the public school buildings during school hours next fall for religious instruction, and other issues. M. Brookes, lone handed, opposed the pastors' plan.

Few men have taken a deeper interest in school affairs than Mr. Brookes. Qualified in every respect for the important duties of a board of education member, he played no small part in placing the district schools upon a stable basis. He gave serious attention to the problems responsible for the rather chaotic conditions prevailing when he was chosen. And by reason of his efforts and the co-operation of his fellow members, economy has been the keynote of the administration since he assumed the reins more than three years ago. Through economical reforms and the approval of an additional tax levy by the electorate, for which he and his co-workers appealed, there has been a noticeable improvement in the financial status of the schools. In fact, during the period in which he has served, the school board has liquidated a bonded indebtedness of approximately $75,000, while the old hand-to-mouth existence methods are but a memory.

Mr. Brookes, while not infallible, is sincere. His sole interest in seeking school board membership, in which he was supported by the rank and file of the community who long have recognized his professional ability as well as his thorough knowledge of municipal, district, county and state problems, was to further the cause of education. All his efforts have been directed toward more educational advantages for the sons and daughters of East Liverpool parents without additional burdens upon the taxpayers. And he was prompted by unselfishness in every action.

East Liverpool is indeed fortunate in having a citizen of the sterling character and splendid ability of J. H. Brookes. His resignation is a loss to the board of education and the people of the school district.

The Fourth In 1800

National observance of the Fourth of July certainly has degenerated. An "Independence Day Ode" published in 1800 in the Farmers' Museum in Massachusetts gives a vivid picture of the celebrations of those times.

"Squeak the fife and beat the drum,
Independence Day is come!
Let the roasting pig be bled,
Quick twist off the rooster's head,
Quickly rub the pewter platter,
Heap the nut cakes fried in butter,
Set the cups and beaker glass,
The pumpkin and the apple sauce.
Sal, put on your russel skirt,
Jetham, get your boughten shirt,
Today we dance to tiddle-tiddle——
Thus we dance and thus we play,
On glorious Independence Day."

Perhaps the golf and parades and picnics and public speeches and dances and crowds in swimming and toy balloons and ice cream cones and fireworks of our current celebrations wouldn't sound time if they were set forth in such glowing verse.

Liberian Rubber

Rubber is to be grown in Liberia. Harvey Firestone, the American tire manufacturer, has been experimenting with a plantation there and finds that the soil and climate are favorable to the rubber plant, so plans are bing made for its cultivation on a big scale.

This is one of the many moves taken by the American rubber and tire industries to overcome the handicap caused by British monopoly of rubber production in the East Indies. The cost of crude rubber lately has been five times as high as it was a couple of years ago, chiefly because of artificial control of production and prices by British interests. There are doubtless many other parts of the world where rubber can be produced, and many sources of rubber other than the plants hitherto used for that purpose.

In the long run, this temporary corner in rubber, said to cost the American people something like $300,000,000 a year, will be a good thing, through its forced broadening of the area of supply and its stimulation of new output. It will be a good thing for Liberia, too, if that country, hitherto a political and economic failure, can develop into a thriving center of rubber production, thereby justifying its name and proving itself of some use to the world.

Russia, says a Soviet representative, is the only power that is not in debt. Meaning, no doubt, the only power that has repudiated its debts.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 3.—Thoughts and sights while strolling around New York: What's become of the Panama hat? And the hoof-and-mouth disease? Or do you care for them? There's a gentleman — pardon our pointing—who owes me a tenner. And he's trying to discover something interesting in a window. The Columbus complex. A sweltering day.

Sidney Howard, who won the Pulitzer play prize. A coffee colored auto with a snare drum warning signal. The gray haired carriage starter at Tiffany's. Who bows like a court chamberlain. A pony and cart. But advertising something.

Pie at soda fountains. The brushing of luxury and poverty. A Japanese dental parlor. A famous stable now a tea room—where patrons eat in stalls. Old men making toys. I like to walk down hill. Makes me feel spry. An orthopedic home with a row of inmates out front. Staring glassily.

Wonder if I'll ever land here? A weary horse with its head across its mate's neck. Desolate warehouses. Every time I come over here I get the creeps but I can't stay away. Children swarming around ice wagons like flies around a molasses barrel.

Back to the flair of Park Avenue. Tubbed dwarf trees. Cool elegance of marbled halls and court fountains. News photographers clicking fashion's parade. Strolling Brummels. One in sandals and pink socks. Pish! Another pish. Making two pishes in all.

Eighteen mamas, according to an inspired p. a., gather at a certain stage door nightly for their twinkling toed daughters of the footlights to escort them home and thus avoid the dangerous pitfalls of a big city. I dropped around to behold this display of motherly devotion. You guessed it. I didn't see them. I saw four young men waiting in stunty roadsters.

On Second Avenue is perhaps the last of the tattoo parlors that used to thrive so successfully on the Bowery. It is two flights up and is presided over by a Chinese whose face is shriveled like an apricot. He offered to tattoo a bird or clasped hands for a dollar. A small butterfly for 50 cents. He said most of his customers were sailors or young men who worked on river craft. He had a white wife who peeked from behind curtains like a frightened bird.

A former Chinatown detective, by the way, tells me he never knew but one white woman among the many to cast their lot with Chinese who ever returned to her race. He says that opium addiction almost invariably claims them. They dress in Oriental fashion and talk pidgeon English after a few years. In a time they are willing to live in the underground warrens of squalor. Their skin becomes dry and leathery and their hands prehensile and like bird's claws. After a raid once one was brought into the sunlight of Mott Street and she screamed with pain. She had lived so long in the dark that light caused her excruciating agony. He says the only thing of which they may be certain is the fidelity of their companions. He did not know of a single case where a Chinese had ever deserted a white woman but in return for this loyalty she must remain a shuttered prisoner—the only freedom from bondage being a daily supply of poppy.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Huck and Tom in Bronze.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.—Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn are to be immortalized in bronze. Their lives so far as their brilliant creator has seen fit to record them, may be said to have impressed themselves upon the world.

With an idea of honoring these child characters of literature, three citizens of Hannibal, Missouri, the home of Mark Twain, have donated funds necessary for the erection of a monument to them on the spot where so many of their adventures began. The donors are Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mahan and their son Dulany.

The monument is to be erected at the foot of Cardiff hill, famed spot in American literature. This hill rises above Hannibal at the north end of Second street. It is now known as Holliday's hill—so-called because of a family of that name once lived there—or Main Street Heights. The latter appellation is more popular.

It is high and precipitous and from its summit one may survey the town beaneth and miles of surrounding country. This prospect includes the Mississippi on one side, with the Illinois flats and hills in the distance, and on the other the Missouri hills which roll away to the horizon and disappear in a blue line.

It was on the Cardiff hill that Tom and Huck, to say nothing of Joe Harper and all the rest of the gang, planned to become robbers, pirates, Indians, treasure hunters and all manner of thrilling persons. Also it was on this hill that much of the action of the book, Tom Sawyer, took place.

One block from the foot of the hill is the home of Mark Twain. This is a two-story frame dwelling and many tourists annually sign their names in a register now kept there. The wooded heights of the hill must have proven especially inviting to the boy who was destined to become the world's greatest humorist. It must have been a fitting setting for his dreams because he well might imagine, when gazing out on the country beneath, that he was overlooking the whole world.

Its fascination is reflected in Mark Twain's Autobiography, recently published, when he says, "I can remember the drowsy and inviting summer sounds that used to float in through the open windows from that distant boy paradise, Cardiff hill, and mingle with the murmurs of the studying pupils and make them more dreary by contrast."

Where the Gang Met.

It was on this miniature mountain that the Widow Douglas lived. It was here that the haunted house stood, where the graveyard lay, in which the murder of Dr. Robinson by Injun Joe took place, and where Tom and his gang played at Robin Hood. It was here that Huck overheard the plot of Indian Joe and his confederate to mutilate the Widow Douglas, and where Tom and Huck always repaired when anything was up.

The jail in which Huck's "pap" often languished, and Muff Potter was thrown for the murder he did not commit, once stood at the foot of this hill. This structure, a low, squatty stone building, was formerly one of the landmarks of the picturesque old town, but it has been destroyed to make for the safety of a corner which with the advent of the automobile became the scene of accidents and narrow escapes. The character, Tom Sawyer, as explained in the preface to the book, is a composite personality. He is the combination of three boys, two of whom were Mark Twain's playmates, and the other obviously, the humorist himself. The descendants of the other two are still in Hannibal.

Huck Finn, on the other hand, is an actual character, drawn from one of the urchins of the little village of the nineteenth century. He, as Twain describes him, was absolutely free, the only really independent person in the village and hence the envy of all the boys. His father was the village drunkard, which, as is told in the Autobiography of Mark Twain, was an exceedingly well-defined station. Huck is believed to have gone to some town in Montana where he became a well respected citizen and justice of the peace.

Mrs. Laura Frazier the prototype of Becky Thatcher, lives in Hannibal, and will attend the unveiling of the monument.

The Road to Cave Hollow.

The monument will add another bit of color to Hannibal. If one follows the street at the foot of the hill, and then the river road beyond it, he eventually comes to Cave Hollow, just as the scenes in Tom Sawyer often shifted from Cardiff hill to Cave hollow and McDougal's Cave, now Mark Twain's Cave. This is illustrated in the transfer of the treasure from Cardiff hill to the cave by Injun Joe, and Tom's and Huck's journey from the hill to the cave in quest of it.

The cave is owned by another man who appreciates the sentimental value of Hannibal's surroundings. This man, E. T. Cameron has endeavored to make the cave an objective for tourists. Thousands of people annually visit this famous cavern. While on his strenuous campaign trip in 1924, Vice President Dawes thought enough of it to order his special train stopped so that he could take a trip through it.

Of late years the hill has been cleared of much of its natural timber and small houses dot its sides. The street that runs into it, according to the plan of the town, is supposed to run to the summit, but the only way a vehicle could negotiate the ascent would be through the use of a block and tackle. In place of the wild flowers, trees, and shrubs that once abounded, there is now but a collection of weeds, with here and there a surviving tree. It is planned to restore much of the natural beauty of the hill in order to make an appropriate setting for the monument.

The memorial will deplet Tom and Huck in their ragged costumes, barefoot and smiling, taking leave of one another. The inference here is that Tom is going out into the world to seek his fortune, leaving Huck behind. The images will be placed about forty or fifty feet up the hill from the street, that one may glance beneath and see some of the scenes that Mark Twain gazed upon.

The building of the monument immortalizes Cardiff hill and the two famous boy companions. It gives the world something that is rarely found—a memorial to characters of fiction.

Ensign Al Moore's U. S. Navy Orchestra At Park Monday

Al Moore and his U. S. Navy orchestra who played for President Calvin Coolidge at the White House, will furnish the music for a dance at Rock Springs park on Monday evening under the auspices of East Liverpool Elks, No. 258.

Moore's orchestra during their recent appearance at B. F. Keith's theater, Washington, D. C., had the distinction of being invited by President Calvin Coolidge to be his guest at the White House. Al Moore had been a member of the Massachusetts state legislature at the time the President was Lieut. Governor of the state,, so his invitation had a personal also a patriotic reason.

Al Moore had charge of all the U. S. Navy Bands in France during the great World war. Before he enlisted in the service, music to him was his pastime, but since the war he has made it a profession. The various members of the U. S. Navy orchestra have seen active service over seas and are not from the Great Lakes training stations as is generally supposed and constitute Al Moore's U. S. Navy orchestra. They represent the pick of several naval orchestras and are described as the supreme syncopated melody makers. They sing, they dance and they made comedy while they play. Their repertoire consists of popular numbers galore, comic operas and the lastest song hits. Every lover of dancing will find Moore's dance music particularly suited to his style of dancing.

Stillwell and his singing symphony orchestra will furnish the music afternoon and evening.

A chicken dinner will be served between 6 and 8 o'clock in the restaurant adjoining the pavilion by L. G. Linger. Parking space, well lighted, is provided for the patrons, and free bathing may be enjoyed, as the beach has been improved.

BLACK FLAG is the most thorough killer of flies, mosquitoes and roaches ever made. Not one escapes alive. For BLACK FLAG contains a secret vegetable ingredient which is the surest death to insects ever discovered. Bugs breathe it and die. But it is absolutely harmless to humans and animals.

Ordinary insecticides kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 pests. The four which get away breed hundreds which return. But BLACK FLAG doesn't let one get away. It kills them all—10 out of every 10.

BLACK FLAG is made in powder and liquid. Both are equally effective, equally deadly, with these three exceptions—never use any liquid on furs; use the powder to make them mothproof. Use the powder, also, to kill dog fleas and lice.

Many prefer the liquid to kill flies, mosquitoes and moths—the powder to kill roaches, ants, bedbugs, dog fleas, plant lice and chicken lice. Many people use both powder and liquid.

BLACK FLAG costs less. Powder, 15c up. Powder Gun, 10c. Liquid, 25c up. Sprayer, 45c. Special introductory package containing can of liquid BLACK FLAG and sprayer for only 65c. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Buy BLACK FLAG today.

The Health of a Nation

Depends largely upon its food supply. In many sections of this country lack of Iodine in the water or plant life is responsible for an alarming prevalence of Goiter. This malady attacks children between 10 and 16 years of age. It makes them nervous, fidgety, handicaps them in their studies. Then serious developments often require surgical treatment in later years. Thousand of babies are born with Goiter.

This is why health authorities so strongly urge the use of iodine salt for the Prevention of Goiter

Through getting iodine in their food, thus making it more healthful, the whole family benefits, and the young ones are absolutely safeguarded against Goiter.

Ask your grocer for MULKEY'S—because it is the original iodine salt distributed through the grocery trade—and because MULKEY'S carries an official certificate of approval. It is pure, safe, effective—just as we were requested by celebrated medical men to prepare Iodine Salt as a public health measure.

GASOLINE LICENSE TAXES EXTENDED

Due to delay in printing the application forms, the time for the payment of gasoline license taxes to the state has been extended until July 15. The penalties provided for failure to take out licenses and for failure to display them will not be enforced until July 31, explained Walter S. Buxton, of the gasoline tax bureau of the state tax commissioners department. A leeway of 15 days is given.

Under the new law every distributor of gasoline shall pay an annual license fee of $25 "for each distributing station or place of business or agency located in this state at or from which gasoline is sold for resale distribution or at which gasoline is produced, refined or compounded, and an annual license tax of $5 for each filling station or place of business in this state from which gasoline is sold at retail."

Every person intending to engage in the gasoline business must apply to the tax commissioner for a license. This application shall be accompanied by the amount of the license tax and shall state whether the applicant intends to engage in business as a distributor or retailer, and shall designate the intended place or places of business. A license issued after Jan. 1 for the half year calls for but half of the annual fee.

Wollam and W. T. Orman, of Akron, pilot of the Goodyear, are shown in the International News Reel, which is featured in connection with the laugh-producer "Conductor 1492," in which Johnny Hines is the star.

"Conductor 1492" starring Johnny Hines is the new Warner brothers classic which opened yesterday. There could be no better index pointing to its huge success than the smiling faces of the audences, men, women and children, as they filed out of the theatre.

Johnny Hines once more outdid himself in going one better than any of his previous pictures; he produced more laughs per foot than we have seen in a long time. The fits of laughter which burst forth from time to time were loud and contagious, for no one could help but get into the spirit of the fast, rapid-fire humor which Johnny let loose in this picture.

Not only has Johnny Hines proved himself the best comedian of his class, which is the clean-cut, snappy comedy that combines a humorous situation with fast work requiring a quick mind and alert body, but he has written the story and scenario of "Conductor 1492", so that this production is purely his own product.

His facial expression is an art in itself, and there are some ideas that only Johnny himself can express by twisting his features, and that means more than many subtitles could imply.

As Terry O'Toole, a young Irishman freshly arrived to this country, Johnny Hines has a role fitting him to perfection and to which he takes like a duck to water.

Young Terry, with his ambition set on becoming a conductor, finds his way to Loteda, Ohio, and is successful in attaining his hopes when he is hired as conductor and motorman by the Loteda Traction Co.

The pranks and humorous quibs which Terry indulges in to make the time pass in a pleasant manner, furnish the audience with enough mirth to last for many days. School boys and after-dinner speakers can benefit equally from the wealth of jokes and practical tricks that are brought into play in "Conductor 1492."

Much credit is due the admirable supporting cast, which includes such favorites as Doris May, Dorothy Burns, Michael Dark, Robert Cain, Dan Mason, Fred Esmelton and Byron Sage. Direction is under Charles Hines, Johnny's brother, and Frank Griffen.

Had skin trouble so bad was ashamed to appear in public
Resinol completely healed it

Entriken, Pa., March 4:—"Last summer I had a skin affection on my face, hands and arms. It kept spreading until I could not shave and hated to be seen in public. The itching was very annoying and nothing I tried gave me any relief. A friend recommended your Resinol Ointment and I bought some at once. The first application gave me relief, but I continued using it freely and in a very short time the itching disappeared and the trouble was completely cured. Needless to say, I have great faith in "Resinol" for skin disorders." (Signed) J. H. Ketterman.

The Resurrection of the Dead Near

X X X

X X X

Instinctively mankind seems to feel that in some way deliverance will result in release from the throes of evil, injustice, inequality, and death.

Has not the persistent failure of plans and schemes for life and happiness blasted hope of deliverance among men?

What Bible hope is there for the dead?

When, according to the Bible, will there be no more death on earth?

It is not apparent to all that man's efforts to overcome death are futile?

What is the divine plan for the restoration of man to perfection as enjoyed by Adam in the garden of Eden?

OSTEOPATHS MEET IN TORONTO FOR INTERNATIONAL CONCLAVE

CHICAGO, Jl. ..—Chicago will be in the path of several special trainloads of osteopathic physicians when they gather in Toronto, Canada, from all parts of the world for an international convention July 5 to 11.

The program of the convention, which has just been announced here, in additional to the general meetings in the morning hours and the sectional roundtables which come in the afternoon hours, includes the activities of several special societies of those interested in particular branches of the osteopathic science, which meet either just before or just after the main convention.

Speakers on the main program will talk on health examination, the X-ray in heart diagnosis, pneumonia, the doctor's investments, cancer, syphilis, appendicitis, asthma and kindred subjects.

The profession is boing outside the states for the first time this year, which, according to Dr. Ray G. Hulburt, at the offices of the American Osteopathic association here, indicates the remarkable geographic and numerical growth of the science.

"The osteopathic physician," Dr. Hulbert said, "believe in the two fundamentals which Dr. A. T. Still announced fifty-one years ago. The first is the theory of the body's own natural chemical immunity, which the whole scientific world of today believes. The second is that the body's own machinery can provide this immunity only when the machine is adjusted properely."

A large group of osteopathic physicians will spend several weeks in England, Scotland and France after the Toronto convention.

Lighthouse Keepers In Service 53 Years Goes Into Retirement

WASHINGTON, July — Among the most remarkable records for service among government employes is that of Charles Kimball, keeper of the Marquette Lighthouse, Michigan, who retired from active duty recently at the age of 71 years.

Entering the lighthouse service in September, 1872, Kimball served continuously, concluding nearly 53 years' active duty at his retirement.

The longest continuous paved road in the United States is the Pacific highway from British Columbia to Mexico, the only break in the hard-surfacing being a short distance in Northern California.

PESKY BED BUGS

Doctors declare that bedbugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bedbugs in your home, because that can't be avoided, but it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P. D. Q., which actually puts an end to these pesky devils.

A MILLION BEDBUGS

A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of a mixture that is so deadly to bedbugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. If they were as big as your hand it would swat them just as well. And not only the live ones, but the future generation as well, because once it hits the eggs they are gone.

CUT THIS OUT

Your druggist has P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils Quietus) and will be glad to furnish it for 35-cents. One 35-cent package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned bug-killer. Some druggists may try to sell you something else. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P. D. Q., send us your name and 35-cents and we will send you a package postpage prepaid to your address.

WILL NOT DAMAGE GOODS

P. D. Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deoderizer and disinfectant.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS

If you have a pet dog who is infested with fleas take a little P. D. Q. mixture in your hand and rub into the fur. Then watch the fleas loop the loop. They will be deader than King Solomon before they hit the floor.

MOTHS

Very simple to rid these pests from furs or clothing is to follow the directions on each package, impossible for moths to exist with the proper use of P. D. Q. A treatment on garments will prevent moths for two years.

FOR ANTS AND COCKROACHES

The ants and cockroaches stand just as good a chance of surviving a treatment of P. D. Q. as a snowball in a justly famed Heat Resort. It awats them and their eggs with a wallop that puts their whole generation out of business.

P.D.Q. IN LIQUID FORM

P. D. Q. can be purchased in sealed bottles double strength liquid form, with patent spout free. P. D. Q. Liquid can be diluted to make a quart or it can be used pure.

P. D. Q. is marketed in two style packages, Liquid form 50c, ready for use and P. D. Q. Dry form, 35c. Each package makes one quart.

Mystery Regarding Craft That Have Disappeared.

Washington.—More than 1,000 American naval men have gone down to watery graves in a score of vessels that have disappeared in the seven seas without a trace. From the brig Reprisal, lost in September, 1777, to the tug Conestoga, that disappeared in the Pacific in 1921, there is a chapter of naval history on which the Navy department is able to throw but little light.

Outstanding among the unaccounted-for craft in modern days is the naval collier Cyclops, concerning which there is a maze of fanciful theory, but no official fact.

During a wide stretch of years, from the Civil war period to nearly the World way era, naval annals are devoid of entries concerning lost ships.

Many Lost Near West Indies.

Three have vanished since the beginning of the present century, however, in spite of the much-vaunted safety to be found in modern apparatus of communication. Many of the lost ships were last heard of in the vicity of the West Indies.

The department has listed the following vessels as missing without a trace, and abandoned hope for their recovery.

Reprisal, lost September, 1777; General Gates, 1777; Saratoga, 1781; Insurgent, 1800; Pickering, 1800; Hamilton, 1913; Wasp III, 1814; Epervier, 1815; Lynx, 1821; Wildcat, 1829; Hornet, 1829; Sylph II, 1839; Sea Gull, 1839; Grampus, 1843; Jefferson, 1850; Albany I, with 210 men, 1854; Levant, II, with 210 men, 1860; tug Nina, sailed from Norfolk and never heard from, 1910; collier Cyclops, with 293 persons, comprising 15 officers, 221 men and 57 passengers, sailed March 4, 1919, from Barbadoes, West Indies, and tug Conestoga, with four officers and 52 men, from Mare Island, Calif., for Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, 1921.

Search Proves Fruitless.

Naval vessels have searched the seas for tidings of these missing craft, but their fate remains a mystery.

Naval officers consider the case of the Cyclops unusually puzzling, for she was equipped with radio and apparently encountered no storms, her captain last reporting all well and fair weather. She was 542 feet long, 65 feet beam, and of 19,000 tons.

Theories exist that the Cyclops was improperly loaded and split in two; that her machinery was disabled and her radio put out of commission and that she was scuttled, and that an enemy submarine destroyed her, but official information regarding her is wholly lacking.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle diagram is merely a means of concealing words which are synonymous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.

LOCALS BOOK DOUBLE HEADER

New Brighton, Pa., Club at Columbian Park.

The East Liverpool Merchants, formerly the Uniques, have booked a double header with the New Brighton Independents for Saturday at Columbian park.

The teams will play in the morning at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 3.

Rose, Jester and Baker have been lined up for mound duty for the local aggregation. Rose is certain to pitch one of the games.

Tagging The Bases

The Pirates slid back into the National league lead, edging out a 2 to 1 victory over the Reds while the Giants lay idle, Carey's walk, Cuyler's triple and Barnhart's sacrifice furnishing the victory.

Playing errorless ball, the Senators took two games from the Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 11 to 4, and increased their slight lead in the American league race. The first game went ten innings and was decided by a home run by First Baseman Joe Harris.

The portly Garland Buckeye, Cleveland pitcher, won his first game for the Indians when Speaker's men pounded Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher, for an easy victory, 11 to 3.

St. Louis plugged the ball over the lot and carried off a lopsided victory over the White Sox, 18 to 5.

Home runs by Ruth and Ward failed to disturb Eddie Rommel and the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 6 to 3.

The Cubs and Cardinals went fifty-fifty on a double-header, the Cubs winning the first, 11 to 6, and the Cards the second, 6 to 5. Hartnett smacked two homers to bring his total for the season to 19.

The Dodgers got ten hits and as many runs in the opening chapter and in the end defeated the Braves, quite easily, 20 to 7.

SLATTERY K. O. SHOCKS FANS

SHADE WINNER IN THIRD ROUND

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 3.—A new chapter in pugilistic history, fairly reeking of drama, was sent to the composing room last night to be set in bold face caps in a series of typographical shrieks.

While upward of 60,00 looked on the names of Harry Greb, Harry Wills and Dave Shade were engraved upon the pages of the prize ring's blue book by winning respectively from Mickey Walker, Charley Weinert and Jimmy Slattery in the feature bouts of the Italian hospital fund at the Polo grounds.

Greb, defending his middleweight title against Walker, the welterweight champion, got a unanimous decision at the end of fifteen rounds and had Walker almost out in the fourteenth. The latter proved that a good little man can beat a good big man only on the thirty-second day of the month.

Wills, so-called logical contender for the heavyweight championship, stopped Weinert with a right to the jaw in the second round. The result left Wills as a logical as a prosecuting attorney and proved that Weinert's supposed comeback was aught but a snare and a delusion. The writer expected him to "come back" into his, the writer's lap, at any given moment and he almost did.

The great Slattery, with a half million in front of him, was knocked out by Shade in the third round for something in the neighborhood of $5,000. The crowd still is reeling from the shock of this one and it must go down on the books as a tactical triumph for Leo P. Flynn, who sent Shade in against Slattery bent almost double.

The Buffalo entry was pleased to stand with his hands at his sides, as always, and bring up his punches. But one cannot bring up punches on a man who is half way down, can one? Obviously, one can not.

Slatterly hardly laid a glove on the weaving and bobbing Shade, who carried the fight to his man for the first two rounds and, in the third, fairly leaped from the floor with a right that dropped Slattery for the first time in his career. He forsook the perpendicular twice more from rights to the jaw and then the towel, mute token of surrender, fluttered out from his corner.

Slattery was a 4 to 1 shot and some of the boys were carefully masticating a single, individual and lone cup of coffee this morning.

It was estimated that as much as $375,000 was in the house but, of course, the fund will be benefited to no such preposterous extent. It was strictly a charity preformance, and with gentlemen of the profession, charity begins at the dear, old homestead.

But whatever they got, they earned. For once, the young men went in there worked with the ambitious idea of starting at the top and working down. Only the Dempsey-Firpo frolic, of happy memory, was productive of more action than was uncovered last night.

When it was all over, Dave Shade, of California, had come into overnight prominence as a contender for two titles, the welterweight and middleweight, Harry Wills still was something of a dark mystery, speaking largerly and in the abstract, and Greb had proved that a gendarme is an excellent companion for road work.

Barring the first two rounds, when he ran into a series of left hooks to the body, Greb was generally on the winning end of the exchanges and, making expeditious use of his superior weight and strength, mauled Walker like an irate house wife. It was a great fight, heightened in effect by a sensational second round in which both quite forgot they were gentlemen and slugged a la pier 19, and a fourteenth round, in which Greb caught Walker on the jaw with a terrific right, drove him into his own corner and swung himself weary on a man who wouldn't go down.

Greb changed his style for the occasion, and except in the later rounds, abandoned his slap-stick tactics almost altogether. Perhaps as great a surprise as Slattery's knockout was that fact that Harry Greb showed he could punch, an asset of which he was hitherto unsuspected. It took a Walker to last the limit against him.

He made the mistake of rushing Walker in the early rounds but, after taking a shellacking about the body, mended his ways without loss of time and from the third round to the tenth simply beat Mickey by the simple expedient of landing two punches to Walker's one.

They mixed in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any.

They mixed it in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any. Mickey also carried the twelfth by a slight margin, one of his sporadic rallies finding Greb's speed in neutral. The rest of the rounds, with the possible exception of the fifteenth, went to Greb, who was unmarked at the end but disinclined to sleep on his stomach last night. Walker's face looked like an over ripe tomato at the end.

The Weinert-Wills affair proved nothing, except that Harris Wills can beat Charley Weinert now and forever henceforth. The white man simply was outclassed and Wills, fighting at long range for a change, was not as palpably guilty of barroom tactics as on former occasions.

He held and hit a bit in the first round, being warned by the referee, Eddie Purdy, but Weinert held and did nothing. He was lucky to last the round and knew the end was near. Wills was out to finish his man in the second and manhandled him so thoroughly in close that Weinert fell through the ropes from weakness when the referee broke them.

A moment later, he dropped his hands to step back from a clinch and Wills crossed his right to the jaw, an obvious infraction of the rules. Weinert was badly hurt and fell into a devoted embrace. The referee broke them again and Wills came to his prey, hooking a left to the body that brought down Weinert's guard and a right to the jaw that brought down everything, Weinert included. It was hardly necessary to go through the formality of a count but they did.

PANTHER'S CLAWS STILL SHARP

FLAG TOURNEY GOLFERS SEEK BOUGH TROPHY

Between 50 and 60 Entered in Country Club Event.

Between 50 and 60 local golfers, according to estimates of the East Liverpool Country club sports committee, will tee off tomorrow in the annual flag tounament, customary July 4th feature.

Interest in the event and good weather should make the flag play one of the oustanding events of the season. C. A. Bough is providing the trophy for which Ceramic City followers of the royal and ancient game will put forth their best drivers.

Walter Ashbaugh last year played a brand of golf that had the entire field licked by a sound margin and consequently walked off with the honors. The successor to Ashbaugh will be known sometime tomorrow afternoon about 6 o'clock.

Tournament rivals will add their full handicap figures to par 72. Distance will count.

Last Night's Fights

Pipp Improving.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Attending physicians at St. Vincent's hospital today reported a slight improvement in the condition of Wally Pipp, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, who was taken to the institution yesterday after being hit by a pitched ball in batting practice. Pipp was said to be suffering from a slight brain concussion but that his chances of a rapid recovery were excellent.

League Leaders Toppled In Clash With C. & P. Nine

Hitting the apple hard and given good southpaw hurling, the Wellsville C. & P. club of the City Industrial league broke the long winning streak of the Chester nine last evening at Smith Field, running up a score of 9 to 8 on the Riley crew before more than 1,000 fans who turned out for the final league clash of the first half of the schedule.

The proceeds will go to Fielders Manning, of Wellsville, and Moore, of Chester, who were injured early in the season.

With darkness impending, Chester faced its final batting opportunity with two runs needed to tie the count and three to win, the score standing 9 to 7. Pebula opened with a single over second and the fans, sensing a rally, began to release their own famous West Virginia yell that has heretofore accompanied repeated victories of the Riley clan. F. Marshall cut loose with at which Runyan bagged. The burly Potts, who had already lined out a single, triple and double, stepped to the platter and swung a vicious piece of timber. He lined to Wyant who threw wildly to third to stop P. Cebula and the latter scored. W. McMath, running for Potts, was on the paths with the tying tally. Jackson, next batter soared to D. Manning in middle Manager Riley then sent in M. Cebula, Tuesday's hero, to try to duplicate his thrilling finish of that day, but he too flew out to Manning and the game was over.

Five triples and three doubles featured the swatting end of the contest. Potts had one of each, P. Cebula and Morgan crashed out doubles and Cochrane, D. Manning and Runyan three-baggers.

The contest was marred by the injury of Infielder D. Morgan, of Wellsville, in the fourth, when, attempting to catch a pop fly from L. McMath's bat, he ran behind Pitcher Wyant, who, turning, jumped and collided with the C. & P. third sacker and all but knocked him out. His nose was damaged in the spill but he remained gamely in action. In the fifth C. Marshall was unorthodox enough to stop a fast inshoot with his head. He tried to keep going but had to retire in favor of P. Bennett.

Runyon had a big day. He banged out two one-basers and connected for two triples in four times up. In the field he took four chances. He apparently had found a four-leaf clover or an errant horseshoe somewhere out in the garden before starting the contest.

Shipley, Powell and P. Cebula batted at a .500 clip for the day; L. McMath .667, Potts .750 and Runyon, Wyant and C. Marshall 1.000. C. Marshall earned the mark without tapping a ball. He walked twice and was hit once.

Wyant, twirling his initial league game, had a world of speed in his southpaw delivery, but was wild, his five walks and the hitting of a batter attesting to the fact. He fanned three and allowed nine hits.

Powell was found for 10 safe bingles. He struck out five and passed on.

How the Runs Were Made.

Runyan, singling in the first, stole second and scored as F. Marshall dropped Dustman's fly.

Potts, doubling to right in the second, scored on Jackson's single, C. Marshall walked. Cochrane tripled to right, sending both runners in.

With one out in the third Wyant lined safety to right. Runyan singled over second. D. Morgan walked, filling the bases. D. Manning ran for D. Morgan, Dustman drove to P. Cebula, who booted the ball, Wyant and Runyon counting. Cebula tried to nip Manning as he essayed to reach third on the play and threw wildly to the crowd, enabling the runner to score.

Potts tripled to middle in the third and scored as D. Morgan threw wildly to first on Jackson's drive.

D. Manning tripled to middle in the fourth. Wyant walked. Both scored on Runyon's triple to right. The latter scored as F. Marshall threw wildly to P. Cebula trying to head off the runner.

Powell and L. McMath singled in the fourth. Dustman threw wildly to second to stop Powell who reached third on the play, from where he scored on a passed ball following M. Marshall's walk.

J. Morgan doubled to middle in the sixth and scored on Runyon's triple to left. Shipley's single over second scored Runyan.

Red Wingo Newcomer Among Stick Leaders

A perusal of the American League batting records reveals an interesting situation in the younger circuit. Leading the pack of batters are Wingo, Cobb and Heilmann of the Tigers and Simmons and Lamar of the Athletics.

Now the names of Cobb and Heilmann among the leading hitters draw no surprise. But "Red" Wingo is a newcomer. And the presence of two members of the once modest and retiring Athletics among the leaders is something to ponder over.

Connie has at last got the batting strength he needed of recent years to carry along what has been a brilliant piching staff at times at least.

The far-famed ball murderers of the Yankees have dropped. The St. Louis Browns find little in the batting averages to cheer them—outside of George Sisler's work.

Truly the batting worm has turned a bit.

Harris Setting Good Example of Team Play

Stanley Harris, manager of the world's champion Senators, leads his team in sacrifice hitting. The young pilot's ability to lay 'em down gives him plenty of opportunities to teach his men the value of team play above desire for individual glory.

Harris is an effective and timely hitter. He has the natural desire of a ball player to "pickle one." But he has learned the value of playing the game. He sets the example for his teammates day in and day out, which may be one of the reasons why the Senators ambled along to the championship last year and are making a bid for the flag this season. The New York Yankees have several times given striking evidence of what a team of stars can do when the members seek personal glory above team success.

CHESTER-NEWELL TILT CALLED OFF

Manager Barney Bricelin, of Laughlin City Industrial league club today announced that the proposed clash between the Chester and Newell teams, scheduled for tomorrow, had been called off, by agreement of the managers.

Players of both clubs will be out of the city over the week-end.

RACES, BASEBALL AT FAIRGROUNDS

Three race events, under auspices of the Lisbon Driving club, will be run off in the afternoon. There will be a morning baseball game at 10 o'clock and another in the afternoon at 3. The East Liverpool Cardinals will play the Lisbon Independents in the double bill.

Dancing is scheduled for the afternoon hours between 2:30 and 5, and in the evening from 8:30 until 11:30. The Harmony Players of Salem and Lisbon will furnish the music.

SEMI-FINALS ON IN NET TOURNEY

COLUMBUS, O., July 3—Semi-finals were scheduled today in the Ohio State tennis championships on the courts of the East End Tennis club here. Finals will be played off Saturday afternoon.

George Lott, Jr., Chicago champion, was slated to meet Ralph Oster, Cleveland, in the first semi-final in the mens' singles event this afternoon. Julius Sagalowsky, Indianapolis, Ind., was carded against Walter Wirthwein, Columbus.

In the women's singles, Miss Marion Leighton, Chicago, was scheduled to meet Mrs. Thornton Emmons, Columbus, and Miss Clara Zincke, Cincinnati, to meet Miss Virginia Thompson, Columbus.

Four teams will fight to enter the finals in the men's doubles: Lott and Tom McGlynn, Columbus; Walter and Herman Wirthwein, Columbus; Sagalowsky and George Amhyrst, Columbus; and Oster and Bud Tracy, Columbus.

The semi-finalists in the women's doubles will be: Miss Leighton and Mrs. Emmons; Miss Wilson and Miss Thompson; Miss Zincke and Mrs. Fulton, and Mrs. Fressy and Mrs. Slatmeyer.

PACE FEATURES CIRCUIT CARD

NORTH RANDAL, O., July 3.—The Times 2:06 pace, in which a purse of $3,000 has been hung up, was the feature race of the Grand circuit card here today. Other events included the 2:14 and the 2:18 trot.

Robert Direct was favored to win the feature.

Woodrow L. in winning the first heat of 2:10 trot yesterday established a new world's record for the three-quarter mile, trotting it in 1:33. However, the next two heats went to Clara Dillon. The 2:12 class trot was won by Crawford, and the 2:14 pace went to Miss Ellen W.

Pick on Yanks.

The other day the Boston Red Sox decided to break a losing streak after going through nine games without tasting victory. And who do you think they picked on, The Yankees!

Which is as it should be, after all in the minds of the Red Sox fans. While Harry Frazee owned the Hub team and was under obligation to the Yankee pilots, the Boston outfit served as a farm for what New York couldn't use in the way of ball players.

LOCALS BOOK DOUBLE HEADER

New Brighton, Pa., Club at Columbian Park.

The East Liverpool Merchants, formerly the Uniques, have booked a double header with the New Brighton Independents for Saturday at Columbian park.

The teams will play in the morning at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 3.

Rose, Jester and Baker have been lined up for mound duty for the local aggregation. Rose is certain to pitch one of the games.

Tagging The Bases

The Pirates slid back into the National league lead, edging out a 2 to 1 victory over the Reds while the Giants lay idle, Carey's walk, Cuyler's triple and Barnhart's sacrifice furnishing the victory.

Playing errorless ball, the Senators took two games from the Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 11 to 4, and increased their slight lead in the American league race. The first game went ten innings and was decided by a home run by First Baseman Joe Harris.

The portly Garland Buckeye, Cleveland pitcher, won his first game for the Indians when Speaker's men pounded Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher, for an easy victory, 11 to 3.

St. Louis plugged the ball over the lot and carried off a lopsided victory over the White Sox, 18 to 5.

Home runs by Ruth and Ward failed to disturb Eddie Rommel and the Athletics defeated the Yankees, 6 to 3.

The Cubs and Cardinals went fifty-fifty on a double-header, the Cubs winning the first, 11 to 6, and the Cards the second, 6 to 5. Hartnett smacked two homers to bring his total for the season to 19.

The Dodgers got ten hits and as many runs in the opening chapter and in the end defeated the Braves, quite easily, 20 to 7.

The Cardinals are scheduled to clash with the Lisbon Independents in two games, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The morning tilt will start at 10 o'clock and the afternoon engagement at 3 o'clock.

FORFEITS CLASH TO B. & W. CLUB

Because the K. T. K., City Industrial league tossers, failed to appear at Klondyke on Thursday to meet the Babcock & Wilcox nine, the scheduled clash was declared forfeited to the firebrick aggregation by Umpire Alcock.

SLATTERY K. O. SHOCKS FANS

SHADE WINNER IN THIRD ROUND

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 3.—A new chapter in pugilistic history, fairly reeking of drama, was sent to the composing room last night to be set in bold face caps in a series of typographical shrieks.

While upward of 60,00 looked on the names of Harry Greb, Harry Wills and Dave Shade were engraved upon the pages of the prize ring's blue book by winning respectively from Mickey Walker, Charley Weinert and Jimmy Slattery in the feature bouts of the Italian hospital fund at the Polo grounds.

Greb, defending his middleweight title against Walker, the welterweight champion, got a unanimous decision at the end of fifteen rounds and had Walker almost out in the fourteenth. The latter proved that a good little man can beat a good big man only on the thirty-second day of the month.

Wills, so-called logical contender for the heavyweight championship, stopped Weinert with a right to the jaw in the second round. The result left Wills as a logical as a prosecuting attorney and proved that Weinert's supposed comeback was aught but a snare and a delusion. The writer expected him to "come back" into his, the writer's lap, at any given moment and he almost did.

The great Slattery, with a half million in front of him, was knocked out by Shade in the third round for something in the neighborhood of $5,000. The crowd still is reeling from the shock of this one and it must go down on the books as a tactical triumph for Leo P. Flynn, who sent Shade in against Slattery bent almost double.

The Buffalo entry was pleased to stand with his hands at his sides, as always, and bring up his punches. But one cannot bring up punches on a man who is half way down, can one? Obviously, one can not.

Slatterly hardly laid a glove on the weaving and bobbing Shade, who carried the fight to his man for the first two rounds and, in the third, fairly leaped from the floor with a right that dropped Slattery for the first time in his career. He forsook the perpendicular twice more from rights to the jaw and then the towel, mute token of surrender, fluttered out from his corner.

Slattery was a 4 to 1 shot and some of the boys were carefully masticating a single, individual and lone cup of coffee this morning.

It was estimated that as much as $375,000 was in the house but, of course, the fund will be benefited to no such preposterous extent. It was strictly a charity preformance, and with gentlemen of the profession, charity begins at the dear, old homestead.

But whatever they got, they earned. For once, the young men went in there worked with the ambitious idea of starting at the top and working down. Only the Dempsey-Firpo frolic, of happy memory, was productive of more action than was uncovered last night.

When it was all over, Dave Shade, of California, had come into overnight prominence as a contender for two titles, the welterweight and middleweight, Harry Wills still was something of a dark mystery, speaking largerly and in the abstract, and Greb had proved that a gendarme is an excellent companion for road work.

Barring the first two rounds, when he ran into a series of left hooks to the body, Greb was generally on the winning end of the exchanges and, making expeditious use of his superior weight and strength, mauled Walker like an irate house wife. It was a great fight, heightened in effect by a sensational second round in which both quite forgot they were gentlemen and slugged a la pier 19, and a fourteenth round, in which Greb caught Walker on the jaw with a terrific right, drove him into his own corner and swung himself weary on a man who wouldn't go down.

Greb changed his style for the occasion, and except in the later rounds, abandoned his slap-stick tactics almost altogether. Perhaps as great a surprise as Slattery's knockout was that fact that Harry Greb showed he could punch, an asset of which he was hitherto unsuspected. It took a Walker to last the limit against him.

He made the mistake of rushing Walker in the early rounds but, after taking a shellacking about the body, mended his ways without loss of time and from the third round to the tenth simply beat Mickey by the simple expedient of landing two punches to Walker's one.

They mixed in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any.

They mixed it in the ninth, a slow round, and Walker got whatever credit ensuing from the immediate proceedings, if any. Mickey also carried the twelfth by a slight margin, one of his sporadic rallies finding Greb's speed in neutral. The rest of the rounds, with the possible exception of the fifteenth, went to Greb, who was unmarked at the end but disinclined to sleep on his stomach last night. Walker's face looked like an over ripe tomato at the end.

The Weinert-Wills affair proved nothing, except that Harris Wills can beat Charley Weinert now and forever henceforth. The white man simply was outclassed and Wills, fighting at long range for a change, was not as palpably guilty of barroom tactics as on former occasions.

He held and hit a bit in the first round, being warned by the referee, Eddie Purdy, but Weinert held and did nothing. He was lucky to last the round and knew the end was near. Wills was out to finish his man in the second and manhandled him so thoroughly in close that Weinert fell through the ropes from weakness when the referee broke them.

A moment later, he dropped his hands to step back from a clinch and Wills crossed his right to the jaw, an obvious infraction of the rules. Weinert was badly hurt and fell into a devoted embrace. The referee broke them again and Wills came to his prey, hooking a left to the body that brought down Weinert's guard and a right to the jaw that brought down everything, Weinert included. It was hardly necessary to go through the formality of a count but they did.

PANTHER'S CLAWS STILL SHARP

FLAG TOURNEY GOLFERS SEEK BOUGH TROPHY

Between 50 and 60 Entered in Country Club Event.

Between 50 and 60 local golfers, according to estimates of the East Liverpool Country club sports committee, will tee off tomorrow in the annual flag tounament, customary July 4th feature.

Interest in the event and good weather should make the flag play one of the oustanding events of the season. C. A. Bough is providing the trophy for which Ceramic City followers of the royal and ancient game will put forth their best drivers.

Walter Ashbaugh last year played a brand of golf that had the entire field licked by a sound margin and consequently walked off with the honors. The successor to Ashbaugh will be known sometime tomorrow afternoon about 6 o'clock.

Tournament rivals will add their full handicap figures to par 72. Distance will count.

Last Night's Fights

Pipp Improving.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Attending physicians at St. Vincent's hospital today reported a slight improvement in the condition of Wally Pipp, veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees, who was taken to the institution yesterday after being hit by a pitched ball in batting practice. Pipp was said to be suffering from a slight brain concussion but that his chances of a rapid recovery were excellent.

League Leaders Toppled In Clash With C. & P. Nine

Hitting the apple hard and given good southpaw hurling, the Wellsville C. & P. club of the City Industrial league broke the long winning streak of the Chester nine last evening at Smith Field, running up a score of 9 to 8 on the Riley crew before more than 1,000 fans who turned out for the final league clash of the first half of the schedule.

The proceeds will go to Fielders Manning, of Wellsville, and Moore, of Chester, who were injured early in the season.

With darkness impending, Chester faced its final batting opportunity with two runs needed to tie the count and three to win, the score standing 9 to 7. Pebula opened with a single over second and the fans, sensing a rally, began to release their own famous West Virginia yell that has heretofore accompanied repeated victories of the Riley clan. F. Marshall cut loose with at which Runyan bagged. The burly Potts, who had already lined out a single, triple and double, stepped to the platter and swung a vicious piece of timber. He lined to Wyant who threw wildly to third to stop P. Cebula and the latter scored. W. McMath, running for Potts, was on the paths with the tying tally. Jackson, next batter soared to D. Manning in middle Manager Riley then sent in M. Cebula, Tuesday's hero, to try to duplicate his thrilling finish of that day, but he too flew out to Manning and the game was over.

Five triples and three doubles featured the swatting end of the contest. Potts had one of each, P. Cebula and Morgan crashed out doubles and Cochrane, D. Manning and Runyan three-baggers.

The contest was marred by the injury of Infielder D. Morgan, of Wellsville, in the fourth, when, attempting to catch a pop fly from L. McMath's bat, he ran behind Pitcher Wyant, who, turning, jumped and collided with the C. & P. third sacker and all but knocked him out. His nose was damaged in action. In the fifth C. Marshall was unorthodox enough to stop a fast inshoot with his head. He tried to keep going but had to retire in favor of P. Bennett.

Runyon had a big day. He banged out two one-basers and connected for two triples in four times up. In the field he took four chances. He apparently had found a four-leaf clover or an errant horseshoe somewhere out in the garden before starting the contest.

Shipley, Powell and P. Cebula batted at a .500 clip for the day; L. McMath .667, Potts .750 and Runyon, Wyant and C. Marshall 1.000. C. Marshall earned the mark without tapping a ball. He walked twice and was hit once.

Wyant, twirling his initial league game, had a world of speed in his southpaw delivery, but was wild, his five walks and the hitting of a batter attesting to the fact. He fanned three and allowed nine hits.

Powell was found for 10 safe bingles. He struck out five and passed on.

How the Runs Were Made.

Runyan, singling in the first, stole second and scored as F. Marshall dropped Dustman's fly.

Potts, doubling to right in the second, scored on Jackson's single. C. Marshall walked. Cochrane tripled to right, sending both runners in.

With one out in the third Wyant lined safety to right. Runyan singled over second. D. Morgan walked, filling the bases. D. Manning ran for D. Morgan, Dustman drove to P. Cebula, who booted the ball, Wyant and Runyon counting. Cebula tried to nip Manning as he essayed to reach third on the play and threw wildly to the crowd, enabling the runner to score.

Potts tripled to middle in the third and scored as D. Morgan threw wildly to first on Jackson's drive.

D. Manning tripled to middle in the fourth. Wyant walked. Both scored on Runyon's triple to right. The latter scored as F. Marshall threw wildly to P. Cebula trying to head off the runner.

Powell and L. McMath singled in the fourth. Dustman threw wildly to second to stop Powell who reached third on the play, from where he scored on a passed ball following M. Marshall's walk.

J. Morgan doubled to middle in the sixth and scored on Runyon's triple to left. Shipley's single over second scored Runyan.

Red Wingo Newcomer Among Stick Leaders

A perusal of the American League bating records reveals an interesting situation in the younger circuit. Leading the pack of batters are Wingo, Cobb and Heilmann of the Tigers and Simmons and Lamar of the Athletics.

Now the names of Cobb and Heilmann among the leading hitters draw no surprise. But "Red" Wingo is a newcomer. And the presence of two members of the once modest and retiring Athletics among the leaders is something to ponder over.

Connie has at last got the batting strength he needed of recent years to carry along what has been a brilliant piching staff at times at least.

The far-famed ball murderers of the Yankees have dropped. The St. Louis Browns find little in the batting averages to cheer them—outside of George Sisler's work.

Truly the batting worm has turned a bit.

Harris Setting Good Example of Team Play

Stanley Harris, manager of the world's champion Senators, leads his team in sacrifice hitting. The young pilot's ability to lay 'em down gives him plenty of opportunities to teach his men the value of team play above desire for individual glory.

Harris is an effective and timely hitter. He has the natural desire of a ball player to "pickle one." But he has learned the value of playing the game. He sets the example for his teammates day in and day out, which may be one of the reasons why the Senators ambled along to the championship last year and are making a bid for the flag this season. The New York Yankees have several times given striking evidence of what a team of stars can do when the members seek personal glory above team success.

CHESTER-NEWELL TILT CALLED OFF

Manager Barney Bricelin, of Laughlin City Industrial league club today announced that the proposed clash between the Chester and Newell teams, scheduled for tomorrow, had been called off, by agreement of the managers.

Players of both clubs will be out of the city over the week-end.

RACES, BASEBALL AT FAIRGROUNDS

Three race events, under auspices of the Lisbon Driving club, will be run off in the afternoon. There will be a morning baseball game at 10 o'clock and another in the afternoon at 3. The East Liverpool Cardinals will play the Lisbon Independents in the double bill.

Dancing is scheduled for the afternoon hours between 2:30 and 5, and in the evening from 8:30 until 11:30. The Harmony Players of Salem and Lisbon will furnish the music.

SEMI-FINALS ON IN NET TOURNEY

COLUMBUS, O., July 3—Semi-finals were scheduled today in the Ohio State tennis championships on the courts of the East End Tennis club here. Finals will be played off Saturday afternoon.

George Lott, Jr., Chicago champion, was slated to meet Ralph Oster, Cleveland, in the first semi-final in the mens' singles event this afternoon. Julius Sagalowsky, Indianapolis, Ind., was carded against Walter Wirthwein, Columbus.

In the women's singles, Miss Marion Leighton, Chicago, was scheduled to meet Mrs. Thornton Emmons, Columbus, and Miss Clara Zincke, Cincinnati, to meet Miss Virginia Thompson, Columbus.

Four teams will fight to enter the finals in the men's doubles: Lott and Tom McGlynn, Columbus; Walter and Herman Wirthwein, Columbus; Sagalowsky and George Amhyrst, Columbus; and Oster and Bud Tracy, Columbus.

The semi-finalists in the women's doubles will be: Miss Leighton and Mrs. Emmons; Miss Wilson and Miss Thompson; Miss Zincke and Mrs. Fulton, and Mrs. Fressy and Mrs. Slatmeyer.

PACE FEATURES CIRCUIT CARD

NORTH RANDAL, O., July 3.—The Times 2:06 pace, in which a purse of $3,000 has been hung up, was the feature race of the Grand circuit card here today. Other events included the 2:14 and the 2:18 trot.

Robert Direct was favored to win the feature.

Woodrow L. in winning the first heat of 2:10 trot yesterday established a new world's record for the three-quarter mile, trotting it in 1:33. However, the next two heats went to Clara Dillon. The 2:12 class trot was won by Crawford, and the 2:14 pace went to Miss Ellen W.

Pick on Yanks.

The other day the Boston Red Sox decided to break a losing streak after going through nine games without tasting victory. And who do you think they picked on. The Yankees!

Which is as it should be, after all in the minds of the Red Sox fans. While Harry Frazee owned the Hub team and was under obligation to the Yankee pilots, the Boston outfit served as a farm for what New York couldn't use in the way of ball players.
